DEMOCRATS MEET TODAY IN MAZE OF UNCERTAINTY

National Convention Will Open With Candidates Deadlocked and Policies in Dispute

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, June 23.—The Democratic National Convention will assemble in Madison Square Garden at noon tomorrow with its favorites for the Presidency deadlocked, its chief advisers in disagreement over party policies and its delegates seeking a leader to guide them out of the wilderness of their own indecision. In the vast arena of the storied old amphitheater, political observers expect to see enacted such stirring scenes as will live forever in political history. It will be a battle both of men and measures, with burnished shield and tempered steel flashing in the radiance of a mounting flame of party enthusiasm.

Despite the differences over platform declarations, the convention is looking to the contest over candidates as likely to furnish its greatest spectacle and its most serious difficulty. The claims of party aspirants for the Presidency have been placed before the delegates in a fevered preconvention period, but there was no clear indication tonight that the convention would find even in such a field the standard-bearer it is seeking.

In pledged delegate strength William G. McAdoo stands well ahead of all of his competitors. Gov. Al Smith, the idol of New York Democracy, has developed [illegible] that will put him in second place on the opening ballot.

Behind the line will be ranged a long list of others whose managers tonight were predicting triumph, [illegible] that both of the leaders would be eliminated in the end by the bitter rivalry between them.

DELEGATES ON MARCH

Today there was a rallying of [illegible] in the camps of both Smith and McAdoo that kindled [illegible] to a fever heat and [illegible] the hotel district of New York echoing with the cheers of [illegible] delegates. Mr. McAdoo, [illegible] of fast-flying reports that some of those pledged to him were preparing to quit the race after the early ballots, told a group of his supporters in a [illegible] speech that no delegate had [illegible] in the convention to [illegible] a trust."

Gov. Smith, appearing before a [illegible] of thousands to review a parade, was welcomed by [illegible] of applause and acclaimed by his partisans as the next President.

[illegible] delegations held caucuses to[illegible] the day most of the [illegible] impressions and plan[illegible] part of the big show. The [illegible] of most of them was one of [illegible] and speculation, but it [illegible] increasingly apparent that [illegible] who will have convention [illegible] are disposed to make selections of their own after they have [illegible] their instructions to cast [illegible] ballots for this or that candidate on the initial roll calls. Should the deadlock be prolonged, the convention itself appears de[illegible] to take upon its own [illegible] the responsibility of [illegible] a candidate rather than

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 23.—McAdoo and Smith, Davis and Ralston are all eclipsed tonight. Candidates are in the discard and the platform has excluded everything else in the Democratic platform. All candidates will be affected by the final decision on the platform and the fight has narrowed down to the language of the plank denouncing the activities of the Klu Klux Klan. Practically all of the delegates say they are against the Klan. Some of the more prominent leaders, like George Brennan of Chicago, and Senator Oscar Underwood of Alabama, want the Klan named outright in the resolution of denunciation. Other foes of the Klan demand that the language be general and no mention be made of the Klan by name.

Some of the fights on the Klan is undoubtedly stimulated by enemies of McAdoo, but the issue raised to embarrass McAdoo has leaped out ahead of everything else and is now the present pivotal issue of the Democratic party.

In view of this situation the respective booms of all the Presidential possibilities are about in

McADOO HIT BY DOHENY STATEMENT

Oil Man Denies Rumor He is Contributor to Chest of Former Counsel

Rumors from the East that he has become a contributor to the campaign chest of William Gibbs McAdoo, aspirant for the Democratic nomination for President, caused E. L. Doheny, millionaire oil man, to issue the following statement yesterday:

"I am leaving the privilege of contributing to Mr. McAdoo's campaign to those who believe in the efforts of a lawyer who deserts his client when he is under attack after having receiving substantial retainers for legal services. Those who believe that such a course is ethical no doubt believe Mr. McAdoo would make a good President of the United States."

COMMUNITY PROPERTY CASE HEARD

Attorney-General Promises to Render His Opinion as Soon as Possible

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, June 23.—The California community property case involving $230,000,000 in refunds, and $30,000,000 annually to California taxpayers was argued before Atty.-Gen. Stone by Atty. Lloyd M. Robbins of San Francisco for two hours today. Robbins contended that California wives have had a vested interest in community property since California became a part of the United States.

Atty.-Gen. Stone made it clear that the principal reasons governing his action, in recalling the Daugherty opinion which favored California was the conflicting opinions rendered by the Supreme Court of California. It was made plain by the Attorney-General that if it were not for these conflicting opinions there would have been no question raised as to the legality of the Daugherty opinion, which upheld the decision of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in the case of Blum vs. Wardell.

Atty. Robbins cited Senator Shortridge's many letters to President Coolidge, Secretary Mellon and former Atty.-Gen. Daugherty in support of the California taxpayers. Upon the conclusion of the argument made by Atty. Robbins the Attorney-General stated that in view of the importance of the question he and his associates would give the matter most serious consideration and render his opinion as quickly as possible.

PARADE HONORS DELEGATES

BY KYLE D. PALMER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 23.—All the policemen in the world, accompanied by more firemen than the imagination can assimilate, and flanked by a sufficient number of streetsweepers to keep the Lincoln Highway clean and end to end, marched up Fifth avenue today in a parade that required more than three hours to pass the Waldorf Astoria.

This was New York's welcoming flourish for the edification of the delegates to the Democratic National Convention. If it was also a scheme on the part of Gov. Al Smith to intimidate the McAdoo delegates it was a failure. As a living indication of the immensity of the metropolis, however, it was a stupendous success. More than 25,000 policemen, firemen and other city employees were in the procession.

YOUR GUESS AS GOOD

On the eve of the Democratic National Convention the fastidious student of politics may make any guess on the outcome that is suited to individual lists and preferences—with a reasonable chance of being right when all is over. Every theory advanced, even by the most reckless prophets, is prefaced by a large and impressive "if" and the best guess is that inasmuch as something must eventually happen, anything may happen.

A great many impressive prophecies are being made as to which candidate cannot get the nomination, but only the respective leaders themselves are sufficiently bold to say positively who can be nominated. The fact that each man has the courage to name himself may or may not lessen the value of his opinion.

William G. McAdoo, who today received the signed, sealed and delivered pledge of every California delegate and alternate to stay with him until he is nominated or his name is withdrawn as candidate, is the only aspirant actually engaged in working for himself, all the others being engaged in a combined drive to eliminate him as a contender, this destructive union apparently being based on a tacit understanding that, with McAdoo eliminated, every man for himself.

McADOO SLOGAN

The McAdoo slogan tonight is, "Hold the line." The former Secretary of the Treasury and his assistants are worried by the problem of holding his delegates after he reaches a maximum showing in the convention and the expected deadlock sets in. Hence the drive to have every available delegate and delegation committed definitely to a program of solidarity.

McAdoo has taken the active management of his candidacy in his own hands and subordinated a majority of his many managers to purely advisory capacities.

A threatened fight on the reappointment of Isidore B. Dockweiler of Los Angeles as Democratic National Committeeman was peremptorily called off by McAdoo soon after the California delegation reached its Vanderbilt Hotel headquarters and when the delegation held its caucus this afternoon Mr. Dockweiler was re-elected by the unanimous vote of the delegates present. This was done in the interests of harmony; not delegation harmony, but McAdoo harmony.

TELLS OF SMITH SUICIDE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, June 23.—Jesse Smith, friend of former Atty.-Gen. Daugherty, committed suicide after the refusal of Gaston B. Means and his secretary, Elmer W. Jarnecke, to act as his agents in the return of $21,000 received for liquor withdrawal permits, Means testified today at the trial of Jarnecke and himself for violation of the prohibition law.

This statement, coupled with the announcement that Secretary of the Treasury Mellon would take the stand on Thursday, were outstanding developments in the Federal Court trial today.

Mr. Mellon had been subpoenaed for appearance tomorrow, but pressure of business in Washington led to a request for a delay.

Means testified that Smith had asked him and Jarecke to act as his agents for the return of the money at a time when Washington was flooded with rumors of indictments in connection with the laxness of the prohibition law enforcement.

The rumors had frightened the people who had paid Smith the $21,000 and they had requested its refund, Means said. The witness said he refused and advised his secretary to do likewise. He told Smith, he asserted, that he would go before the Congressional committee investigating prohibition enforcement and tell all he knew about fraudulent transactions.

The next morning Smith was found dead.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—Maughan did it. At 9:47 o'clock tonight, while the frenzied cheering of countless thousands drowned out the roar of his biplane's motor, the dawn-to-dusk sea-to-sea flyer touched the wheels of his machine to the dirt of Crissey Field here in a perfect landing, completing a record-smashing trip. It took him a few minutes under twenty-two hours to fly the 2850 miles from Mineola, Long Island, to the edge of the Golden Gate.

FEELING HIGH IN JAPAN

Distorted Reports Are Cause

Few Papers Make Editorial Comment, But Those Show Bitterness

BY RODERICK MATHESON
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TOKIO, June 23.—The situation in Japan following the slaying of several Japanese in California is growing more tense and the possibility of war is being widely discussed. The responsible people and the authorities are endeavoring to check this sentiment.

The vernacular press today for the most part is refraining from editorial comment, only one or two making statements.

Yesterday's Osaka Asahi contained bitter comment on the California news which reached here vastly distorted.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The Asahi repeated a cable announcing the near lynching of two Japanese at Los Angeles and the killing of two at Fort MacArthur, adding:

"The Exclusion Act has already produced grave consequences as justly anticipated by our Ambassador, threatening the traditional friendship between the two nations. Americans have proved themselves guilty of a barbarous blunder, however, not Japanese.

"Japan is unfortunate in having to deal with such a barbarous neighbor whose boast is her 'civilization.' Against such an insult as discrimination, Japan stood determined to wipe it out by all means, but heretofore it has maintained a dignified attitude, bearing the humiliation patiently. At the same time indignation is burning Japanese blood.

"Both the press and the government are cautioning the people not to act emotionally lest they brnig on serious consequences. Probably this attitude has made some Americans conclude that Japan has completely submitted to the insult, permitting anything else possible to humiliate the Japanese. It is true that this incident is local, not representing American sentiment, but America cannot avoid its responsibility.

AMERICANS "FOOLISH"

"Speaking frankly, the Americans are a foolish people, being subject to the influences of demagogues. There is no real unity in America. Leniency shown Americans guilty of these barbarous actions will only aggravate the situation. Something definite is necessary to end these criminal deeds before too late."

Another newspaper carries a full-page advertisement titled: "A Manifesto to the Whole Japanese Nation," and signed the Taig Yosha, a new patriotic society which staged the so-called Imperial Hotel incident. The manifesto says:

"Yesterday's report from America to the effect of Japanese being attacked at Los Angeles and others being found murdered near a fortified zone so far are newspaper reports only. We cannot give full credence to the report just as the recent act at the Imperial Hotel, which was intended to warn foreigners whom we consider parasites to leave was reported abroad as an affair in which ruffians chased foreigners about with drawn swords. Countrymen, we must not sacrifice the real interests of the nation through careless acts of sentiment and passion.

OPPOSES RETALIATION

"Supposing the reports from America are true, let us settle the question in strict observance of the creed of Bushido (the unwritten Japanese code of chivalry.) We oppose retaliatory violence, particularly against helpless and isolated Americans living amongst

And the first thing this doughty American said after he had switched off his motor at Crissey Field, was:

"Well—I had a wonderful time."

A few minutes later, the official time for the flight was given out—21h., 47m., 45s., which meant an average cross-continent speed of about 125 miles an hour including stops.

Never has San Francisco witnessed a more thrilling scene in recent years than Maughan's landing.

With the late afternoon bulletins of his steady progress toward his goal fanning the interest in this city to fever pitch early evening found a steady stream of automobiles carrying countless people into the Presidio grounds. Other thousands came afoot and in trolley cars, and long before the hour at which the cross-country flyer could arrive every possible vantage point about Crissey Field was black with humanity. Thousands upon thousands of cars were parked about the field and on the roadways along the cliffs overlooking the flying field.

SEARCHLIGHTS AFLAME

At dark, batteries of huge Army searchlights were set aglow. Three of them sent their beams across the landing field; a fourth shot its powerful ray straight into the heavens, to lose itself in a glowing ball in a high mist bank.

Then the minutes passed. Guards with rifles slung across their shoulders paraded before the massed thousands. Every window of the Crissy Field barracks and executive building was live with watchers.

Hours, it seemed, the searchlights swept the heavens. Every ear was strained for the first hum of Maughan's motor. The cold winds that swept across the wide field from the Golden Gate did not affect the ardor of those who were there to do honor to the air-hero.

And at last it came. Some ears on the outskirts of the throng caught the first whispering buzz somewhere far off. He shouted. In a moment, it seemed, the vast crowd sensed that Maughan was near.

"He's coming," went the shout from mouth to mouth, and soon there went up a mad cacophony of cheering and siren-tooting that must have warmed the flyer's heart as he neared his goal.

NOISE REDOUBLED

And then he flashed into view. Through the vertical beam that had guided him to the field shot the airplane. For an instant it gleamed there in the sky. Every eye, strained to catch the first sight of him, saw, and the noise that had seemed deafening doubled and redoubled.

Once, twice the roaring, fire-spitting streak circled the field. It whizzed with incredible speed through the glare of the spreadlights that flooded the landing field with unbelievable brightness. Then it vanished into the blackness of the sky again and only the steady drone of the motor told the crowd how Maughan circled over the bay and came back again to the northeastern corner of the field.

And then he landed. As neat a landing as any flyer could make under the most perfect conditions of daylight and smooth air. It was a magnificent finish to a magnificent flight, that landing just at the edge of the field, in the full illumination of the blinding searchlights.

At this point enthusiasm ran away with common sense, and with one accord the massed thousands swept away the hundreds of guards as though they were feathers. While great magnesium flares burst into flame, lighting the field

Forest Blaze Rages Out of Control at Edge of National Park

Tourists and Residents Are Drafted in Effort to Save Landmarks

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, June 23.—With Gen. Grant Park, home of the big trees, only two miles away, in danger from a forest fire raging in Dark Canyon, forest rangers, employees of the National Park Service and tourists to the number of 200 are making strenuous efforts to bring the fire under control. A brisk wind is sweeping the fire toward the park and efforts to bring it under control from all sides have been of no avail. The fire is also spreading toward Redwood Mountain, the home of the big redwood trees.

Wind started to blow from the northwest this afternoon and fanned the flames. The fire-fighting crews have taken a stand at the new government road from Logger Peak to the Sequoia ranger station. A portion of the large force has been sent to the Gen. Grant Park Road, two miles above Pinehurst, and plans to backfire from that point tonight, if wind conditions become favorable, as is expected. In the meantime, the weary fighters are battling the flames as best they can.

AID IS RECEIVED

Forest Supervisor Frank P. Cunningham and Deputy Lee Slinkard today arrived on the ground to direct the battle against the flames. Tourists have been stopped along the road and pressed into service.

Tonight the forces were augmented by twenty-five men from Visalia and surrounding community. The blaze, of undetermined origin, was discovered yesterday by State Fire Warden A. D. Weddley, who organized the initial fight and who has ordered tools and provisions for a five-day campaign.

Last night it seemed for a while that the fire was under control but freshened winds from the west today started the fight all over again.

The fire has already devastated a territory five miles long on a front one-half a mile wide, largely confined to Dark Canyon, between Badger and the Sequoia ranger station.

SUN RACE RECALLS FLIGHTS

Dawn-to-Dusk Venture by Maughan Brings to Mind Distance Nonstop Records

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, June 23.—Lieut. Russell L. Maughan's race with the sun across the continent in one day recalls other long-distance and nonstop flights made in the last few years by American aviators.

One of the most notable of these was the record-breaking trip a year ago of Lieut. Harrison G. Crocker, who broke the world's record for a nonstop flight in a one-man plane by flying approximately 1400 miles from Ellington Field, Houston, Tex., to Selfridge Field, Detroit, in 11h. 54m. on May 26, 1923.

Another sensational record was made the same month when two aviators crossed the continent without a stop. They were Lieut. Oakley G. Kelley and Lieut. John Macready, who flew from New York to San Diego, 2520 miles in 26h. 50m. on May 2 and 3, 1923.

A year previous, May 3 and 4, 1922, they had established a record by flying from San Diego to Indianapolis, 2060 miles, without stopping while attempting a transcontinental flight.

USE SAME PLANE

Lieut. Crocker in making his nonstop record, used the same plane in which Lieut. James H. Doolittle, on September 2, 1922, made a nonstop flight from Kelley Field, Texas, to San Diego, Cal., a distance of about 1240 miles in 11h, 10m., while trying for a nonstop record from Jacksonville, Fla., to San Diego. His total elapsed time from Florida to California with the one stop was 22h. 35m. and the distance covered was 2275 miles.

Capt. Lowell Smith and Lieut. John Richter, army aviators, established an endurance record at San Diego last August by staying in the air for 37h. 15m. 14⅘s., bettering the previous record of 36h. 4m. 31s. made by Lieut. Macready and Lieut. Kelley at Dayton in April, 1923.

Airplanes manned by United States mail pilots flew 2680 miles from San Francisco to New York in 27h. 14m., actual flying time in August 1923.

RECORD MADE

Lieut. Macready also established an altitude record at Dayton in 1921 when he went up 34,509 feet, but this record was broken last fall by a Frenchman Sadi Le Cointe, who mounted 36,745 1-3 feet at Villacoublay, France.

Lieut. J. W. Wead and Lieut. J. D. Price made four world records for seaplanes at Anacostia naval

FOUR PLANKS STRIFE CENTER

Klan, Foreign, Dry and Farm Issues Stir Tempest

But Leaders Hope to Solve Puzzle in Committee

Whole Lumber Yard Will be Offered to Framers

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, June 23.—Volunteer platform builders had another busy day today, but if anything their labors served only to bring into bolder relief the differences over four of the principal planks, those dealing with the Ku Klux Klan, foreign relations, prohibition and farm aid.

As matters stood on the eve of the first meeting of the platform committee of the Democratic National Convention, there were ready for that committee no less than three separate drafts of complete platforms and a score or more of individual planks, most of them dealing with the four most controverted subjects.

These were all the products of groups of leaders, individual chieftains, or emerged from sessions of State delegations. Consequently, they do not embrace the many suggestions in written form which will come from the outside—from labor, business, women's, "wet" and "dry" and other organizations.

HARMONY FORECAST

Despite the gaps that divide the minds of leaders, particularly on the Klan and League of Nations issue, Homer Cummings of Connecticut, who is slated for the chairmanship of the platform committee, predicted that all troubles and differences will be adjusted in the committee, making floor fights unnecessary. Others high in party councils were as optimistic, but minority reports from the committee with contests on the floor were forecast in several quarters. Besides the Klan and League questions, some thought that only the convention itself finally can determine the broadness of the expression by the party on prohibition and law enforcement.

With the arrival of Senator Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama with a strong anti-Ku Klux Klan plank, and the vote of the Massachusetts delegation directing Senator Walsh of that State, to fight for a plank naming the Klan as such and condemning it in no uncertain terms, the lines were drawn even more sharply on that question. The Ohio delegation also instructed former Secretary of War Baker to present Edmund H. Moore's anti-Klan plank to the platform committee and urge its adoption.

William Jennings Bryan and the Indiana delegation added their support to those who favor omission of the name of the Klan. Bryan's plank simply would reaffirm the party's devotion to the fundamental principles of the Constitution by which the rights of civil and religious liberty are guaranteed, but the Indiana plank would go much further.

LEAGUE IS BACKED

In fact, the planks which it will propose is identical with that adopted by the Indiana Democratic State Convention except that the language is changed to make it a national party instead of a State party expression.

Senator Carter Glass of Virginia and other Wilson followers, who have insisted that the League of Nations be denominated in the foreign relation provision, were reinforced with the arrival of Newton D. Baker, and former Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock of Nebraska, who led the Wilson fight in the Senate for ratification of the League covenant.

Both Mr. Hitchcock and Mr. Baker will present planks with direct reference to the League. That by Mr. Hitchcock would declare that the Democratic party rejected the claim by Republican leaders that as far as the United States is concerned the League is a closed incident, but there would be the reservation that the party would be content to leave the ultimate result to time and nonpartisan decision.

This proposal is in line with that for which Senator Glass has been contending since he first joined the informal platform discussions last week. Mr. Baker's plan has not been made public, but it is understood that it contains a similar expression to that in the Glass plan—that the United States adhere to the League in time with reservations safeguarding its sovereignty.

LINES LESS CLEAR

Lines of differences over the prohibition and law enforcement plank are not as sharply defined as are those over the League and Klan issues, but in the contending ranks there is a spirit of determination equally as pronounced.

The main fighting point is whether there shall be any expression by the party regarding the right of the people through their representatives to modify laws enacted under the Eighteenth Amendment. In the background are elements contending for a direct expression against the Volstead Act and for a forceful expression regarding enforcement of both the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act itself.

The Massachusetts delegation voted today to direct its representative on the platform committee to contend for a declaration against the Volstead Act. Some support for this position is expected by this delegation from other representatives on the committee.

Two new agricultural planks were added today to those already drafted. One was prepared by E. T. Meredith and Carl Vrooman by direction of a group of delegations from Western States and after consultation with William G. McAdoo. The other is sponsored by a group in which Senator Kendrick of Wyoming is the guiding spirit.

The chief division between the two is the method of approach in solving the agricultural problem. The Meredith-Vrooman plank would call for a reduction of the tariff so as to lower costs of things the farmers purchase and to stimulate foreign buying of American farm products; a reduction in freight rates and a change of policy in the Federal reserve banking system under which farmers might more readily obtain needed credits in marketing their crops.

The other proposal demanded by the Association for National Relief of Agriculture, would declare among other things against "discrimination against agriculture by the Federal Reserve Board, the Farm Loan Board, the Interstate Commerce Commission, or other government bureaus," for the right of agriculture to create for itself a national marketing organization under its own management, and for the Curtis-Aswell bill, which it is asserted, "would make it possible to eliminate all unnecessary and unjustifiable commissions, profits, and waste between producer and consumer."

Announcement was made today by the National Woman's party that it will present an equal rights plank to the committee and urge its adoption.

The legislative committee of the American Federation of Labor decided at a session today to present to the committee labor planks similar to those offered at the Republican National Convention at Cleveland this month.

Each Prepares Specific Planks for Democratic National Platform

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, June 23.—The problems of agriculture were considered simultaneously today by two groups of Democratic delegates holding divergent views on the feasible methods of approach. Out of each gathering came specific suggestions for the national platform.

One meeting, called jointly by E. T. Meredith of Iowa, formerly Secretary of Agriculture, and Carl Vrooman of Illinois, his assistant in the Wilson administration, appointed a committee of seven members with Mr. Vrooman as chairman to draft the "strongest agricultural plank possible." Another, in which Senator Kendrick of Wyoming was a guiding spirit presented in the name of the Association for the National Relief of Agriculture a plank of nine clauses setting forth the views of the meeting.

About thirty representatives of various elements of the agricultural industry attended each meeting. In the Meredith-Vrooman meeting, in which a majority of those present appeared to be sympathetic with the aims of the McAdoo forces, were Governors Bryan of Nebraska; Ross of Wyoming; Davis of Kansas; Sweet of Colorado; Senator Owen of Oklahoma, and representatives of the American Farm Bureau Federation and other farmers' organizations.

The plank substituted by this group demanded "an intelligent and enlightened interpretation of all laws dealing with co-operative organizations and activities" and expressed approval of the Curtis-Aswell bill creating a revolving fund of $10,000,000 for the assistance of co-operative marketing organizations.

GUNS USED TO STOP TURKISH HAILSTORMS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 23.—The Ministry of Agriculture is sending 3000 guns and 20,000 special cartridges to Smyrna and the neighboring villages for use against hailstorms. The damage done to fruit and other crops is daily growing greater, owing to the bad weather, which is almost unknown here at this season of the year. Many windows were broken by a hailstorm which swept over Constantinople, and a succession of thunderstorms has done much to spoil the summer season.

PARTY IN MAZE OF UNCERTAINTY

continue the stalemate indefinitely by following blindly the advice of State conventions and primaries.

The day's developments caused no change in the claims of victory emanating from the headquarters of both McAdoo and Smith, but there was no denying the growing show of optimism among the supporters of the favorite sons, who for the present are cast into the shadow by the towering strength of the two leaders.

The Indiana delegation, after a glance over the situation as it developed during the past few hours, reversed the previous decision of Democratic leaders of the State and decided unanimously to place the name of United States Senator Samuel Ralston formally before the convention. There was talk later of abandoning the decision, however, when some of the Senator's friends suggested that his position would be weakened by bringing him forward at so early a stage in the fight—an opinion in which Thomas Taggart, the veteran Indiana leader, appeared to share.

Undeniably the day's hurried activities saw an increase in the tide of discussion over favorite sons and dark horses, and the delegates were given plenty of advice by the campaign workers about both the strength and the weaknesses of those proposed as compromise candidates.

ALL ARE HOPEFUL

But none of the managers for the long string of candidates appeared to be discouraged by the difficulties in their pathways.

Senator Oscar Underwood paid his first visit during the day to the headquarters opened in his behalf by his friends from Alabama, and added the impetus of his personal efforts to the endeavers of his supporters.

The champions of Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, former Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio, and a dozen others also continued their combings of the delegate list for possible accretions of strength.

All of these increasing activities, added to the ever-growing pressure of the McAdoo and Smith workers, kept the delegates in such a swirl of excitement that the net result, were added bewilderment and uncertainty over the outcome.

Out of the din and confusion, however, did emerge a hint of the strategic plans in preparation by the managers for McAdoo and Smith. Until the voting begins—probably on Thursday or Friday—efforts will be made to hold within narrow limits all talk of a compromise candidate and center the attention of the delegates on the fight between the two leaders. Then, with the beginning of the first roll call, both camps will start a driving floor attack, in the hope that sooner or later an old-time convention stampede will set in and sweep everything before it.

Prolonged demonstrations are expected to greet every mention of the names of Smith and McAdoo. When a State delegation votes for either, it will be rewarded by noisy manifestations of approbation.

The driving power of the enthusiasm behind both of the two leading candidates is one of the characteristics that has made the preconvention period unusual.

Amid the activities of the workers for Presidential candidates, the delegates found little time today to give attention to the party's platform problems. The dispute over the Ku Klux Klan issue remained unsolved, and a disagreement persisted over the length the convention should go in reaffirming its stand on the League of Nations. The leaders believe that both of these issues may have to be settled finally on the convention floor.

Senator Underwood, during his visit to his campaign headquarters, made public his proposal for a plank condemning the Klan by name, and the Massachusetts delegation gave its approval to a similar suggestion.

MAY BE PROLONGED

These and a mass of other suggestions will go before the platform committee headed by Homer S. Cummings of connecticut as soon as it is appointed at tomorrow's opening convention session.

A tentative platform draft prepared by a group of volunteer party workers also will be taken under advisement by the committee, and its sessions promise to be prolonged and to develop some heated arguments.

Called to order at noon by Chairman Hull of the national committee, tomorrow's session of the convention will be devoted entirely to the routine of committee appointments, except for the keynote speech by Temporary Chairman Pat Harrison. A plan to have the keynote delayed until evening to insure wider radio distribution finally was abandoned today by the convention officials and Senator Harrison will speak soon after the noon session.

MANAGERS VAGUE ON DETAILS OF STRENGTH

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, June 23.—The eve of the Democratic convention finds the rival campaign managers advancing an abundance of claims of victory but a dearth of details on which their estimates are based.

Not one of them is ready to announce from what specific delegation he expects to draw strength enough to give his candidate the 732 votes necessary to nominate.

On the basis of instructions given in State conventions and primaries, and the expressed preferences of those who are uninstructed, the present intention of the 1098 delegates is to divide their support on the initial roll call among a full score of candidates.

On that basis and in round numbers the outlook at the moment is that William G. McAdoo will have in the neighborhood of 450 votes on the first ballot and that Gov. Smith will be in second place with about 250.

Most of the remaining 400 votes are parceled out in blocks of about fifty or less. Senator Underwood, James M. Cox, Senator Ralston and possibly John W. Davis appear to have in sight somewhere near fifty first-ballot votes.

New Jersey's twenty-eight and perhaps a few others are promised to Gov. Silzer; Michigan's thirty to Senator Ferris, Virginia's twenty-four to Senator Glass, Kansas's twenty to Gov. Jonathan Davis, Mississippi's twenty to Senator Harrison, Arkansas' eighteen to Senator Robinson, New Hampshire's eight and ten from Connecticut to Gov. Brown, Nebraska's sixteen to Gov. Bryan, Colorado's twelve to Gov. Sweet, Delaware's six to Senator Saulsbury, and Wyoming's six to Senator Kendrick.

HUGE WELCOME FOR DELEGATES

all of whom after detraining marched for more than an hour through various thoroughfares adjacent to the Vanderbilt, has given the McAdoo campaign renewed life so far as surface activities are concerned. The delegates from his most recently adopted State are working with characteristic California energy in Mr. McAdoo's behalf—and many heated and vociferous arguments result as a consequence.

Southern Californians appear to be a degree or two more enthusiastic for McAdoo than a few northern delegates, notable among his most ardent admirers being John B. Elliot, J. Harvey McCarthy, John P. Carter, R. T. Burge, Irwin J. Muma and J. B. Coulston of Los Angeles county and the indefatigable Charles M. Brown of Redlands.

Mr. Brown, by the way, who is something of a wag, drew down the ire of a serious-minded Smith advocate who appeared to suspect the Redlands Democrat of anti-prohibition leanings.

"What Smith?" inquired Brown

"Why, Al Smith."

"Who's Al Smith?"

"The Governor."

"What Governor?"

"Why Good Heavens, Gov. Smith of New York."

"I never heard of him," said Brown.

TWO-THIRDS RULE

The McAdoo leaders apparently have abandoned their plans for a direct attack upon the two-thirds rule in the convention, but are considering an attempt to have the platform committee submit a proposal to the convention providing that in the event of a prolonged deadlock the delegates may vote in favor of a candidate by majority vote.

Should this proposal receive approval and a deadlock occur the chairman of the convention, Senator Walsh of Montana, presumed to be a McAdoo advocate, would be called upon to decide whether the two-thirds rule can be abrogated by a majority vote or by a two-thirds vote. A ruling in favor of the first, the McAdoo managers believe, would result in breaking the deadlock and his immediate nomination, while a decision favoring the two-thirds requirement would not change the situation for the Californian.

The fight in the rules committee for and against a direct attack on the Ku Klux Klan may defer presentation of the platform until Friday or Saturday and thus prevent a start on balloting for the Presidential nominee until next week.

In addition to re-electing Mr. Dockweiler, the California Democrats voted unanimously in favor of another term for Mrs. Charles L. Donohoe of Oakland as Democratic National Committeewoman. Mr. Carter was named permanent chairman of the delegation and Mr. Coulston, secretary.

The following indorsements were made for California's representation on the various convention committees:

Resolutions, David Ewing, Fresno; rules, Robert M. Fitzgerald, Oakland; credentials, John F. Quinn, Eureka; permanent organization, Former Congressman William Ketner, San Diego; notification of Presidential nominee, Georgiana Stoney, San Francisco; notification of the Vice-Presidential nominee, Mrs. R. D. McCook of San Bernardino.

Miss Lloy Galpin of Los Angeles was made vice-chairman of the delegation and Mary Marshall Wiley of Los Angeles was elected as one of the convention vice-chairmen.

GARDEN WELL ARRANGED

Madison Square Garden, slightly reminiscent odoriferously of a circus that recently was held therein, received its finishing touches today. Every chair of every delegate and alternate is in its place; the press boxes are equipped with the telephone and telegraph; a gigantic American flag forms an impressive canopy over the entire auditorium and, it is said, more than 15,000 smaller flags have been used to festoon the walls of the historic old place.

From the standpoint of audibility and visibility for the onlooker, an improvement over arrangements at the Republican National Convention at Cleveland has been obtained by placing the speaker's platform in the center instead of at the end of the auditorium.

From the standpoint of the dignity and aloofness and distinction of the famous correspondents in attendance, a major tragedy has occurred. In Cleveland the correspondents awed the envious assemblage by their graceful and exclusive possession of canes. In New York every ribbon clerk and taxi driver off duty handles a stick as only those can who are to the manner born. New York is a cane-toting town and a correspondent is no better than an elevator man when both are attired, cane in hand, for the street.

The fire, which is in the Sequoia National Forest, constitutes a menace to Gen. Grant National Park, headquarters officials said. At present it is burning toward the park one way and Red Mountain on the other.

Another fire was reported from Shasta county, northwest of Redding, this one not being on a national forest, or, it was thought, likely to prove serious.

Lions Plan to Send Magazine to Sightless

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OMAHA, June 23. — Each blind child in the United States will receive a national magazine for the blind if a movement begun by the Nebraska-Iowa Lions district convention, which met today preliminary to the opening today of the international convention of Lions clubs, is adopted by the international body.

The district meeting voted to urge the international to subscribe for the magazine for each of the 6000 blind children in the country as a part of its child welfare program.

the same position as they have been up to the time when the platform took the center of the stage. Smith and McAdoo are probably permanently deadlocked with a dark horse waiting in the shadows to race into the ring and accumulate all the votes. The attitude of many in the convention was summarized today in a statement issued by Gov. Neff of Texas in which he said it all in this epigram: "Smith is too wet; McAdoo is too oily."

DAVIS AND RALSTON NEXT

In behind the two deadlocked leaders come John W. Davis and Senator Ralston of Indiana as possible white hopes on which the delegates may be able to unite and nominate under the two-thirds rule.

Unable to get the rules committee to report favorably a plan for the substitution of the majority vote for the two-thirds rule for the nomination, leaders backing McAdoo have evolved an ingenious plan to accomplish the same thing on the floor of the convention itself and the plan may be the coup of the entire gathering. If McAdoo and his forces can show on one of the earlier ballots a real genuine blown-in-the-bottle majority it is planned to move that the delegates proceed to nominate by a majority vote of the gathering. Chairman Walsh, although sympathetic to the McAdoo movement, as chairman, will have to overrule the motion and then the McAdoo captains plan an appeal to the convention where they hope to overrule the decision of the chair by a majority vote and then name their man with only a little greater number of votes than a majority. Smith and all the other candidates are plotting to upset this plan and when the balloting finally comes at the end of the week after the platform is accepted by the convention, every precaution will be taken to prevent any successful assault on the two-thirds rule.

HULL COLLAPSES

Tomorrow at 10 o'clock the convention will formally open its sessions after a day of revivals, parades, bunting displays and State caucuses. It is a question whether Cordell Hull, chairman of the Democratic committee, will be able to wield the gavel which will call the convention to order, for he fainted away late last night when his finance committee reported to him that all bills were paid and the convention would open without a debt of any kind. This shocking statement came to Chairman Hull after days of pressure and nights of resistance of ticket claimants for tickets that did not exist. Due to overwork and the heat of New York Chairman Hull was almost prostrated, but the announcement that the convention owed nothing was too much for even this hardened veteran of Democratic gatherings.

Tom Taggart, the veteran Indiana boss, is now out in the open, apparently having broken away from Smith in New York and George Brennan of Illinois, and demands the nomination of Senator Ralston of Indiana. Some of the older experts at the game of politics say that Taggart is playing a deep game and that there is something back of his apparent isolation that later will be indicated in the final nomination.

FEAR EARLY DESERTIONS

A summary of the siutation as it looks tonight on the eve of the convention's formal opening is that McAdoo will have the most votes—possibly 600 on the first two ballots—but that the walls of confidence are already cracking and that after that there will be desertions in different State delegations now credited as solidly for the Californian. Unless McAdoo can go over in the first few ballots this desertion by delegations will prevent his nomination. Where the McAdoo delegates will eventually land no one can predict tonight. Smith can muster not more than 400 votes and he and McAdoo are expected to make the best deal possible for throwing their support to the winning candidate chosen after the elimination of those now the leaders.

Ralston comes to the front tonight with the solid influence of Taggart and the whole Indiana delegation, but his age and local conditions may militate against him. The greatest task of the advisers of John W. Davis is to keep him in the twilight as a dark horse should be. Continual chatter by his friends has almost put the spotlight on Davis in spite of the curse of Bryan and some of the near-radicals in the convention.

Just before the battle, mother, it's anybody's fight and no living man can guess who will be the winner.

Klan Threats Cause Preacher to Show Past

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

EAST ST. LOUIS (Ill.) June 23. Threats by the Ku Klux Klan to expost his past, Rev. O. Pierre Bellanger of the Landsowne Church of Christ, said today, had prompted him last night to confess to his congregation that he had served a term in the State penitentiary of Minnesota, having been found guilty of arson twelve years ago.

The minister gave details of his prison life and the cause of his being sentenced to the penitentiary. He asserted his conviction was brought about by perjured testimony. In explaining his reason for exposing his past, Mr. Ballanger attributed the threats to the fact that he had relinquished his membership in the Ku Klux Klan here, when State and national officers of the organization refused to take any action against members of the Klan in East St. Louis who were charged with graft and extortion.

MAUGHAN SPANS NATION IN DAY

SNAPS TO ATTENTION

But Lieut.-Col. William E. Gilmore was there first. In a motorcycle, the commanding officer of Crissy Field was the first person alongside Maughan's plane after he landed. Maughan, tired as he was, snapped to attention toward his superior officer, and at once obeyed his order to "taxi" his plane to the center of the field, in front of the executive office building.

While guards clubbed their way through mad throngs with the butts of their rifles, Maughan slowly drove his plane up the field, coming to rest at last where a group of newspaper photographers waited. It was then he stood up, grinned boyishly, and yelled:

"Well, I had a wonderful time."

Then came the photographing and the handshaking and the backslapping and the shouted greetings. Through it all, apparently unperturbed, and not showing any visible fatigue, Maughan stood smiling happily—the smile of a boy, whose teacher had told him he is a good boy. He reached into a small compartment behind his seat, and drew out letters from New York officials to San Francisco officials, from eastern Army officers to commanding officers here, and passed them to waiting hands. Then came copies of this morning's New York newspapers.

A package or two, some films and he had delivered the goods.

ANSWERS GREETINGS

All through it the flashlights boomed, and Maughan, a "regular fellow" to the limit of the meaning of the phrase, looked this way and then posed like this and like that for all who wanted to snap him. Tired beyond the conception of those to whom such a strain is unknown, Maughan yet found the strength and the time to answer the greetings that were shouted at him.

At length he started to step from the cock-pit. As he flung his feet over the edge comrades grabbed him, and he was carried bodily across the field, through the screaming throngs to the Cissey Field barracks and up the stairs to the second-story balcony.

There, in the spotlight glow of automobile lamps that framed him in the center of a group of comrades of the Army Air Service, Maughan made his little speech.

Throwing back his head for all the world like a happy boy, he laughed a whole-heartedly embarrassed laugh. This hero worship had "gotten" him, and he was fussed. But after Col. Gilmore had silenced the thousands of spectators, Maughan had his say:

"I had a wonderful time," he began again, and the crowd roared and laughed. Then:

PROVES POSSIBILITY

"But I haven't done a thing that can't be done every day of the week. I did it to prove it, and it can and will be done again." Then in a few words, he recounted the stops he had made, and the few minutes he had lost at each stop. He finished up with a plea for American co-operation toward the building of an air service that will be able to duplicate his flight a thousand-fold.

A mighty huzza answered his words, and weeping with the sheer happiness of his great moment of triumph, Maughan at last felt his strength ebbing. He practically collapsed in the arms of his buddies, and was carried indoors to where the crowd could not get at him with its unreckoning wish to heap praise and honor upon him.

A little later Col. Gilmore took him away to the rest he had earned—to Col. Gilmore's own quarters, where he will sleep undisturbed until late tomorrow morning. But it was not until after he had told the story of his record-breaking Atlantic-to-the-Pacific flight.

Modest in the hour of his great triumph was the only man in the world who in the span of one day has crossed the North American continent.

TRIBUTE TO MACHINE

"We were lucky, and the boys where I stopped were wonderful."

The "we" was the tribute of the aviator to the splendid little machine which hurled him across the United States at 150, 170, sometimes at more than 200 miles an hour, and came to rest after that high speed with its motor purring like the contented fireside song of a cat.

His face, black with a stubble of beard and spattered with oil and grease, was wreathed in smiles as he met the barrage of questions.

"I feel fine, now; but after the first six or seven hours of flying I couldn't keep food down. I was sick, oh, I don't know, maybe two or three dozen times. I didn't eat at all on the trip; I couldn't.

"It was a hard day's work, all right.

"I was glad to see the searchlights of Crissey Field. Soon after crossing Sacramento I was aiming at them all the time, and I knew I was almost home. I had been looking for those lights for a long time."

And then, in response to a question—

"If seventy planes were to attempt the same flight in war time, I should say off-hand that at least 75 per cent of them would come through, without engine trouble or any other delay.

"We (he made the flight alone but never failed to include his ship for its share of the credit) had no engine trouble at all. The only delay was due to our own overzealousness. At McCook Field, Dayton, in our hurry we screwed a nut too tight and a casting cracked. That held us up an hour and a quarter.

"Our average time? I don't know; it must have been around 150 miles an hour. In the mountains we fell down to 140 miles an hour.

"At lower altitudes the time was better. Skidding down from Nevada we came fast.

"The weather was good except for having the wind against us. The first 200 miles was good. Then we hit 150 miles of rain, and another 100 miles of fog. The rest of the way across it was clear, just the average run of clouds.

"But we had to buck the wind all the way. It was dead against us two-thirds of the way, and the rest of the time we had it crossways, which is just as bad.

"With favorable weather, or just an even break on it, we could have cut three hours off our time."

Maughan laughed again, shook with mirth, as the photographers cleared the crowd away from him for a series of flashlight pictures.

Weariness again showed in his face, and his eyes closed for an instant.

Perhaps, in the whirling kaleidoscopic review of the day's glorious adventure which flashed through his brain, there was a fugitive thought of those hardy argonauts of seventy-five years ago who toiled for weary months to cross those plains and mountains over which he had flown in a single afternoon, at a speed greater than that of the eagle, racing after the sun, a twentieth century columbus, blazing a new trail in man's conquest of the earth and the air.

MAJ.-GEN. PATRICK SENDS CONGRATULATIONS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Congratulations were sent by Maj. Gen. Patrick, chief of the army air service erly today to Lieut. Maughan immediately upon the completion of the transcontinental fight.

In a message to the lieutenant by the Associated Press, Gen. Patrick said:

"Congratulations on the achievement of a wonderful feat. You have fulfilled every confidence I had in you. You have brought prestige to yourself, the army air service, and to America. Not only from a military, but from a commercial standpoint this flight is epochal. I am proud of you. God bless you."

BRYAN WINS IN DRY PLANK ROW

Florida Caucus Refuses to Tie Member's Hands

Group Told Democrats Must Go Strong on Issue

Washington Delegates Dodge Question of Klan

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, June 23.—A row over prohibition enforcement broke out today at a caucus of the Florida delegates with William J. Bryan on one end of the argument and former Gov. Albert W. Gilchrist on the other. In the end, Mr. Bryan had his way.

The tilt was precipitated after Bryan had been placed on the committee which will frame the platform. Mr. Gilchrist offered a resolution declaring it the sense of the delegation that there should be no prohibition plank. After twenty minutes discussion, marked by exchanges of personalities, the resolution was ejected. Gilchrist and Thomas J. Appleyard, also a delegate at large, were its only supporters.

Several members of the delegation joined with Bryan in declaring it would be a mistake to tie his hands with instructions. The former Secretary of State pointed out that the resolutions committee would be made up of divergent elements and the drafting of a platform would be a "give and take" proposition. His supporters declared they were willing to trust him to urge adoption of a satisfactory law enforcement plank.

Mr. Gilchrist, admitting he was outnumbered, insisted that his resolution be put to a vote. Mr. Bryan referred to both him and Appleyard as "wets," a term which Mr. Appleyard resented because, he said, he had not taken a drink of liquor since he was 18 years of age.

Mr. Bryan told his colleagues that if the Democratic convention did not "go as strong" on law enforcement as the declaration in the Republican platform, the Democrats in the coming campaign would find themselves on the wet side of the fence.

KLAN ISSUE IS IGNORED BY CAUCUS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, June 23.—Although the Washington delegation was declared by its members to be composed partly of Klansmen, the Klan question was not permitted in today's organization meeting.

Under unit rule, the delegation is pledged to vote McAdoo until two-thirds of its members desert him. Robert P. Oldham was elected chairman; H. D. Marritt, member of the rules committee; George Fishburn, member of the Resolutions Committee, and George Christensen and Mrs. Hugh C. Todd, members of the national committee.

Under unit rule and instructed for McAdoo, the South Dakota delegation today steered clear of second-choice discussions during its caucus.

Guy Harvey was chosen chairman, W. W. Howes, member of the rules committee and national committeeman, and John P. Cogan, member of the resolutions committee.

WET IS ELECTED

Edmund H. Moore of Youngstown, preconvention manager for James M. Cox in 1920, was elected National Committeeman by the Ohio delegation to the Democratic National Convention today after a hot fight.

Three ballots were taken before the selection was made. Mr. Moore, who is a strong antiprohibitionist and has opposed Gov. Donahey, led on the first two ballots but did not receive a majority until the third.

The caucus voted unanimously to instruct Newton D. Baker, the State's member of the resolutions committee, to fight for insertion of Mr. Moore's anti-Ku Klux Klan plank in the party platform. Mr. Moore, in an address, declared that if the Democratic party did not destroy the Klan it would be destroyed by the Klan, and charged that the Klan was back of William G. McAdoo and responsible for Mr. McAdoo's present strength.

The Iowa delegation caucus selected as chairman of the delegation, E. T. Meredith; resolutions, J. Ray Files, and rules, Daniels F. Steek.

IDAHO MAN KEPT

The Alaska delegation to the Democratic convention in caucus elected the following: Chairman, George B. Grigsby; resolutions, John W. Troy; rules, Robert W. Jennings, and national committee, Thomas J. Donhoe and Mrs. John W. Troy.

George E. Brennan was unanimously elected Democratic National Committeeman from Illinois at the caucus of the Illinois delegates.

As a result of action at the caucus of the Idaho delegation Robert H. Elder will continue as Idaho's Democratic National Committeeman. Mrs. Teresa Graham is National Committeewoman. James P. Pope was placed on the resolutions committee and C. B. Wilson on the rules committee. James H. Hawley is delegation chairman.

BAY CITY ATTORNEY IS SILENT ON QUIZ

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—John T. Williams, United States District Attorney for the San Francisco district, returned here today from Washington, where he conferred with Atty.-Gen. Stone relative to reports that he was to be replaced, following investigation of his office by agents of the Department of Justice. Mr. Williams, however, refused to make any comment on the reports, declaring that any statement necessary undoubtedly would be made by the Attorney-General.

VEGETARIANS, LEND EAR, OR BE "EXTINCT"

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, June 23.—It would seem from experiments of Slonaker and Card at Leland Stanford Junior University that vegetarian diet practiced during succeeding generations "would result in the extinction" of those practicing it, Dr. C. Robert Moulton, director of the committee on nutrition of the American Institute of Meat Packers, said today. Dr. Moulton said that the calorie measurement "is an inadequate expression of food values."

M'ADOO ASSAILS GOTHAM PAPERS

Asserts Unfair Reports Are Being Published

Reaffirms His Confidence of Convention Victory

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, June 23.—William G. McAdoo in two addresses today to delegates to the Democratic National Convention renewed his assaults on the metropolitan press for what he characterized as "unfair tactics" and declared his confidence that victory for progressive democracy with himself as leader was as certain as though already recorded.

Both Mr. McAdoo and his campaign manager, David Ladd Rockwell, took cognizance of reports, published and spoken, that McAdoo is losing ground and that much of his support will be dissipated after the first few ballots. The candidate for the Presidential nomination "assured" delegates from Far Western States who marched to his hotel upon their arrival that a statement that they would "betray" their trust was a libel upon them and their States.

Mr. Rockwell in a conference with newspaper correspondents declared that McAdoo not only had not lost any delegates, but had gained some.

RESERVE STRENGTH

"And we have a reserve strength that will surprise you," he added. "All this talk about our losing ground is pure propaganda."

Speaking to the delegates from nine Western States and Hawaii and the Philippines, Mr. McAdoo told them they had not come here to "betray, but to execute a trust."

"And I know that you are going to do it," he said, "and that every other Democrat in America is going to do it."

This declaration brought long cheers from the delegates and cries of "we are last ditchers."

"You bet we are last ditchers," McAdoo shot back. "We are not only last ditchers, but we are pathfinders for democracy."

Mr. McAdoo's second address of the day was delivered at a luncheon given to women delegates to the convention by Mrs. J. Borden Harriman and Miss Carolyn Ruutz-Rees.

In it he declared the convention must adopt a progressive platform and nominate a progressive candidate if Democracy is to triumph.

Renewing his attack on the New York newspapers, he declared that he was "game," but added that his hearers knew that he was not getting a square deal from the metropolitan press.

LONG CONFERENCES

While Mr. McAdoo was addressing delegates and conferring with a steady stream of visitors to his headquarters, his lieutenants held prolonged conferences to work out final details of convention organization and strategy. The McAdoo floor force will consist of thirty-six workers, three to each of the twelve zones into which the delegate space will be divided, with Breckenridge Long of Missouri in direct charge under Mr. Rockwell.

Besides conferring with delegates and other visitors Mr. McAdoo was closeted for some time with former Senator James Phelan of California, who is to place his name before the convention. He also conferred with E. T. Meredith, former Secretary of Agriculture, and Carl Vrooman, former Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, and others regarding platform planks.

There was no pronouncement from McAdoo headquarters as to the candidate's attitude toward the question of abrogating the rule requiring a two-thirds vote of the delegates to nominate. Referring to this subject generally, Mr. Rockwell emphasized that discussion of such abrogation had not originated in the McAdoo camp, but had been initiated by George E. Brennan, the party leader in Illinois.

ASSAILED BY NEFF

Out of the grist of pre-convention statements came those praising and assailing McAdoo's candidacy. Gov. Pat M. Neff of Texas, who declined to become a delegate from his State, declared that the selection of either McAdoo or Smith would mean defeat for the party.

"Smith is too wet," he said. "McAdoo is too oily."

"If we are to successfully meet on the field of political conflict the enemies of clean government," Gov. Neff said, "we must do it with a leader who has never been the attorney for the sinister and corrupting influences of this country.

"The unfortunate division of our party at this moment between these two impossible candidates has caused the delegates to overlook temporarily the strength and virtues of many abler and better fitted men, such as Davis, Copeland, Ralston, Baker and Bryan."

George L. Berry of Tennessee, president of the International Printing Pressmen of America and himself a candidate for the Vice-Presidency, declared that Mr. McAdoo undoubtedly has the confidence of the West and South.

"He presents a progressive and liberal thought that is needed at this time in American government as never before," Mr. Berry said, "and I regard him as being one of the most clean-cut and outstanding figures in public affairs today."

SMITH GREETS MANY OF DELEGATES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, June 23. — Delegates from twenty-one States met today with Gov. Alfred E. Smith and Franklin D. Roosevelt, his campaign manager, and discussed questions affecting the Governor's candidacy and acceptability for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

At the end of the day's events, Mr. Roosevelt said the series of conferences have been "very encouraging, revealing many unexpected sources of support" for the Smith movement. It was explained, however, that while the delegates who called, did not, in all cases, represent the full delegations from the States they represented, they let it be known that Gov. Smith had "votes in them."

The States represented either in whole or in part were named by Mr. Roosevelt as follows:

Tennessee, Virginia, North and South Dakota, Kentucky, Missouri, Washington, Oregon, Utah, Colorado, Nebraska, Florida, Mississippi, West Virginia, Maryland, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Maine and Louisiana.

Gov. Smith divided his time today between political, municipal and State affairs. In the morning he met a State board from Albany and awarded printing contracts for the year. Then, a brief stay at his campaign headquarters devoted to conference purposes and he left to review the parade of 25,000 men in the employ of New York City, including the police, fire and street departments.

Returning to headquarters late in the afternoon, the Governor again was besieged by callers and gave his time to them until called to hurry to Mayor John F. Hylan's dinner tonight for New York State and delegate guests of the city.

Meanwhile, the New York delegates had been assembled at the Smith headquarters to meet with Roosevelt and incidentally be instructed by him to do missionary work among other delegations in the interest of the Governor's campaign.

"Go into the streets and tell the delegates what you honestly know about Al Smith," Mr. Roosevelt told the delegates. "Our cause is right and will win, but let us bring in all the converts you can and make the result doubly sure."

FARM INTERESTS BUSY

Sandwiched in between the delegates was a group of more than fifty representatives of farm and agricultural interests. They asked Gov. Smith's and Mr. Roosevelt's help in efforts being made to have the convention adopt a plank pledging relief to agricultural and against government interference in the business affairs and co-operative farm agencies.

Henry Morgenthau, former Ambassador to Turkey, issued a statement from the Smith headquarters urging nomination of New York's chief executive.

"We must elect some one who has proved his capacity by administering high office to the satisfaction of all his constituents, some one who is above all suspicion; some one who has such daring feats to his credit as defying Hearst in 1922, and now in successfully preventing the capture of the Democratic nomination by McAdoo; a man who has successfully and to the entire satisfaction of his contituency filled the office of Governor of the State of New York for two terms and who should, like Tilden, Cleveland, Hughes or Roosevelt, be given an opportunity for a larger sphere of usefulness."

CONVICTION IN BAD CHECK CASE REVERSED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, June 23. — The Third District Court of Appeal today reversed the conviction in the Superior Court of Placer county of W. C. Wilkins, who was charged with having given a bad check to a justice of the peace at Roseville in payment of a fine for violation of the traffic laws. A new trial was ordered for Wilkins on the ground that the evidence upon which he was convicted was not supported by proof of fraud. Wilkins formerly was a leader of the Ku Klux Klan in Sacramento, it is asserted.

HOOSIERS START RALSTON BOOM

Name to be Offered by His Law Partner

Decision Surprise to Many Staunch Backers

New Hampshire Governor Latest Dark Horse

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, June 23.—Hoosier delegates put Senator Ralston of Indiana, actively into the Presidential race here today.

At a meeting marked by great enthusiasm, the delegates decided to have Fred VanNuys, former United States Attorney for Indiana and Ralston's law partner, put the Senator in nomination, and to cast Indiana's thirty votes for him "from then on."

DECISION IS SURPRISE

Decision to place Ralston's name formally before the convention was a surprise to delegates generally and did not meet with the approval of many of the Senator's friends outside the Indiana delegates. Powerful influences immediately began to argue with Thomas Taggart, who is in active charge of the Senator's campaign, to dispense with the nominating speech. Taggart listened attentively to the arguments against a formal nomination and tonight his attitude was described as "half-convinced."

Indiana leaders declared that if any speech were made, it would be short and devoid of oratorical flourishes. Their hope is to make the Senator's position before the convention as dignified as possible.

ANOTHER DARK HORSE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, June 23.—Another dark horse was trotted out today by the New Hampshire delegation, whose spokesmen indicated on their arrival that they would vote "for the first four or five ballots at least" for Gov. Fred Brown.

The Connecticut delegation to the Democratic National Convention after an extended caucus behind closed doors today decided on the first ballot fourteen of its delegates, each with seven-eighths of a vote, would support Gov. Brown and that six of the Connecticut delegates with seven-tenths of a vote each would cast their ballots for Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York unless they were in the meantime released.

The McAdoo members of the delegation said that after the first few ballots for Gov. Brown there would be cast eight votes for McAdoo and six for Smith.

HALF MINUTES WITH L. A. SERVICE

C. A. LUCKENBACH

What's in a Name?

By C. A. Luckenbach, Third Vice-President

ISN'T IT true that a firm which includes the name of its proprietor in its title seems more personal and familiar than a firm which has an impersonal name? For example, doesn't the name "Smith Candy Company" sound more friendly and human than the name "Superior Confectionery" or "Reliable Sweet Shop"?

It does, and yet, the Smith Candy Company may not be nearly so accommodating and agreeable as either of its impersonally-named competitors.

It is not practicable to name a gas and electric company after an individual, and so we have names like "Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation." Rest assured that Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation is just as personal and human and friendly in its make-up as though it were named after John Brown or James Smith.

In order to give our patrons a peep behind the scenes, we have decided to print a series of statements under the general title of "Half Minutes with L. A. SERVICE", and in the same connection to show some pictures from the album of the L. A. Gas family.

We think you will be interested.

FEELING RUNS HIGH IN JAPAN

us. We may hate the sins of others, but do not let us be men who commit them. The crimes are those of a few and not of the entire nation. This is the real spirit of Yamato—the origina. name of the Japanese dah (sword) race.

"We want our countrymen to observe the spirit of this creed and we hope that no act will be done to bring reproach upon Japan. We sincerely request everyone to indorse this stand."

The police are getting in touch with all foreigners, notifying them what to do in case of emergency. Except in minor instances no foreigners have been troubled.

The Yoruzo, a paper having a wide circulation among the masses, this morning says:

"We who know full well the barbarous Americans, have felt concerned no little regarding the possible developments in that country. There has been no idle fear for now reports are coming in of the spilling of Japanese blood in the Pacific States. There has been a clear case of lynching.

SAY ATTACKS INCITED

"In Los Angeles anti-Japanese placards have incited attacks on Japanese. The outrages cannot be lightly passed by. When was a single American in Japan attacked or his property threatened? This outrage in California is a reflection on American psychology not easily considered.

"We have often referred to facts demonstrating how rich Americans live in a state of brutality apart from their professed humanity. Remember how madly, blindly the Americans persecuted Germans after the latter's entry into the war. The Americans do not move by reason but abandon themselves to low passions. The lynching of negroes which is approved nationally, attests to these facts. Representation in Congress to abolish lynching has been ignominiously shelved.

"We note that the murder of two German missionaries led to the Shantung question. The beating of Alsace soldiers in German barracks gave rise to a great question. Didn't Americans cry for war with Mexico for an insult offered to Americans? Is Japan to acquiesce to American tyranny, passing silently over the lynching of our nationals?"

The Japan Times, an English edited Japanese daily, in calling upon the Japanese to show coolness, says:

"At no time in the history of American and Japanese relations has there been more need of cool heads to govern and adjust a situation which daily is growing more entangled. The final solution is not clear; it will require long years of patience with strong mutual determination to bring a settlement.

"The question not only is confronting Japan and America but is fundamentally universal, involving world races. Therefore it requires all the more dispassionate deliberation, as, should unfortunate strife at arms be resorted to, who can tell but that it would bring about a stupenduous conflict of white against colored races, meaning the end of the world's civilization.

WORLD SIGNIFICANCE

"The question is tremendously significant to the entire world. The principle involved was placed upon the table at Versailles by Japan. America and Japan dodged the issue, Japan being content to wait. Now a foolhardy Congress unwittingly again brings up the question before the face of Japan. Intelligent Japan is determined to be patient now as then, but it is not Japan which raises the point. The American Congress is responsible that the world faces an issue to be solved either in peace or with an Armageddon.

"Intelligent Japan is prepared in perfect coolness to enter the discussion sanely. We are prepared to believe that intelligent America is in the same frame of mind. Remembering that the principle at stake is not limited to Japan and America, but involves the future relationship of the white to the colored races, the two nations of the Pacific must realize the gravity of the situation, a solution of which devolves on them.

"Will America and Japan prove themselves great enough to solve the issue peacefully, ensuring the world's eternal happiness, or will they prove unworthy by driving the world into destruction and civilization into extinction?"

FEUD PROOF GROWS IN JAPANESE DEATHS

Further evidence tending to show that an oriental gambling feud caused the deaths of Tago Irarshi and Thomas Yoskioka, Japanese gamblers whose bullet-riddled bodies were found last Friday at Point Firmin, was uncovered yesterday, according to Detective Lieutenants Stevens and Oker. The identity of the slayers has not been determined, the detectives said, but it is considered certain that enmity that grew out of a gambler's fight, was the cause.

That Irarashi was shot and killed at some place other than where the body was found was the belief of the detectives yesterday. They said this theory is borne out by the lack of blood where the body was found.

The inquest into the murder of Irarashi and Yoshioka was conducted yesterday afternoon by Coroner Nance at the Palm and McLinn mortuary at Los Angeles Harbor. The Coroner's jury heard about a dozen witnesses and returned a verdict holding that the two Japanese had met death through gunshot wounds inflicted by unknown persons.

Three police sergeants who are investigating the murders, the boy who found the bodies and three Japanese who identified the victims were among the witnesses.

AGREEMENT REACHED IN BELVEDERE TANGLE

The sixteen residents of Belvedere and the three Japanese whom they are said to have requested to leave that community have agreed to an amicable settlement of their differences, it was stated yesterday at the Sheriff's office.

Deputy Sheriffs Johnson and Heller investigated and reported to Sheriff Traeger the names of ten women and six men who are said to have threatened the Japanese unless they left Belvedere. It was stated that the Japanese, M. Kawamoto and wife, and Y. Naito, 4208 Eastside Boulevard, Belvedere, do not wish to prosecute for the asserted attack and that they are willing to leave the vicinity at the end of a year, when their lease expires.

The sixteen others stated that they would not molest the Japanese and are willing for them to remain in that section until the lease is ended.

Western Live-stock Meeting to Revise Quarantine

One Herd Near Hynes Found to Have Disease

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) June 23.—Quarantine inspectors stationed on the Western Arizona boundary have been instructed to disinfect all automobilists from California and permit their entry as a result of Federal reports that the foot-and-mouth disease in California has been brought under control, it was announced at the Governor's office today.

The State instituted an embargo against California vehicular traffic April 11, last, as a measure to prevent spread of the disease. The roads are open at all entry points. A formal order modifying the Arizona quarantine to permit the motorists to come into the State is expected to be issued soon.

TO REVISE RULES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

RENO (Nev.) June 23.—Modification of the quarantine against California because of the foot-and-mouth disease is opposed by Wyoming, Texas and New Mexico, it was revealed by telegrams from those States read this morning at the opening session of the Western Live-stock Sanitary Association. These telegrams from live-stock boards and State officials declared that conditions in California at present did not justify a removal of the quarantine regulations now in existence and would be opposed by those commonwealths.

Dr. W. J. Butler, president of the association, briefly outlined the purpose of the meeting and discussed the cost and method of fighting the disease, following which a committee to draft a modified set of regulations uniform for all western States, was appointed, with Dr. C. G. Lamb of Colorado as chairman and Dr. Wendell R. Smith of Idaho as secretary. Other members of this committee are: Dr. F. E. Murray, Utah; Dr. W. H. Lytle, Oregon; Dr. A. J. Webb, Utah; Dr. S. E. Douglas, Arizona; Dr. A. W. French, Wyoming; Dr. E. E. Records, Nevada; Dr. Robert Dill, Nevada; Dr. J. R. Mohler, Washington, D. C.; W. G. Houck, Dr. Charles Keane, G. H. Hecke, California; John T. Caine, Utah, and Mr. Dicks of Oregon.

The committee was given until tomorrow morning to report and immediately went into session to discuss the present regulations section by section and the modifications which could be made.

TAHOE BAN TO GO

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

YOSEMITE, June 23.—Supt. W. B. Lewis of Yosemite National Park was advised today by Nevada State authorities that the quarantine established by that State against certain California products on account of the foot-and-mouth disease would be lifted on June 25. This means, according to Supt. Lewis, that travel over the Tioga road to Lake Tahoe will be resumed without restrictions.

One herd of twenty-seven cattle near Hynes is infected with the hoof-and-mouth disease, quarantine headquarters here was informed at noon yesterday. Five contact herds of 140 cattle are being closely guarded, officials announced.

MAC SMITH AND HAVERS TIED FOR SECOND IN BRITISH OPEN TOURNEY

YANKEE TENNIS TRIO TRIUMPH

America's Olympic Stars in Victories Abroad

Richards and Washburn Win Matches Handily

Hunter Easily Beats Rival at Wimbledon

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

WIMBLEDON (Eng.) June 23.—America's Olympic tennis stars did a large share of the curtain-raising at the Wimbledon tennis [illegible] this afternoon. They won [illegible] victories. Two of these were on the famous center court, where Vincent Richards, who had the honor of opening the tournament against A. E. Park, came through easily with the first match, 6-1, 6-1, 6-4, and Watson M. Washburn, although he had to struggle for his last set, defeated L. A. Godfree handily, 6-4, 6-0, 7-5.

Francis D. Hunter took his young opponent, J. F. Park, to an outlying court, away from the crowds, and dispatched him neatly and quietly. He had only occasionally to put the power of his [illegible] shoulders into the strokes to win at 6-1, 6-2, 6-2.

R. Norris Williams wanted to make it four straight for America, but his opponent, E. A. McGuire, had not arrived from Ireland, so they will meet in the center court tomorrow.

On the whole it was not a spectacular day of tennis from the [illegible] viewpoint. The men who faced the Olympic stars were [illegible] young brothers who have [illegible] to learn about championship [illegible] and they were doing their best to learn.

The other battles on the center court were more closely drawn and resulted in victories for France and Spain. Rene Lacoste of France defeated Okamoto of Japan who last week earned the title of champion of London at the Queen's Club, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, [illegible] while the spectacular Manuel [illegible] of Spain, whose popularity here rivals that he attained in America, won from J. C. Gregory, England, 6-1, 6-2, 6-4.

France obtained another well-earned win when Jean Borotra, member of the Davis Cup team, won three straight sets after losing the first at 11-9, from N. Wil[illegible]. J. D. P. Wheatley, the English Davis Cup player, had a hard time winning a match from D. Mil[illegible], 11-9, 6-4, 6-0.

FOURTEEN LEFT IN NET EVENT

Three Westerners Still Remain in Intercollegiate Tennis Championships

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHILADELPHIA, June 23. Only fourteen players of the field of fifty-eight contestants who started today in the national intercollegiate tennis tournament at the Merced Cricket Club, survived the opening rounds, which were marked by the defeat of Johnny Howard of Princeton, one of the seeded players, in the first round. The East had eight representatives remaining, the Pacific Coast three and Chicago, Texas and McGill University of Montreal, one each. All of the first and second rounds and part of the third were completed.

J. A. Wright, the Canadian contestant, reached the third round, defeating S. A. Fitcher, Rice Institute, in the first and E. V. Glasky of Kansas in the second round. Phil Bettens, University of California, and Wallace Scott, University of Washington, advanced to the fourth round. They drew byes in the first round and won the second by default.

Irving Weinstein, the other California representative, after beating H. Smith of Princeton in the first round, added his second triumph at the expense of K. Valentine, Chicago.

Arnold W. Jones and B. Hopkins, Yale; E. W. Wilson, Chicago; F. Osgood, Dartmouth; F. Anderson, Columbia; L. N. White, Texas; Karl Pfaffman and W. W. Ingraham, Harvard, and Fred Murcur, Lehigh, also scored double victories.

The semifinal round was reached in the national interscholastic tournament the survivors being Milton Hofkin, Philadelphia; Oscar Ozer, New York; John Van Ryan, East Orange, N. J.; Weller Evans, and Philip Andover.

LIPTON CUP YACHT RACES NEXT MONTH

SUMMER GOLF TOURNEY OPENS

Expect Almost 300 Golfers to Compete for Trophies

Wright and Von Elm in Battle for Low Gross Honors

BY CHARLES WEST

With an entry list approaching 300, the California Country Club's annual invitational golf tournament will get under way this morning, John Dixon and E. A. Hoffman having signed up to start the festivities at the heroic hour of 6:00 a.m. Today and tomorrow will be set aside for qualifying, match play following Thursday, and continuing until the affair ends with the finals in all flights Sunday.

Yesterday afternoon 225 golfers had signed up and been given starting times for the two days, and counting on the usual batch of post entries who sign up at the tee, it would not be such a surprise if the list of competitors topped the 300 mark.

QUANTITY AND QUALITY

The tournament will be exceptional in quality as well as quantity. Fred Wright, George Von Elm and Frank Godchaux, all scratch players, will compete, while Clark Speirs, Harlow Hurley, C. E. Smoot, Stanley Hughes, M. W. Thornson, Eddie Meyberg, Arthur Thompson, Frank Delcot, C. E. Henderson and a host of other low-handicap men from visiting clubs, will attempt to carry off California silverware. The entertaining club has E. R. Hurst, Dick Smith and C. M. Buck as its strongest representatives.

All of which indicates that the course record of 69 is in danger. Willie I. Hunter, who won the tournament last year by besting Fred Wright in the finals, holds the amateur record for the California layout, made last winter during a match in which he and George Von Elm defeated Arthur Havers and Jommy Ockenden. With Fred Wright shooting spectacular golf, and Von Elm and Godchaux capable of sensational scoring, as well as a flock of low-handicap players who might slip in ahead of the favorites, the chances for a new record score are bright.

Clark Speirs of the Los Angeles Country Club is considered one of the strongest players of today's portion of qualifiers, while tomorrow Fred Wright, Von Elm, Godchaux and Hurley will tee off together. The foursome, which leaves the first tee at 1:30 p.m., is expected to draw a large gallery.

MANY PRACTICE

Yesterday the California links were densely populated with golfers who are to compete for the splendid array of trophies put up by the club for the tournament. Among the more renowned of those who practiced are George Von Elm, Frank Godchaux, Harlow Hurley, George Cline, Frank Deleot and Johnny Hodge. Wright scored a 72 last Saturday. All joined in enthusiastic comment on the condition of the course, which has improved considerably since an unlimited supply of water has been obtained. Dr. Bradford, chairman of the green, has the fairways well barbered for the tournament, while the greens are to receive their final attention early this morning. The markers will be put back as far as possible on the new grass tees, and the pins will be placed in sporty corners of the greens. Low scores will be well earned.

E. H. Frederickson, chairman of the tournament committee, has made elaborate plans for the entertainment of California's guests, not the least of which is the establishment of a refreshment stand at the eleventh hole, an institution which proved immensely popular to the golfers who participated in California's tournament last summer.

A. H. Painter, who is handling the tournament, announces that flights will be drawn to take care of all who qualify. Pairings for all flights will appear in these columns Thursday morning.

MARTIN IS LOW ON OJAI LINKS

Ernest Martin, professional at the Montecito Country Club, won the semimonthly sweepstakes of the Southern California Professional Golfer's Association by shooting the Ojai Valley Country Club course in 74, tieing Fred Wright's course record. Gwynn Bowen of Midwick was second with 75, after shooting the second nine in 34, and except for a 7 on the second hole played splendid golf.

Jim Fisk won the blind bogey with 80-10-70. Martin was presented with a $50 prize, put up by E. E. Libby and George Thomas, Jr. Twenty-eight pros competed, and were shown a wonderful time by Oscar Brown, manager of the club.

SEEK GLORY AT CALIFORNIA

George Von Elm, on display below in the fancy sweater, and Fred Wright (inset) are the heavy favorites to win medal honors in the California Country Club's invitation golf tournament, which opens today with the first day of qualifying. Von Elm and Wright will play in a foursome with Harlow Hurley and Frank Godchaux and tee off at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow afternoon.

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER, W.M.H.

We'll know a lot of things about the fight situation after the milk fund battles, which will take place Thursday night in New York. Young Stribling and Berlenbach will do their stuff in one bout, and Gene Tunney will attempt to see just how good, or rotten, is Mr. Emilio Spalla of Italy. When those four young men get through waving their arms Thursday night, the light heavyweight situation really ought to be considerably less jumbled than it is at the present time.

Aside from the four mentioned above, there are Jack Delaney, Harry Greb, Georges Carpentier and Tommy Gibbons who figure as having class in the near-heavy division. Gibbons can be counted out for the reason that he wants to fight Dempsey again, and will not admit any interest in any other division than the heavyweight. The holder of the world's title, Mr. Mike McTigue, can scarcely be counted because he won't fight anybody who has a chance to take away his title.

Spalla might be just about good enough to be interesting. He is not a real light heavyweight, as he tips the beam at approximately 185 pounds, about ten pounds too heavy for the division, but he's big enough to mingle with Floyd Johnson, Jack Renault, Tom Gibbons and the rest of the gentlemen who are sitting around waiting until Jack Dempsey gets hit by a street car or something before putting in a serious bid for the world's title.

Wallace Scott of the University of Washington, who played into the final round of a Pennsylvania tournament the other day, and was leading Wallace Johnson two sets to one when overcome by the heat, is a very interesting and likable young tennis player. This is his last year at Washington, and he is favored to make a high bid for the national title this week. Last year he won the Pacific Northwest sectional title and several other tournaments.

His greatest weakness has been lack of good competition. He hits the ball tremendously hard both forehand and backhand, but has played against so many poor players that when he ran up against somebody who could return his shots he was sho astonished that he couldn't hit the ball back. A little tough competition evidently has done a lot for him, as a year ago he never could have taken a set from Wallace Johnson if it had been a matter of life or death.

Every time we think of Cliff Argue's performance in the 1500-meter run in the pentathlon it is a good cause for a giggle. When Argue was finally persuaded to try to get in shape for the pentathlon Coach Pipal began to worry about Argue's ability to run the 1500 meters. Pipal wasn't the one woh was worrying so much, at that, it was Argue. Argue persistently refused to get out and run a 1500-meter gallop in practice. He seemed to be afraid of it.

As a result Pipal spent the majority of what little time they had on preparation for the 1500 meters, which everybody will admit is a long ways for a 10-flat sprinter to travel.

TEAM SELECTED BY ROBERTSON

Olympic Coach Names Stars for Track Events

Charlie Paddock to Run in Both Sprints

[WIRELESS—A. P.]

ON BOARD THE S.S. AMERICA, June 23.—Lawson Robertson, coach of the American Olympic team, announced yesterday his tentative list of entries for the twenty-three track-and-field events in which the American athletes will take part in the Colombes Stadium.

With few exceptions, the list, in which four men are named in all but three of the events, follows the order of the finish in the final tryouts. The list is subject to additions or changes in five events.

Robertson placed in his list Jackson B. Scholz, New York A.C., and Charles Paddock, Los Angeles A.C., in both the sprints. Loren Murchison, Newark A.C., and Chester Bowman, Syracuse University, will be the partners of Scholz and Paddock in the 100 meters, and Bayes Norton, Yale, and George L. Hill, University of Pennsylvania, will be their mates in the 200 meters. This picking follows closely the final tryout order, except that Murchison has displaced Francis Hussey, schoolboy of Stuyvesant High School, New York, who was fourth at Boston, while Paddock has recovered from the injuries to a toe muscle and is substituted for Louis Clark, John Hopkins University, who was fourth in the 200 meters.

FOR LONG SPRINT

J. Coard Taylor, New York A.C.; H. Fitch, Chicago A.C.; R. A. Robertson, Boston A.A., and Eric C. Wilson, University of Iowa, are picked for the 400-meters event, leaving on the sidelines Allen Helffrich, Penn State, and C. S. Cochran, the Pacific Coast star.

The last doubts have been removed as regards Joie Ray, Illinois A.C., in the 3000 meters. Ray will have as his team-mates Edwin B. Kirby, Cornell; Leo Larrivee, Holy Cross; W. L. Tibbetts, Jr., Harvard, and W. L. Cox, Mercersburg. The sixth man will be named later.

Ray Buker, Illinois A.C.; Lloyd Hahn, Boston A.A., and W. O. Spencer, Mississippi, are sure for the 1500 meters. There is some belief that Ray Watson, Illinois A.C., may run in the 1500 meters. Wiliam Richardson, Stanford; S. C. Enck, Penn State, and Ray Dodge, Oregon Agricultural College, will run in the 800 meters. Verne Booth, Johns Hopkins; John J. Gray, Philadelphia, and Earl Johnson, Pittsburg, the distance aces, will run in both the 10,000-meters flat race and in the cross-country event.

August Faeger, Finnish-American ace, New York; James Henigan, Dorcester club, and Arthur Studenroth, will complete the cross-country team in which six men are permitted. This shift puts W. L. Cox, Mercersburg Academy, in the 3000-meters run and places J. E. Lermond, Boston A.A., in the 5000-meters with John Reamig, unattached; H. L. Phelps, Iowa University, and Rilus Doolittle, Butler College.

UNCERTAIN

Another uncertainty is the discus event, in which Glenn Hartranft, Leland Stanford University, may replace Charles Ashton, New York A. C. The others in the discus throw will be T. J. Lieb, Illinois A. C.; August Pope of the same club, and Clarence Houser, University of Southern California.

In the 10,000-meters walk, Harry Hinckle, Glen Cove, A. C., and Charles Foster, Detroit Y.M.C.A., will represent America.

For the 3000-meters steeplechase, R. Payne, Ohio State; Marvin Rick, New York A. C.; Michael A. Devanney, Millrose A. A., and Basil Irwin, Newark A. C., have been chosen. William Neufeldt, University of California; L. B. Priester, Mississippi, and Homer Whelchill, Georgia Tech, and E. Oberst, Notre Dame, will participate in the javelin throw.

In the pentathlon the American performers will be Robert Legendre, Newark. A. C.; Morton Kerr, University of Southern California; Clifford Argue, Occidental College, and Brutus Hamilton, Kansas City A. C.

The Rev. Ralph Spearow, the University of Oregon's pole vaulter team chaplain, conducted church services yesterday.

PAL MORAN WINS BOUT ON A FOUL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 23.—Jack Zivic, the Pittsburg lightweight, was the victim of an unfortunate ruling by Referee Johnny Gallagher in his bout with Pal Moran of New Orleans here tonight.

In the third round of a scheduled twelve-round engagement Zivic was disqualified after 1m. and 43s. of the frame for an alleged illegal blow.

Up to the time of the referee's ruling Zivic was out in front by a mile. The Pittsburger backed the southerner all over the place and was on the way to licking Moran decisively when the referee seemingly lost his head and gave the bout to Moran.

The men had just broken from a clinch when Zivic wheeled the New Orleans boy around and rapped him with a left hook to the chin. Gallagher decided the blow was foul and immediately ordered Zivic to his corner and awarded the bout to Moran.

Spectators hooted and booed the ruling for several minutes.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, June 23.—Jack Sharkey, Roxbury heavyweight, earned the decision over Floyd Johnson of Iowa, in a ten-round bout here tonight. Sharkey weighed 181 pounds and Johnson 196.

In the second round Sharkey knocked Johnson down for a short count, and twice in the fourth he shook the Iowan with hard rights to the jaw.

SISLER PROTESTS MEN'S SUSPENSION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, June 23.—George Sisler, manager of the St. Louis Americans, who with two of his players was suspended as a result of an altercation with Umpire Howard Holmes, who was the object of a pop-bottle shower from enraged fans at St. Louis Saturday, has telegraphed a protest to President Ban Johnson of the American League. It was said that Sisler vigorously protested against the action barring him, Catcher Pat Collins and Coach Jimmy Austin.

HIGH SCORES AT HOYLAKE

Taylor Leads With 70 After First Eighteen Holes

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

HOYLAKE (Eng.) June 23.—With perfect golf weather prevailing, the annual struggle for the British open golf championship began today with more than 270 amateurs and professionals trying to qualify on the links at Formby and Hoylake.

Both courses have been made so difficult even for the best of golfers that few of the competitors kept close to par and not more than three dozen were able to beat bogey.

Leading the pack tonight was the old-time champion, J. H. Taylor, who shot a sterling 70 at Hoylake. Most of the rest of the field were in the eighties. Arthur Havers, the present champion, got a 72 at Hoylake and MacDonald Smith of California, a similar score at Formby. Between them and Taylor was James Rimmer of Bidston with a 71, made at Formby. The other players followed along in the seventies and eighties and even the nineties.

CLARKSON OUT

Only seven of the nine Americans entered in the championship were able to go to the first tees today. Johnny Farrell and Clarkson both scratched. Clarkson is suffering from ptomaine poisoning and Farrell from boils. Excepting for Smith, none of the seven who did start, threw any scares into the populace, which is ever apprehensive lest some alien star win their open golf trophy and convey it across the Atlantic.

Smith did exceptionally well. Gene Sarazen played well, taking a 75, and the others were only pretty good or pretty bad. With a large gallery behind him, Sarazen set out to atone for his failure to qualify last year and turned in a card of 75, which ranked among the first score of leaders over the Formby course. Douglas Grant, over the same links, had an ordinary 81, which figure must be improved upon tomorrow or he likely will find himself on the outside looking in when the real show starts on Thursday.

BREAKS EIGHTY

Gil Nichols was the only one of four Americans who, playing the Hoylake course, succeeded in breaking 80. He took a 79. Al Espinosa, playing with a sprained ankle, had an even 80 and Jim Barnes 81.

Walter Hagen, who was honored by the greatest gallery of the day, took an 83. Hagen's case, however, is far from hopeless, for if he gets par figures at Formby tomorrow, he should qualify as.

SALVADORE FACES FARREN

Phil Returns to Vernon Coliseum Tonight After Long Absence; Datto Meets Carter

Phil Salvadore,
Who boxes Frankie Farren tonight.

Phil Salvadore's return to ring work tonight in the main event of Doyle's Vernon show holds much interest for fight fans of the Southland who were deeply disappointed in his work the last few times he appeared in action. It was said for Phil that this poor showing in numerous bouts was due to overwork and that a long rest now has put him back in the condition he showed when he proved a stumbling block to Pepper Martin and a number of other imported lightweights in the four-round game.

In Frankie Farren, Phil will be meeting one of the real hitters of the Coast lightweights. Up in the Bay Cities, Frank is regarded as a marvel of a ringman, and since his recovery from blood poisoning, is said to have regained all his old-time punching power.

TWO SWEET HITTERS

The main event, interesting as it is, is having a hard time holding up over the semi-wind-up that shows two sensational hitters in Young Datto and Tommy Carter. Joe Benjamin, Johnny O'Donnell and all the leading lightweights of the Coast tried often and hard to down the tough Sailor Ashmore and failed. Yet Young Datto, lightweight Filipino star of Johnny Sampson's stable, turned the trick in two rounds. Carter leaped into fame when he stopped Johnny Carlson in a round.

In the feature preliminary Nick Newman, Kansas City light-heavyweight, will meet Fred Sullivan. Sullivan will carry considerable advantage in poundage but Nick is asserted to have the heftier punch. It should be a tough mill.

KELLY BATS FOR YOUNG

Matchmaker Hayden Wadhams was forced to substitute K. O. Kelly in the fourth spot for Billy Young. The latter has a bad ear suffered in training and is unable to box. The balance of the card will show big fellows and the Vernon patrons should have a great time watching them fall.

George Blake will referee.

THE PROGRAM

Phil Salvadore vs. Frankie Farren, 138.
Young Datto vs. Tommy Carter, 135.
Nick Newman vs. Fred Sullivan, heavyweights.
Mike De Pinto vs. "K. O." Kelley, 130.
Manny Kaplan vs. Benny Demske, 160.
Sailor Zedick vs. Jack Doran, 165.
Scotty Diest vs. Jimmy Laventhal, 145.

Feg Murray

Eric Liddel, England's hope in the sprints at the coming Olympics, will not run in the 100 meters because the preliminary heats are held on Sunday, July 6? Being a good Scotch Presbyterian, he prefers not to take part in athletics on the Sabbath. He will, however, run in the 200 meters and perhaps the 400-meter run.

Perkins, a one-armed member of the Indian Hill Golf Club of Illinois, once shot a hole in one on the Stoke Poges course in England?

"Butch" Henline, star catcher of the "Phils," catches other things besides baseball, as the large black bass he hooked in Florida will prove?

Hollywood Sash and Door Squad Beats Billiard Company Ball Players in 4-to-2 Game

Scoring four runs in the first inning, the Hollywood Sash and Door baseball team stepped on the Welker Cochrane squad, 4-2, and also moved into second place in the fast-moving Twilight League. Both teams did all their scoring in the first inning.

Reese, on the mound for the Sash team, held Cochrane's pets to five scattered hits throughout the game. The lead-off men on both collections hit the ball hard and often. Duffy, of the Cuemen, hit twice out of three trips to the plate, and Englebertson, of the winners got three out of four. It was noted that, if Welker Cochrane could play billiards like he ambles around the ball field, he could beat Willie Hoppe with his eyes closed.

Tomorrow's game is between the Willard Woodhull team, and the Hollywood Postoffice squad.

A lot will be decided Thursday when the W. F. Peck's batmen meet the George L. Eastman team. Eastman's boys are leading the league, but whether they can stop the winning streak of the Peck outfit is heartily doubted by a few thousand fans who plan to be present when the battle begins.

BIG PURSE FOR A "MIXED" BOUT

Advices received in Los Angeles yesterday have it that a $500,000 purse has been offered Jack Dempsey and Strangler Lewis for a "mixed" bout. The promoters are members of the Kee-Nee-Ton-See Athletic Club of Bass Lake, Knox, Ind., August 16, has been the date named for the bout. If Dempsey cannot be procured, the club is willing to offer $50,000 for a mixed bout between Lewis and a "young man from Starks county, Indiana." Sporting writers of America will be asked to fix the rules for the contest.

Manion Leads Trans-Missy Golf Event

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ST. JOSEPH (Mo.) June 23.—Jimmy Manion of St. Louis, veteran of many golf battles, led the field tonight at the end of the first eighteen holes of qualifying play in the twenty-fourth annual tournament of the Trans-Mississippi Golf Association, played at St. Joseph Country Club.

Manion brought in a card of 73, two over par, in the forenoon and the crack shooters labored in vain the rest of the day trying to equal it.

Eddie Held of St. Louis, the present Trans-Mississippi champion, shot a 74 after getting a poor start on the second nine.

ICE HOCKEY LEAGUE PLANNED BY SKATERS

Hockey teams will be formed in Los Angeles next winter, if all the plans of the ice players formulate. But the idea is, where will the teams have their battle grounds? It has been found, in years past, that due to Chamber of Commerce propaganda, the weather here was very nonconducive to winter sports, and it cost plenty to maintain a rink. Be that as it may, some of the best-known Canadian players living here are going to try and accomplish the feat, and will have a league and teams by next winter.

REILLY TO DON OLD UNIFORM IN BENEFIT

Charley Reilly, who captained the Angels twenty-five years ago, will be back at his old position on third base Monday in a benefit game for Eddie Householder, injured, and now seriously ill. In the days that Reilly played there was no Coast League; it was called the California League then. Reilly was a big-leaguer and once coached the baseball team of Princeton University.

Bruno Frattini, middleweight champion of Italy, who is training in New York preparatory to making his American debut, has fought 125 times in three years, winning fifty fights by knockouts, and losing only four decisions. He is a veteran of the World War, and a member of the Fascisti.

OBSERVATIONS BY BYSTANDER

Argue was scared to death to try himself out, and worried all through the first four events. Then he goes out and runs it in less than 4m. 35s., finishing a close second to a middle-distance runner, and far ahead of everybody else.

An awful bunch of old favorites will be missing at the Paris Olympic Games, but none will be missed more than Pat McDonald, the gigantic New York policeman, who was our leading shot putter for so many years. Pat really got his first setback at the hands of Bud Houser four years ago, when Bud was a callow youth from Oxnard High School. Bud upset Pat over at Pasadena in the nationals, and for the first time the big New Yorker with his white head shaking admitted that perhaps he was getting a little old.

Bud Houser certainly is a nine days' wonder as a shot putter. He has now won the national championship twice, and he still has two more years of college competition. He is getting better all the time, and looks like a very likely winner next year in both the nationals and the intercollegiates.

Bud once had designs upon a wild career as an all-around athlete. Up at Oxnard he used to get out and gallop around in the hurdles, and didn't run such a bad 100 yards. Bud ran the high sticks in under 17s. when he was a junior in high school. Swede Anderson, U.S.C.'s other big shot-putting star, likewise ran the high hurdles in high school, while all the world knows that Tiny Hartranft, Stanford's great shot putter, is a star in the 100-yard dash. The speed these big men developed on the track is one of the heavy contributors to their phenomenal ability to put the shot.

on the face of the returns today, cards of 159 for the 36 holes should squeeze a player into the circle of the 80 elect, as it did in 1923 at Troon.

Of the more than 180 men who played at Hoylake today, only thirty-seven broke 80. The scores at Formby averaged very little better.

BLACK GOLD RUNS AMONG THE ALSOS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

LATONIA (Ky.) June 23.—Black Gold, winner of three derbies, was a distant trailer in the "derby preliminary" a race for a purse of $2000 at one mile and one-eighth, which was won by Chilhowee here today. Gibion finished second and Lord Martin third. The time was 1:50 4-5.

Among the eleven members of various teams at the University of Iowa to complete their athletic careers this year is Wayland Hicks. He won letters in basketball and baseball for three years, was captain of the 1923 championship basketball team and of the 1924 baseball squad, and winner of the Western Conference medal for excellence in scholarship and athletics.

YOUNG DATTO TO BOX MIKE DE PINTO

Young Datto is going to be a very busy man this week. Besides an important engagement at Vernon, Datto is scheduled for the main event at San Pedro Thursday night in a bout with Mike De Pinto. Young Farrell and Pico Ramies are carded for the semiwindup. Les Chester and Buck Curtis, 118-pounders, are on the program as a special event. The other bouts are: Young Oaks vs. Danny Toomey; Paul Summers vs. Sailor Thode; Phil Harris vs. Sailor Roth; Young Argon vs. Tommy Torres.

HARPER REYNOLDS BALL TEAM BEATEN

Led by the heavy hitting of McKenna and Haworth, the Title Insurance baseball nine downed the Harper-Reynolds team, 6 to 4, at the Salt Lake Playground yesterday. McKenna got two hits out of three trips to the plate and his teammate got three out of four. The combined efforts of the two counted for four of their team's runs.

Bade Bonnett of the Harper-Reynolds team didn't hit as often as last week, but his two hits were home runs, so it wasn't so worse.

The Title Insurance team had the game won by the third inning when they scored their fifth run. The game was never in doubt from that time on. The score:

WITH THE FIGHTING FISH OF CATALINA

BY MAJOR LAWRENCE MOTT, SIG-ORC.-USA., U.S. DEP. GAME WARDEN

I ventured the prophecy in last week's article that after the channels quieted from the effect of that strange upheaving and terrific surge of ten days ago—there would be most excellent doings with rod and reel in our fish-festive waters.

Subsequent events have proven me right—as I shall set forth. First and foremost: a Terrible Jinx has apparently taken up its abode on board the Ranger—fishing craft of the Hon. James Jump (of whom I have made mention before!) Nary a tuna can he connect with—and "Yimmy" is wellnigh desperate! It behooveth all hands to walk wide of the Hon. J.—these days —and to speak softly in his presence!

On Saturday the Most Cheerful Ed. Featherstone of Los Angeles—E. A. Featherstone, to be more polite—had an out-and-out heart-breaker: sighted a fine Broadbill swordfish in the morning. It eagerly absorbed his bait. He fought it to a standstill in two hours and fifty minutes. Had it 'longside the Rainbow (his own cruiser)—but at the very moment of gaffing the great fish the piano wire leader . . . parted! And that was the end of that!

Albacore are being brought in every day. A most sporty fish—these—on light tackle, and if the report that I hear is a true one, viz: That they will be worth $375 per ton this season, each fish very nearly means a $5 bill!

The Old Timers—among the boatmen—must look to their laurels! This—as Parker Pence ("Tu-pence Ha'penny") has taken twelve tuna up to June 22, p.m.. He is second man to the accredited champion—Tad Gray of the Adams-Gray team, who has sixteen to his score. And P. Pence is a, comparatively speaking, young "hand" at the game! Good work, Pence!

Chronicling the tuna taken from June 15 to June 22, both days inclusive:

On the 15th, W. J. Cavanaugh of Los Angeles was led to a fine fish of 121 pounds by Pence. The Adams-Gray liaison found one of 97 pounds. Lynn Reynolds, fishing with the Inscrutable Sammy Goulding, just hit the century mark. On the 16th, W. A. Yack—a guest of William Farnum—also fishing with Goulding, accounted for a very handsome specimen of 101 pounds. The Ever-Jovial J. H. Stewart of Los Angeles and Avalon—with "Tex" (Forest) Gould acting boatman—manhandled two excellent fish of 113 and 114 pounds, respectively. The Adams-Gray team trailed along with one of 109. And R. C. Grey—Sun-Kissed Boerstler, spying 'em out from the foretop of the Gladiator—brought home a 101-pounder.

Here's a good one! Sportsmen come from all over the world to fish our tuna water. And they spend Large Moneys in so doing! Lo! on the morn' of the 17th, Ed. Paul—a colored man, and a prime favorite among Avalonites—set forth with Vic Lytle—who owns several little runabout zinc motorcraft—operating them for hire. And dawg gone if Ed. didn't battle with a tuna of 114 pounds—and in that cockleshell o' a craft—too! Be it noted that the colored man had no Vom Hofe reel! No $40 rod! No experienced and expensive boatman!! My hat is off to you, Ed. Paul! The Adams-Gray combination soared up a bit, with a fat fish of 149½ pounds, on that date, and S. A. Pape, Jr., of Chicago, fishing with Old-Timer Eaton, was made most happy with a tuna of 124 pounds. Maj. J. C. Walker—with Eaton—wanted to see—evidently!—how far he could go the other way, and . . . got one of 23 pounds!! Charles Sloan, with Pence, successfully struggled with 117 pounds' worth o' tuna. And "Bill" Farnum—GOOD sport that he is!—managed one of 92—with Sammy Goulding. Friend Yack beat "Bill" rather badly on the same day, from the same boat, with a fish of 126 pounds.

Wednesday, the 18th, was a Holy Terror! Worth a few words. All hands sallied out at 8 a.m., as usual. There was a fresh NNW wind blowing even then. With me in the Mable F. were the Hon. Bandini (of the Trouble Club!) and Mr. Spencer of the photographic staff of The Times. By 10 o'clock it was blowing harder and by noon—when we were some 15 miles away from Avalon—it blew hard (no foolin'!) To fly a kite was out of the question, so we made for harbor—spray flying and whitecaps racing about us. We were "high boat" for the day —for a' that—as Spencer got a fine 26-pound albacore—also some photographs (which were more important—from his point of view—that was the fish!)

The 19th dawned clear, cloudless and nearly windless. Spencer was again my guest—with Hon. Bandini. Struck a fine fish at 9:30 a.m. Spencer immediately went into "action" with his camera and, I believe, got some excellent pictures of Ralph B. "doing his stuff" on a fish! Better angler than the aforesaid Ralph B . . . ain't! But . . . the tuna managed to get away! Tears and loud lamentations! Ralph is having wretchedly bad luck, this season. Has lost several fine fish. On this date Van Brunt, fishing from his own cruiser, with Edmundson as quasi-boatman, got a fish of 75 pounds. Fred Ashbridge—locally known as the Albacore Terror because of his prowess in annexing these fish—picked a little tuna of 25 pounds. (Oought to have put him back to grow, Fred!) The celebrated William De Mille exercised his fishin' muscles in tussling with a 21-pound tuna—fishing with Goulding. (That is almost the Booby Prize W. De M.!) Pence rushed into the limelight again with 91 pounds of tuna, taken by V. Hessi—home port unknown. Old-Timer Eaton trundled in with one of 116½—taken by L. G. Scatt of Minneapolis.

The 20th saw the following brought in: One of 92 pounds, taken by W. H. Leinert of Los Angeles, fishing with O. I. Danielson, president of the One-Time Catalina Motorboat Club! I say "one time"—for the project hath deceased—"as was"—that is to say!

Alma S. Baker—of Bombay and other Strange Lands—had a nice tuna of 104½ pounds to show for his day's work. F. H. Reed, with Edmundson, got one of 109. "Craving" to kill a tuna with me in the Mable F was Mr. James Shultz of Los Angeles. I was fortunate enough to find him a nice fish of 112 pounds—which he brought within reach of my gaff in one hour and fifteen minutes! Nice work on his part, as sweating, under a hot sun, with a large mass of galvanic action at the other end of a slender line was sûthin' new for friend Schultz. "You couldn't pay me $100 an hour for manual labor as strenuous!" he said after the battle was over! Which leads me to remark that rich men will pay all kinds of money to struggle and sweat, chafe their hands until the blood runs, and hang on to a rod until every muscle whispers its own particular agony—to conquer a "poor fish!" The psychology of it is interesting!

On this same date Dr. R. F. Scovel tried conclusions with a tuna of 116 pounds with Ashbridge. P. Pence awakened the Green Eye'd Monster in the hearts of many by bringing in three tuna! 127, 106 and 101 pounds. All taken by W. H. Yule of San Francisco. Great work! I beg pardon, Mrs. Yule! You took the 101 pounder!! Congratulations!

On the 21st the estimable Alma Baker (of India, etc.) had a tuna of 93¾ pounds. Don't seem to find the HE ones, yet, do you? Better luck later! Mr. A. Wilkes of Los Angeles—with Pence—accounted for a fish of 109½ pounds. De Vae was steered on to a tuna of an even 100 pounds by Eaton and Howard J. Schoder, president of the Discount Corporation of California, of Los Angeles, was piloted to another of 104 pounds by the genial Danielson.

On the 22nd inst. only two fish graced the Pleasure Pier: One of 101½, taken by George Pillsbury, of the Tuna Club—and the other, of 104½—brought to gaff by A. B. Warren of Los Angeles, with "Sunshine" Harry Warner in the Ethel. So great has been the demand for fishing craft that it occurs to me to suggest to prospective tuna anglers that they get in touch with boatmen of their fancy, and make their reservations.

RIVERS TO MEET SILVA

Teddy Silva and Georgie Rivers, the only boxers in Southern California who hold decisions over Young Nationalista, have been matched for the main event at Hollywood Friday night, according to the announcement yesterday of Matchmaker Tom Kennedy, who is back on the job after a three weeks' vacation in the East. Silva beat Nationalista several weeks ago, while Rivers decisively outscored the Filipino last Tuesday. The match looks to be the most attractive ever arranged between little fellows for a Legion feature.

Johhny Jordan and Al Grunnan, lightweights, box the semi-windup, while Sailor Vincent mills in the special spot against Harry Ritzer at 150 pounds. Joe Medina tackles Frankie Osner at 130 pounds; Joe Burns mixes with Pico Ramies at 122 pounds; Red Williams and Scotty Diest, hard-punching middleweights, share the second spot, and Joe Banda opens the show against Jack Hester at 135 pounds.

COACH KNUTE ROCKNE DUE HERE NEXT WEEK

Knute Rockne, famous football coach of Notre Dame University, will arrive here in a week to take charge of the summer football coaching school at U.S.C. Rockne turned out one of the most famous grid teams in history last year at Notre Dame. He lost one game to the University of Nebraska, but literally ruined some of the best teams in the East.

Elmer "Gloomy Gus" Henderson, U.S.C.'s well-known coach, is in charge of the class until Rockne arrives. Henderson feels that he will have the chance of a lifetime to beat the California Bears next fall and has begun early with the theoretical points of the game. The little lessons by Rockne will undoubtedly produce a football team at the Trojan institution.

RED KILLEFER FINED BY PREXY WILLIAMS

The heavy hand of President Harry A. Williams of the Pacific Coast League fell with a dull, sickening thud upon Red Killefer of Seattle yesterday. It seems that Red cast asparagus upon the honesty and probity of Umpire Ed Finney up at Stockton Sunday morning. Such language comes high, as Mr. Killefer is now suspended for two days and fined $20. Art Smith of Sacramento was likewise spanked by the league boss, who didn't like the way he heaved his bat against the grandstand in protest against a decision.

TILDEN PICKS COLLEGE CHAMP

Selects Yale Star as Winner of Intercollegiates

Second Choice is Anderson of Columbia

Admits Western Players Have Chance for Title

BY WILLIAM T. TILDEN II
National Tennis Champion

The intercollegiate tennis championship will change hands this year, even though the 1923 champion is still eligible. This is not a wild prophecy or an attempt to belittle the prowess of Carl Fischer, the present title-holder, but merely a statement of fact, for Fischer will not defend. He has sailed to England to compete at Wimbledon, leaving the intercollegiate field wide open to speculation. Fischer would have ruled a strong favorite had he competed, but in his absence there is no one outstanding player to take the favorite's position.

My first choice is Arnold W. Jones of Yale.

There is not much on which to base the prediction when one analyzes Jones's record in the spring college matches, where he lost to Ingraham of Harvard and John Howard of Princeton, yet my opinion stands uninfluenced by these defeats. In the first place, Arnold Jones opens the season slowly and should only reach his best by the intercollegiate championship.

His previous record is superior to that of either of those two boys who defeated him this year. He has just completed a two weeks' intensive practice period that finds him at the top of his form.

The second player I would choose is Frank T. Anderson of Columbia.

Unfortunately, Anderson has been ill this year, and if able to compete at all in the intercollegiates must do so under the handicap of lack of practice and uncertain physical condition.

There is no question but that Anderson is a serious contender for the title if he is physically fit and in form, but I greatly question if he will be in condition to compete.

Lewis White of Texas is my third choice. White has a solid, sound, sensible game, which has shown steady improvement over the last two seasons. I look to see him close to the championship this year. Ingraham has a splendid defensive game, is a hard worker and appears to be at his best at this time.

The Californians who will play should prove serious contenders, and one of them may carry the championship out to the Golden Gate. There are no foreign entries this year, but the field seems to be a highly representative and exceedingly interesting one. The growing entry list in the intercollegiate championship speaks eloquently of the hold tennis has gained on the college men in the United States.

I am convinced that the next ten years will find tennis a major sport in all colleges. The intercollegiate singles championship is a tennis honor to be highly prized. Many of our most famous players have placed their names on the roll. William A. Larned, R. N. Williams, 2nd, George M. Church, Wallace Johnson, Ted Whitney and C. S. Garland are but a few of the list.

Summing up my predictions, I pick:

First, Arnold Jones, Yale.
Second, Lewis White, Texas.
Third, W. W. Ingraham, Harvard.

With Frank Anderson or one of the Californians as a possible "dark horse."

Surely with such a list of entries as the intercollegiate boasts this year the event should take its place as one of the most important tennis fixtures in the 1924 season.

EARLY BIRDS

BY G. E. VAN LOON

Some birds are naturally hardier than others. These come early from the South and seem to take a certain pleasure in the rough play of March and April breezes, and even if frost and snow come for a few days, it is for them only a playful threat, a pretending; for they seem to know that plenty of sunshine and warmth is just around the corner.

Other birds are tropical in their likes, in their sentiments. They do not come till May; they never seem to be in a hurry; they are strollers, idlers. They must have May's best days. If not, they will tarry where they are until the weather is just right.

My sympathies are with the early ones. They have hardiness, the vigor to outlast the storm; they have the temperate persistence and thrift, and they sing, even in inclement weather. Yesterday I encountered a number of my early favorites; robbins singing and mating on all sides, song sparrows twitching and calling nervously and nasally, while others rose to the top of a bush or low tree and sang a delightful song.

Two mourning doves were scouting around along the edge of a shallow pool looking for the best grasses and reed stalks for a nest. A kingfisher was noisily patrolling all of the pools in the vicinity, because the pools were filled with noisy peepers, those interesting little frogs that are exasperatingly quiet when you get near them. Red-winged blackbirds gurgled on all sides; now and then one of the males remained on his perch in the oak tree till I could see and admire all of the beauty of his gorgeous epaulets. Then he would slowly take flight. Here and there a towhee was very assiduously and earnestly telling all the world: "Chuck, willa, willa, willa." He really hasn't much of a song. Some birds have no more than three notes, if my ears have not deceived me. A low introductory note and then three or four rapidly uttered notes, possibly a trill, about an octave higher.

Of course, crows are floating about here and there above the grove or through it. They seem to have no aim in life, although as a matter of fact, they are probably just as busy as any of their companions of April.

TEE, FAIRWAY AND GREEN

BY CHARLES "CHICK" EVANS

MORE MIDIRON HELPS

I have found in midiron shots that it is better to swing a little more nearly upright in order to get the best flight. I believe the direction the ball takes is governed a good deal by the curve the hands swing over. It is a wrong inclination to try to do most of the work yourself. I cannot emphasize too much how exceedingly important it is not to zig-zag the course of your clubhead throughout a golf stroke. If you are having a little difficulty, swing easier for a while. As in everything else, patience is rewarded, and by all means wait for that solid contact of the clubhead and the ball. To those players who persist so much toward the flat swing, I send my sympathy. A clubhead swings smoothly of its own accord if done correctly; it determines the proper course.

Remember that you should not swing too short. And any player who thinks he can hit the ball with the shoulders first is mistaken. There is such a thing as sort of gathering yourself together for all your rhythm and strength at the back of the stroke in order to prepare for this hit. There is a particular spot out in back which is the best hitting position for your hands; I would cultivate imaging it. You must be sure to go out to the limit at the back, and dip the club toward you before bringing it into a sharp quick blow. When I spoke of the keep-going shot I should have added the words "at a medium rate of speed." The break of the wrists should be felt at the back. It is not a quick jerk; that would be unrhythmical. When the clubhead goes back be sure not to let yourself get more ahead of the vertical line. Visualize your entire top position at the back.

If you play your golf stroke with tight muscles you are likely to lose your balance. Try to get the music of the stroke. After the first few feet of the back stroke try to relax a little. Do not be discouraged if after swinging well you get a jerky stroke; keep on trying, there may have been something wrong with the hit. Practice and experience will remedy that. I hope that I can impress you with the fact that you must not have too flat a swing.

The power of the right shoulder should not go into the shot until the ball is first met by the clubhead. Try to feel the clubhead surely on the ball. Your hands start down first, but soon the clubhead should be leading toward the ball. It is wrong to start the left shoulder down first; if you do it it will make the clubhead hit the ball on the toe. Avoid pulling over the direction line at the ball. There is one thing of which I am absolutely certain, and that is that the hands cannot be the center of a circle for they must make a little circle of their own. The medium upright swing is what you want. If you feel the whip of the shaft it will do much good. Your stroke must be firm; you must not be a coward at golf. When going down toward the ball, hit the shots off fast. The hands should be well out from the shoulder at the end of the back stroke. Make a careful, real, manly hit.

BETTENS-CHANDLER IN DOUBLE FINALS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BALTIMORE (Md.) June 23.—Philip Bettens and E. G. Chandler of the University of California, will meet Phil Goldsborough of Baltimore and Fritz Mercur of Lehigh University next Saturday for the doubles title in the Maryland State championship tennis tournament. Bettens and Chandler reached the finals by defeating in the semifinals Lewis White and Louis Thalheimer, 1923 national intercollegiate doubles champions.

What is a good batting position for a beginner to adopt?

I advise every beginner to use his natural batting position even though it may have a weakness. In time opposing pitchers will usually pitch to this supposed weakness so much that the batter will get a great deal of practice and he will acquire the art of hitting a ball that was formerly impossible for him to hit safely.

SWIMFEST IS ON FOR TOMORROW

Wilkinson Plunge Will be Scene of Tank Festival; Many Stars Compete

The usually placid waters of the Winkinson plunge are all ready to be agitated tomorrow night when Coach Frank Holbrow assembles his mermen and mermaids in a big swimming meet.

The best water cleavers in the Southland will be on hand for a crack at the medals to be given away for first and second places. Some of the stars who will be present are Phil Dobinsteck and Reggie Harrison of Venice, who are both world's champions; Colin Smith of the L.A.A.C., who has given Tom Blake many a good race, and many other stars.

There will be a goodly collection of women artists ready to dive off the side, also. Some of these are Olive Hatch, Thelma Finn, Dodie Blewett and Vinne Bubeck.

EXCAVATE STEPS OF ROMAN THEATER

PHILIPPOPOLIS (Bulgaria.)—Archeologists are startled by the discovery of what is evidently a Roman amphitheater in the city square, Djumaia, made by workmen here the other day.

The workmen were digging foundations for a new structure when, four meters below the surface of the square, they came upon a flight of marble stairs of massive construction and surface worn smooth by the tread of many feet.

This city contains some remarkable historic structures dating back to Roman and pre-Roman times. Among these memorials of the past is a city wall, which runs over the brow of one of the seven hills on which, like Rome, the city, named for Philip of Macedon, is built.

Including his victory over Detroit June 6, Walter Johnson registered a total of 3135 strikeouts during his career as Washington's star hurler.

Illinois Wins Six Championships

HANG UP NEW SPORT RECORD

Zuppke Warriors Share Grid Laurels With Michigan

Urbana Athletes Make Clean Sweep on Cinderpath

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

URBANA (Ill.) June 23.—University of Illinois alumni and students are rejoicing. The Illini in the school year of 1923-24 copped six championships, a record which will go down in history alongside the year 1915, when at one time the Illini held all four of the major sport championships.

The University of Michigan's feat in winnin geeven sport championships in 1923 exceeds that of Illinois by only one event, Michigan's Conference titles being won in football, indoor track, outdoor track, baseball, cross country, tennis, while the Wolverines also won the national intercollegiate track and field championship.

Bob Zuppke's fighting Illini started things when they went through with eight victories and no defeats to tie with Michigan for the title. Coach Craig Ruby's basketball team got away to a poor start and dropped four of their first six games. After the recovery of Capt. Potter, who had been benched in early season with a wrenched knee, the Illini won their final six games to tie Wisconsin and Chicago for the championship.

TWO MAT VETS

Coach Paul Prehn started the year with only two veterans, but built up a team which defeated Purdue, Michigan, Chicago, Ohio and Iowa and tied with Indiana for the crown.

Illinois swept the platter clean on the track. Indoors the Illini defeated Notre Dame and Iowa, took high honors in the Illinois relay carnival and won the conference meet with twice as many points at their nearest rival, Michigan. Outdoors, California, Notre Dame and Michigan were defeated, Michigan by a score of 106 to 29. The Illini took the lion's share of the Drake relay points and won the outdoor conference meet with 74 points, the largest number ever scored by any team and more than the total of Iowa and Michigan, second and third.

DUAL-MEET CHAMPS

The victory was the fourth in five years and the eighth under the regime of Gill, in addition to two years when two nonconference schools won, and the Illini led the conference schools.

In golf and tennis the Illini were dual-meet champions. The tennis team defeated Purdue and Chicago and tied Michigan. In the conference meet Goodwillie and Dubach won the doubles championship for the Illini. The golf team won overwhelmingly from Michigan, Wisconsin, Purdue, Indiana and Chicago. Ernest Bearg was coach of the tennis and golf squads.

Mountaineers Annex District Track Laurels

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MORGANTOWN (W. Va.) June 23.—It has not been necessary for West Virginia's track squad to claim the tri-State collegiate championship. The team's record speaks for itself and critics on the leading newspapers of this section are unanimous in designating the 1924 Mountaineers as district champions.

Shortly after Art Smith, former head track coach at Maine, Michigan Agricultural College and Iowa State, took charge of the candidates an early season meet was arranged with Georgetown. Most fans expected the Mountaineers to be swamped, but returns showed that Smith's charges outscored Georgetown in the field events and made a creditable showing in the 100, 220 and mile. Georgetown won, 82 to 52.

Coming home West Virginia easily defeated West Virginia Wesleyan, 113 2-3 to 21 2-3. A week later the strong University of Pittsburg team was downed, 79 to 56. In the finale Bethany College was swamped, 118 to 17.

The decisive victory over Pitt practically assured West Virginia of the sectional title, the Panthers having smothered Carnegie Tech and other teams in the district.

HIKER IS PUT UP IN GREAT STYLE

Sammy Wiener of New York, a small but wiry youth of 18 years, arrived in Los Angeles in style yesterday after a five and one-half months' "hike" across the continent from New York. He was fortunate enough to make the acquaintance of Ben F. Barnett of Detroit while the California Limited was making a brief stay at Winslow, Ariz., and Mr. Barnett bought him a ticket to Los Angeles and put him up at the Biltmore for a day. Now Sammy is looking for a job—in the movies or out.

He made a slow start in February and things went from bad to worse until at York, Pa., he was robbed by a sneak thief who took his entire capital of $104. Somebody at the Y.M.C.A. gave him a dollar and he bought some pencils and peddled them all the way to Winslow. He hiked through the Petrified Forest and across the Painted Desert and says that if somebody comes up and offers him a job there'll be no questions asked.

San Francisco boasts eighteen natatoriums, showing the interest in swimming. The latest has a pipe line from the Pacific Ocean to the baths, located at Lombard and Taylor street. The pool is tiled, 55x150, and complies with the A.A.U. regulations in regard to take-off depth of water and will be marked off in laps for distance races. Guiding lines for plunge for distance events will be a new feature. It will include separate dressing-rooms for boys. A heating plant will keep the water at even temperature summer and winter.

Weekly Health Talk

INSOMNIA
Article CIV.

The meaning of insomnia is chronic inability to sleep. But what have you been doing to bring about this condition? You have been breaking the laws of nature, and insomnia is the price you are compelled to pay. This being true, the most logical remedy is to correct your method of living.

After one has neglected one's health, one's nerves naturally become tense, and through that tenseness a surplus of blood is pumped to the brain, and because one does not make any effort to remove that blood, the brain is unable to relax, therefore, one of the causes of insomnia. The first inclination is to take a mild drug of some kind, which for the time being enables one to go to sleep, but as time goes on, one finds that it takes a stronger dose to do the work. As a consequence of this drug habit, one is not only making a failure to cure this abominable disease, but is working an injury to the whole system.

RESORT TO DRUGS

It is strange that the average person will deliberately use his body in a way that he must know will eventually cause ill effects, and when that time arrives will not take time to reason out the cause, but will immediately resort to some drug for relief because it is easier, and to use the common expression, he does not want to "bother" with something he has not tried before.

If a person at the starting point of insomnia knew what he would suffer when it became chronic, he would not treat it so lightly, therefore, would not resort to a temporary relief, but would at once correct the cause, thus eliminating a trouble in its early stages, which is not an easy thing to overcome later on. I do not mean to infer that it cannot be eliminated, because it can; but it is a tedious task, and one who is suffering with this disease is also troubled with bad nerves, which affects one mentally as well as physically. This, of course, all adds to the condition in a general way, making it harder to get rid of.

The loss of sleep in itself will break down one's health, therefore, when one has already impaired one's health through wrong living, and by so doing brought on insomnia, one's physical and mental condition is such that there is a resistance in one's nature to do the things whcih are natural, so the drug habit is continued as it seems to give relief; but it is only aggravating the trouble, and it is getting a tighter hold all the time. The natural way, of course, is longer, but is the only sure cure.

BRAIN AT WORK

One will often go to bed tired out, and apparently sleepy, but the minute one has lain down, the brain starts working overtime, and in a few moments one is wide awake. What is the cause of this? The body, including the nerves and muscles, are tense, and the more one tries to go to sleep the more tense the body and nerves become. This being true, would it not be the most natural thing to relax, if you wish to remove that tension? But the relaxation must be practiced during the day as well as at the time of going to sleep. If you keep yourself in a relaxed condition during the day, you would not be tense at night! So the first step you must take is to learn how to relax, and especially when you get in bed. Lie flat on your back, relax every muscle in your body, and while you are relaxing take long, deep inhalations and exhalations; at the same time repeat mentally the words relax—let go. This may not prove successful the first night or two, but don't get discouraged, you will win out after a few nights' trial. What will happen the first few nights in your endeavor to relax, you will be very apt to tense more by being too anxious, but do not give up.

If you don't succeed the first night or so in your relaxing, count slowly up to eight as you inhale, then repeat the words relax—let go, as you slowly exhale, then count the second eight backward on the next inhalation, and repeat again, relax—let go.

EAT LIGHTLY

Then in conjunction with this, you should eat a very light meal in the evening, drinking nothing but water, which should not be drank until after the meal is over. Take a hot bath before going to bed to help you relax.

You must make up your mind to one thing, you will have to do your part; nature will do the curing, but it will be up to you to follow out her laws. Learn to eat—take proper exercise morning and night—allow nothing to worry you—practice relaxation every hour of the day you think of it, make it a habit. Last of all, realize that it means several months of consistent, conscientious work on your part, and the reward will be worth many times the effort.

GOSHEN RACING MATERIAL

BY W. H. GOCHER

Silver Crown and True Guy are the two-year-old stars in Cox's stable, with Cam Williams, Lucerne and Zombelle as second-strings to the bow. Silver Crown is owned by the well-known trainer, Billy Leese, who has been located at Monroe for the past two years. True, Guy belongs to Cox. Both of them were purchased at the last Old Glory sale out of the Walnut Hall consignment. They were the first two lots offered. Leese paid $700 for Silver Crown, and Cox $525 for True Guy.

Silver Crown is by San Francisco out of the Moko mare Silver Silk, 2:08½. True Guy, as his name implies, is by Guy Axworthy, out of Truesada, 2:09¼, by Moko. Silver Crown trotted the half-mile track at Monroe in 2:36, last quarter in 34 seconds, before she was sent to Cox at Goshen. He found her a willful little hussey. She would turn but one way in harness, but knew nothing but trot. In a few days Silver Crown worked in 2:22½, the last quarter being in 32 seconds. When speaking of her Ted Horan said: "Silver Crown is the best 2-year-old filley I ever saw in the Cox stable. She acts like a second Native Belle."

BOLD COLT

True Guy is a large bay colt with perfect manners and a bold way of going. He has been in 2:30, last quarter in 33½ seconds. Sam Williams was bred by Mr. Cane. He is by Peter Scott, out of the Walnut Hall mare Blitzie. Sam is a high-keyed youngster. He has been in 2:22¼, last quarter in 32½ seconds. Lucerne is by Lou Princeton out of Jeanette Speed, 2:08¼. This is the mare that came to the Cox stable at Dover with Mabel Trask. The story goes that Cox had to take Mabel Trask in order to get her. The turf test showed which was the better. Now both of them are in the breeding ranks. Jeanette, Speed's first foal acts like a real trotter. The first foal out of Mabel Trask has a will of her own and may be seen later.

Zombelle is a sister to David Guy and Guy Richard. On the last work-out she showed a mile in 2:30, last half in 1:08. Her owner doubts if she will make the grade for the futurities. Still at this time last year no one thought Guy Richard would. Cox has also been in 2:28 with Chestnut Belle, a filly by Peter Volo, out of Belle Guy by Guy Axworthy.

Very few of the first flight of 2 and 3-year-old trotters that are being aimed at Grand Circuit engagements are being hurried this year, as none of them will start for the big money before the second meeting at Cleveland. On that account Cox is letting Guy Richard have an easy time. A mile in 2:24 is his fastest. When in harness Guy Richard looks like a matured horse. He is very clever for such a large colt. Athalie has been in 2:23. She has had a lot of slow miles.

STAGES COMEBACK

The comeback that is being staged by Grayworthy looks to be genuine. He has the old-time whizz which distinguished him in 1921 when he bowled over Jeannette Rankin, Periscope and any other racing material that came along after he got on his good behavior at Philadelphia. The gray dapples on his side have disappeared, but there are plenty of them on his neck and hind quarters. Grayworthy will be one of the most-talked-of horses this year. Before the stable was shipped to Cleveland he worked in 2:10 and stepped the last end of it at a two-minute gait.

The black mare Fair May has been in 2:17½, last quarter in 32½ seconds, while Ethelinda with but few engagements in sight has been in 2:15. Silvie Brook, equipped with a W-check and a few other appliances, has beaten 2:20. She has always been a touch proposition to handle in her preliminary work. Thompson Dillon will not hear the bell ring until late in the season. He has recovered from the illness which almost carried him off and has been in 2:26. Peter Bradford has worked in 2:12, the last quarter of the trip being close to a two-minute gait. The great Judge Anderson has been in the same notch. Guy Henry has been in 2:23, and Don Caton in 2:12½, last quarter in 31 seconds. Ilo Guy and Northern Direct worked in 2:21¼ before being stopped by the rain, while Sweet Thoughts and the 3-year-old pacer Ripples paced in 2:30.

DUPLICATES SHOWING

In his last work-outs at Goshen Fred Hyde gave Margaret Spangler two miles in 2:07¼, the last half of one of them being paced in 1:01. Iva Lou duplicated the showing of her stable companion. Heather trotted in 2:11½, last half in 1:05, and Peter Cantrell worked with Doctor White in 2:11½; last quarter in 30 seconds.

Before joining the Bay State Circuit, the Arden Homestead horses were worked over the mile track. Tobena and Pluto Watts trotted in 2:16. Doctor White, as has been stated, stepped in 2:11½. He has recoverd from the lameness caused by a splint, and should give a good account of himself on the New England tracks. Dickerson also worked his 2-year-old filley Belwina, by Belwin, in 2:28 over the half-mile track.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PEORIA (Ill.) June 23.—Seventy-nine entries made by thirty-one racing boats, seven of them with world's records, for the seventeenth annual regatta of the M.V.P.B. Association at Oshkosh, Wis., July 3, 4 and 5, insure the greatest speed carnival ever staged by power boat men in this country. Eleven events are scheduled on the three-day program and they cover everything from a class for outboard motored craft to those carrying the heaviest power plant yet invented for the propulsion of boats. These racing craft come from a score of cities in this country, covering a range from Minneapolis, Minn., to St. Petersburg, Fla., and including Milwaukee, Chicago, Cincinnati, Peoria, Ill.; Muscatine, Iowa; Evanston, Ill.; Harvey, Ill.; Racine, Wis.; Ripon, Wis.; Pekin, Ill.; Oshkosh, Wis., and other points.

Minneapolis has entered Miss Liberty II, owned by Louis H. Piper. This craft was calculated to take the measure of the new Edsel Ford Nine-Ninety-Nine, built for the express purpose of winning the displacement boat championship of the world. Invitations have been sent to the owners of Nine-Ninety-Nine of Detroit, but up to date that craft has not yet been entered to clash with the Minneapolis wonder. The Flour City boat won a heat from Webb Jay at one of the Pageant of Progress regattas, defeated all comers at Racine, Wis., last season and whipped them all on Lake Minnetonka in the autumn, consequently she is considered one of the most formidable in that division in the United States.

The Affair at Othman's

BY WILL PAYNE

Synopsis: Frederick Othman, half Turk and wholly mysterious, immensely wealthy, lives alone save for a retinue of servants, in a mansion whose greatest glory is Daphne, a $700,000 Titian nude, completely filling one wall of a great room set aside for the painting. The visitor is Nelson Barlow, a fashionable ne'er-do-well and assistant secretary of a company controlled by Othman. Barlow has stolen $147,000 of company funds and, knowing Othman has documentary proof of his guilt, comes to beg for mercy. Othman reminds him that he, Barlow, is supposed to "have something on" Stamford Marsden, father of Flora Marsden, a society girl whom the Turk secretly plans to marry. He demands the details. Barlow's story is to the effect that years ago Marsden had a clandestine affair with one Marie Letour and that Marie Marsh, subnormal employee in an obscure Maine hotel, is his daughter and Marie Letour's. The hotel is run by Kate Chadwick. Othman tells Barlow of his ambition to wed Flora Marsden—"Tops" Marsden, she is called—and indicates that Barlow shall arrange it as the price of continued liberty. Barlow suggests that Othman shall rescue the tottering Marsden shipping firm and become a hero in the girl's eyes. He mentions her cousin, a newcomer, as a possible obstacle. This cousin is Philip Kendall, now a reporter on the Evening Forum. He is in love with pretty "Tops" Marsden already. Marsden, hard pressed for money, tells his wife that Othman has bought up his notes and that he cannot pay.

They were interrupted by the entrance of Flora and Nelson Barlow, the latter having an amusing story that set them all laughing. Flora slipped to a seat beside Marsden. When the laughter died she asked, brightly, "Tired, father?"

"Very," he replied soberly. As his slightly filmed eyes rested upon her a faint, sportsmanly smile appeared in them. "More international complications. The Jews have handed me over to the Turk. League of Nations ought to stop it, I suppose." There was no point in making a secret of the matter from Nelson Barlow, an old friend of the house, as his father had been before him. The house's emblem on the sea was a red half-moon; every steamer carried it on each side of the funnel. "It'll be handy for Othman. He'll only need to paint out a little of the half-moon in order to have a first-rate crescent. Maybe he'll add a cross upside down." He used a light tone, but they all saw it was bitter jesting; the faint sardonic smile behind the big mustache seemed to be pulling his heartstrings. Flora laid her hand upon his. It was the first time she had ever heard Othman mentioned in connection with their affairs; but she knew of his reputation.

Nelson Barlow stood by the fireplace in a judicial pose, his head a bit to one side. "Do you know, Stam," he observed, thoughtfully, "I believe you're wrong about Othman. I've had a better chance to know him lately, and I've seen some things first-hand. Strikes me he's a proud sort of beggar—keeps his mouth shut and lets people say what they please. So all the talk about him is one-sided, and a whole lot of people, like you, take it for granted he's a raw head and bloody bones bogy man, without knowing anything about him. They call him a Turk uptown, and slip into the back door of his office downtown looking for crumbs. If they don't get as many as they want they go back uptown and say he's a blackguard. I happen to know of a case; some members of a club got Othman to let them put up his name, and then after a while went back to him with long faces and told him it wouldn't do; if they didn't withdraw his name he'd be blackballed. Then they went chuckling 'round the town telling everybody how he'd been turned down. And it was all a put-up job from the beginning, their way of getting even with him."

Flora gave a shocked little "Oh!" She hated meanness.

Nelson continued judicially. "You can't treat a man that way without turning him more or less cynical. This club affair happened in the fore part of '19 when everything was booming and the goose hung high. A year or so later the goose wasn't hanging so high. One of those same chaps was holding on by his eyebrows; Bullion Bank was carrying him. You remember, Stam, when the announcement came out that Othman had been elected a director of that Bullion Bank; they said he'd take over a big interest in it. Well, our club humorist was scared stiff—thought Othman was going to smash him. But the Bullion Bank renewed his loans without any trouble, carried him right along. I had a curiosity one day to ask Othman about it. He answered simply that a man who carried mere personal likes and dislikes into directing a great institution like the Bullion Bank ought to be shot. 'In my judment,' he said, 'just as a matter of business, this man was entitled to a renewal, and I voted to give it to him. My personal likes and dislikes had nothing to do with it.'"

With a smile, like a connoisseur impartially savoring an example of human conduct, Barlow went on: "There it is, you see, Stam—on the one hand a man who seems to be indifferent to what people say about him, and on the other hand a lot of gossip—some of it spiteful. Listening to the gossip you get a picture of the man that's a mile away from the facts. Everybody knows he has one of the finest private collections of pictures in America, and he bought 'em on his own judgment. A man who cares that much about 'em is a good way past the raw dog state, anyway. And we know of men who are spoken of quite respectfully who aren't more than half an hour past that stage. They don't eat their dog raw any more; they take it stewed." He asked plumply, "Why do you think he's after you?"

"He's buying up my paper," Marsden replied.

Barlow smiled. "But certainly there's no harm in that. Somebody's got to hold the paper. See here, Stam, if Morgan held your paper you'd go have a square talk with him, wouldn't you? Well, why don't you have a square talk with Othman? Why don't you meet him as though you thought he was an ordinary white man—same's you would Morgan?"

This talk evidently made a strong impression; and upon no one, it seemed, more than upon Flora, whose natural impulse was to meet everybody as though she thought they were not merely ordinary white men, but probably quite nice white men, too. "Why, yes, father, why don't you?" she urged.

Marsden combed his mustache with a bent knuckle and replied thoughtfully: "Well, I don't see any reason why I shouldn't try it."

"There is no reason," Barlow declared.

An hour and a half later Flora left her bedroom in a dinner gown to join the family downstairs. The alarm and depression which Nelson Barlow's confidential talk at the Ritzel had inspired still held her mind. The door to her father's room stood open. A fortnight before this, coming home from a dance at four in the morning, she had seen a light shining at the crack under his door and hesitated a minute and knocked softly. He same to the door. His big figure, with somewhat stooping shoulders—all the bigger in pajamas—stood in her mind's eye now. He had rumbled under his breath, so as not to waken his wife next door: "No, nothing wrong. I was awake and heard you come in and got up. Nothing wrong Have a good time?" And smiled at her. Worried, she now thought, unable to sleep, pacing his room far in the night; the big figure somewhat bent and broken; deep lines in the strong jawed face. She stepped into his room; it seemed so intimately his. There was no particular object or motive in her mind when she stepped in, but moving lightly around in this empty room was almost like touching his hand when he lay asleep. There were three little drawers on each side above the dressing table. In the first one that she pulled open, on the right hand side nearest the bed, lay a heavy revolver. She started down at it with a shock. Pacing the floor of nights, with that thing at hand! She waited a minute to settle her nerves before going downstairs.

She took care to be at home before five o'clock the next day, for usually her father came from the office about that hour. He had said that he would see Othman this afternoon. She and her mother heard him come into the house and prepared themselves to smile. When he entered the room Flora's eyes searched his face, but for a long minute she couldn't tell. He looked sober, like a man cognitating something unexpected, and settled himself into a chair.

"Well," he said presently, "I've seen Othman. I didn't offer to shake hands with him when I went into his office, I'm sorry to say. But I did shake hands when I came out."

In fine, it appeared that Othman had proposed not only to finance the Marsden line through this period of depression in shipping, but to increase its fleet by turning over the Star and Triangle ships and some others so that it would be a much bigger affair than ever before, and practically impregnable with his millions behind it. He stipulated that Marsden was to retain the presidency of the company and continue to manage it.

"He reminded me," said Marsden, "that ne was an American citizen. He said we came out of the war with a great merchant fleet, government owned, and Congress was fumbling and bungling with it—would continue to fumble and bungle with it. Probably in ten years we'd slide 'way down to the foot of the marine ladder again, where we were in 1914. But he'd given considerable attention to it; he believed the American merchant flag could be kept flying by private enterprise, with good, progressive private management—and enough money in the bank to carry through the next three or four years while this shipping depression lasts. At any rate, he'd made up his mind to lay a long bet on that proposition. We're the oldest American line and probably the best known, so he wanted to get the Marsden trade mark and flag for his fleet. He said he had intended to have a talk with me when he got the affair a little further along, and see if I would be willing to enlist with him; but since I made the first move by asking for an appointment today he might as well show me what he had in mind now as later on."

Marsden spoke with a half absent air, like a man whose mind is still engaged in digesting a surprise. But he looked round at his wife and concluded gravely: "No man ever met me with a fairer, more open air. So far from there being any bullying about it, he seemed anxious to have me enlist with him. He said for two generations we hadn't been a marine nation, and experienced shipping men were rare here. You could find first class steel men, railroad men, and so on; but to get a first class shipping man, with the experience and the big views that this venture needed, wasn't so easy. So he wanted me. Besides, he wants the Marsden name—the old trade mark. There's no doubt he's an able man and he's got no end of money. If he's made up his mind to swing this thing through he'll go far."

He smiled at his wife and daughter. "I was ashamed of myself because I hadn't offered to shake hands with him when I went into his office. Foolish pride, I suppose, as I was really coming with my hat in my hand. After all, forming your opinion of a man from gossip isn't an intelligent process. After today, if he's a Turk, I think pretty well of the Turks."

Flora's sweet voice piped triumphantly: "No doubt he's a perfectly nice man! Why don't we get to know him better?"

CALL FOR ROAD BIDS ANNULLED

Lack of Funds Brings Order from Commission

Truckee Unit and Bridge in Ventura Affected

Action is Said to Mean Only Temporary Delay

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, June 23.—Proposed construction work on two units of the Truckee River highway connecting California and Nevada and a bridge across the Ventura River in Ventura county will be delayed indefinitely as the result of an order issued today by the State Highway Commission canceling requests for bids.

The action was taken owing to the lack of funds on hands to cover contracts which, it is estimated, would require an aggregate expenditure of between $350,000 and $400,000. Calls for the bids were issued during the last few weeks. The following projects will be delayed by the order:

Grading between eight and nine miles from Gold Run to Forebay in Placer county.

Grading four miles between Floriston and the Nevada State line. Construction of the Montavale bridge over the Ventura River for which a design was recently completed by engineers of the road body.

Representatives of the commission said the canceling of the calls for bids will mean only a temporary delay of the work. New construction work at present, it was explained, is being paid for with Federal aid funds. The commission has on hand $3,000,000 worth of road bonds, the last of the $40,000,000 issue voted four years ago, but these bonds have been ordered sold and the money, or a large part of it, will be needed to meet payments on live contracts.

Revenues derived from the gasoline tax and the motor vehicle license tax cannot be expended for new construction under the law but must be devoted to reconstruction and maintenance and repair work.

GOLF AND FISHING ARE NEW PLEASURE TO SENSITIVE MAN

Rhode Island Fittings Company,
Hillsgrove, R. I., March 28, 1924.
S. E. Strong,
Care of Strong, Cobb & Co.,
Cleveland, O.

Dear sir: I want to acknowledge receipt of your letter of March 22, referring to "Noburn" and I was just about to send you money for a further order of this and I am inclosing my check for $5 for which I wish you would send me the equivalent in "Noburn."

"Noburn" in my mind is wonderful and while in the past I have had to wear a large straw hat and gloves with poor results, last summer I was able to do away with these and use "Noburn." "Noburn" actually prevented sunburn in my case. I used it when playing golf and on my fishing trips and would not think of being without it. My face burns, peels, and burns again but with "Noburn" this never occurs. Use me as a booster, and I will tell them something.

That is about all I can say for "Noburn."

Yours very truly,
RHODE ISLAND FITTINGS COMPANY, C. P. Clough, president.

Just one application of "Noburn" applied before each exposure and you are sunburn proof. You get the tan, but not the burn. An invisible, odorless, harmless liquid, quickly applied, easily washed off.

Made and guaranteed by Strong Cobb Co. of Cleveland, who have been in business for ninety years. "Noburn" sold at all good drug stores.—[Advertisement.

HERE'S ONE THIEF WITH CONSCIENCE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DENVER, June 23.—A man who stole $160 from Mrs. V. Ralston, a blind woman living at 2595 South Cherokee street, may be a thief, but even he objects to knowingly robbing the helpless.

On May 19 Mrs. Ralston heard the footsteps of a man leaving her bedroom. She called for aid and it was found that $160 she had been keeping in a dresser drawer was gone.

Church friends of the aged woman heard the story, took up a collection and replaced the stolen money.

Recently, while sitting in her living-room, Mrs. Ralston again heard footsteps. She screamed and friends rushed to her aid. The first thought was to look in the dresser drawer, where the money again reposed.

The $160 presented by the church was found intact. With it was the $160 which disappeared a month ago.

Mrs. Ralston now has the $320 and is inclined to think the thief is not "all bad."

State Forests Easy Prey for Summer Fires

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—California is facing one of the most serious fire situations in its history, Paul G. Redington, District Forester, declared today. "Not for many years have our fields and forests been the tinder box that they are today," he said. A combination of weather factors has brought about a trying condition, he added. More than 400 fires, covering 30,000 acres, have already occurred this year within and adjacent to the national forests, and scores of others have burned over State and private lands, and the regular fire season is just beginning, the forester pointed out.

DERRICK KILLS CHIEF OF FOLSOM GUARDS

VETERAN OFFICER IS HIT ON HEAD BY BOOM WHEN CABLE GIVES WAY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FOLSOM, June 23.—Capt. C. J. Cochrane, veteran chief of the guards at Folsom State prison here, was instantly killed this morning when the boom of a derrick fell and struck him on the head. Capt. Cochrane was directing the work of convicts who were repairing a leak in the prison canal and was standing beneath the derrick boom when the cable snapped.

Capt. Cochrane, who was 54 years of age, was widely known throughout the State because of his prison work. He figured largely in a battle to prevent the escape of sixteen convicts in 1903, when he was seriously stabbed and left for dead as the convicts made their break for liberty. Only his sturdy physique saved him from death from his wounds.

Entering the prison as a guard under Warden Wilkinson in 1891, Cochrane served almost continuously in the prison. His period of service was broken only by eight years in the contracting business in Oakland.

Score Escape From Cells by Digging Tunnel

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) June 23.—More than a score of prisoners led by H. Diggs Nolen, notorious police character, escaped from the Shelby County Jail here late today.

The prisoners escaped by digging a tunnel through the rear wall of the jail building. Jail officials said they could not determine the exact number of prisoners who escaped until a check of the cells is completed.

Oldest farm house in the world now extant is near Pompeii, having been unearthed by archaeologists several years ago.

The wreck of the steamer Admiral Nicholson, stranded on the south spit at the mouth of the Umpqua River, May 16, has been sold to G. E. Conners of Portland, it was stated here today. PENNY-WISE AND POUND-FOOLISH

A PROMINENT business man, having ridden for the first time in a Rolls-Royce, said to an official of the Company: "I have been seeing your advertisements stating that no Rolls-Royce has ever worn out. Yesterday, I rode in one of your cars which was a good many years old, and I never realized before what it meant to ride in a Rolls-Royce. I have been buying a new car every two or three years for a long time, and I have spent more money than I would have had to pay for a Rolls-Royce. I guess I have been penny-wise and pound-foolish."

STATE WILL CONTINUE REHABILITATION WORK

HOPES CONGRESS WILL COME TO RESCUE IN FALL WITH FUNDS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, June 23.—H. R. Braden, members of the State Board of Control, announced today that funds will be supplied by the State for carrying on the work of rehabilitating persons injured in industry, a function of the State Board of Education, until funds can be appropriated by Congress when it reconvenes next fall.

Braden said there is enough money in sight to carry on the program until about the middle of November and it is expected that Congress early in December will come to the rescue of persons benefitted with an appropriation which failed to get through at the last session.

Then, if the Federal appropriation is forthcoming, the State Legislature at its next session will be asked to provide sufficient money for continuing the program on the basis of an equal division of cost between the State and the United States government.

The educational authorities feared the rehabilitation program would have to be discontinued after the end of June due to lack of funds.

At the time of her rescue, Townsend was second mate of the Shipping Board steamer West Cayote. He is now on the way here from Calcutta. Coincidently Capt. T. W. C. Townsend, father of Ward, was drowned on August 27, 1905, while attempting to save his ship in a gale off Cape Horn, sixteen years to the day before Ward Townsend effected his thrilling rescue.

Estupenda Parada en Nueva York

NUEVA YORK, Junio 23.—Todos los policías del mundo, acompañados de más bomberos de los que la imaginación puede concebir, y llevando a los flancos el número suficiente de barrenderos para conservar limpia de punta a punta la carretera de Lincoln, marcharon hoy por la Quinta avenida, en monumental desfile que tardó mas de tres horas en pasar por el Waldorf Astoria.

Tal fue la zalema de bienvenida hecha por Nueva York para edificación de los delegados a la Convención Nacional Democrática. En caso de que haya sido también un plan del Gobernador Al Smith para intimidar a los delegados de McAdoo, ha resultado un fracaso. Como indicación objetiva de la inmensidad de la metrópoli, ha tenido un éxito estupendo. Figuraron en la formación mas de 25,000 agentes de policía, bomberos, y otros empleados municipales.

En vísperas de la Convención Nacional Democrática, el estudiante escrupuloso de política puede vaticinar acerca del resultado en la forma que más cuadre a sus listas y preferencias particulares, con razonable probabilidad de atinar cuando la cosa termine. Todas y cada una de las teorías que se han presentado, aun las de los profetas más atrevidos, van precedidas del conspicuo adverbio condicional "si".

Muchas impresionantes profecías se han hecho y se siguen haciendo acerca de cuál candidato no obtendrá la designación; y sólo los líderes mismos son suficientemente audaces para decir de modo positivo quién va a ser designado. El hecho de que cada uno de ellos tiene el valor de nombrarse a sí mismo, puede disminuir, y puede no disminuir el valor de su opinión.

William G. McAdoo, que recibió hoy el compromiso firmado y sellado de todos los delegados y suplentes de California, de que estarán con él hasta que sea designado o se retire su nombre como candidato, es el único aspirante que está trabajando para sí mismo; todos los demás se han unido para eliminarlo como contendiente, y esta unión destructora parece que está basada en una inteligencia tácita de que, una vez eliminado McAdoo, cada hombre luchará por su propia cuenta.

El Teniente Russell L. Maughan Llega a Salduro

SALDURO (Utah) Junio 23.—Hoy a las 5:20 llegó aquí el Teniente Maughan, procedente de Cheyenne, que se halla a una distancia de 58 millas aproximadamente. A las 5:51 tomó de nuevo el aire, haciendo rumbo a San Francisco, meta de su viaje transcontinental. Su avión funcionaba perfectamente, y al elevarse, Maughan anunció que ya no haría más parada que la final.

Se Pone un Gran Reflector para Guiar a Maughan

SAN FRANCISCO, Junio 23.—A última hora de la tarde de hoy se formó una niebla, que va a dificultar tal vez el atterizaje del Teniente Russell L. Maughan, aviador transcontinental, al finalizar su vuelo de Nueva York a San Francisco, que debe realizarse entre el alba y el oscurecer. Se le espera en ésta entre 8 p.m. y 8:30 p.m.

Para ayudarle a no desviarse en su derrotero por causa de la niebla, se ha enviado a Redwood City, a cuarenta y dos millas al sur de ésta, un gigantesco reflector, que se ha instalado para que le sirva de guía. Los aviadores están confiados en que el Teniente Maughan tendrá exito en su tentativa, pues ya había pasado lo más duro del viaje.

Pasó a las 5:38 p.m., hora de la montaña (4:38, hora del Pacífico) por sobre Ogden, Utah, que se halla a 600 millas en línea recta de esta población. Su velocidad media desde la partida ha sido de 144 millas por hora; y a ese paso, debe de llegar a San Francisco como a las 8:30 p.m., caso de que no haga ninguna parada.

Al elevarse en Cheyenne, Wyoming, a las 2:5 p.m., hora de la montaña, tenía dos horas de retraso respecto de itinerario; pero dijo a los reporteros de Cheyenne que esperaba ganar el tiempo perdido, una vez que hubiera cruzado las montañas.

Actriz que Ataca a su Marido en el Juzgado

La señora Mary Mayo, bella actriz de cine, acusada por su marido, el doctor Woodward B. Mayo, de estar apasionada de Lew Cody, atro de la pantalla, atacó al doctor ayer en la mañana en uno de los corredores del palacio de justicia, precisamente enfrente del juzgado del Juez Summerfield, después de una audencia relativa a la custodia del hijito de ambos mientras se ventila el juicio de divorcio del doctor.

Separada de su marido por sus defensores, la señora Mayo caminó con paso vacilante hacia un rincon y allí cayo desmayada. El doctor Mayo, que fue el primero que se llegó a ella, la trasladó en brazos a la oficina inmediata, que es la de licencias de matrimonio, donde se la hizo volver en sí.

El altercado se inició cuando la señora Mayo, después de la audiencia, sugirió a su marido que dejara a su hijo permanecer en la escuela de Hollywood a la que ha estado concurriendo. Cuando el doctor Mayo rehusó, ella trató de abofetearlo.

La audiencia se celebró a solicitud del doctor Mayo, quien pidió al juzgado la custodia provisional de su muchacho. La señora Mayo se opuso a esto. El Juez Summerfield decidió finalmente que el niño estaría mejor bajo la custodia de una persona neutral, y ordenó que se le llevara a una casa del barrio de Wilshire hasta después de sentenciado el pleito de divorcio.

La señora Mayo también presentó ayer una contrademanda, en la que enfáticamente desmiente los cargos que le hace su marido, pero admite que ha visitado frecuentemente la casa de Lew Cody. Estas visitas, según declara, fueron hechas tan sólo para bien de sus intereses en su carrera cinematográfica, y no por ninguna otra razón. La acusación que le hace su marido de que se ha apasionado del actor, es absurda, al decir de la señora.

NUEVA YORK, Junio 23.—Tex Rickard anunció hoy en la tarde que había recibido un cablegrama de Luis Angel Firpo, que está ahora en Buenos Aires, por el que éste acepta las condiciones que se le han propuesto para un combate pugilístico con Harry Wills. Dijo Rickard que Firpo había aceptado un tanto por ciento, y que el match se efectuaría el sábado 30 de Agosto próximo, en la tarde probablemente.

A los aficionados de Sudcalifornia, que quedaron muy descontentos del trabajo de Phil Salvadore las últimas veces que ha actuado, están muy interesados en verlo esta noche, en que va a volver al tablado, y a figurar en la prueba principal del coliseo de Doyle, en Vernon. Dícese que su poco lucido trabajo en muchos combates fue debido a exceso de fatiga; pero ya se ha repuesto mediante prolongado descanso, y ahora se encontrará con Frankie Farren, uno de los pesoligeros de la Costa, que pegan duro realmente.

Exclusion Advocates Urge Rights Respected

Statement Says Aliens Are Here by Invitation

Native Sons, Legion, Grange, Unions Are Signers

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—Four California organizations which recently sent a committee to Washington to advocate adoption of the Japanese exclusion clause of the immigration measure today issued a statement declaring their intention "to obtain by every means in their power such rights as the Japanese or other aliens may be entitled to during their residence in this State."

The signatures of Morgan Keaton, Department Adjutant of the American Legion; Paul Scharrenberg, Secretary-Treasurer of the State Federation of Labor; C. A. Bodwell, Jr., representative of George R. Harrison, Master of the California State Grange, and Edward J. Lynch, Grand President of the Native Sons of the Golden West, are appended to the statement.

"The Japanese now legally residing in California are here practically upon invitation of our Federal government since their admission was sanctioned by administration policy and departmental operation," the statement reads. "They are entitled under treaty and law not only to protection for themselves, their families and their property, but also to the right to engage in any occupation not in conflict with the provision of the alien land law. It is due the dignity of the State and our own self-respect that they be treated with scrupulous regard for their rights and with courtesy as well.

"The four California organizations by whose authorized executive officers this statement has been issued — American Legion, State Federation of Labor, State Grange and Native Sons of the Golden West — declare their intention to obtain by every means in their power such rights as the Japanese or other aliens may be entitled to during their residence in this State, to protect them from discourtesy of any kind and to aid in apprehension and punishment of those who may cast discredit upon State and nation by the commission of overt or unfriendly act against such resident aliens."

POLICING OF BEACH INSISTED

Ball Playing and Tents With Walls to Ground to be Prohibited

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, June 23.—Acting on the theory that the entire beach front in this city is public property, Mayor J. C. Steele announced this morning that the public safety department will insist on full police control of the beach, and will forbid the beach for ball playing and the pitching of tents whose sides extend to the ground. All tent sides must be eighteen inches from the ground, commanding a full view of the interior. Notices to that effect have been posted along the beach front.

"We are going to treat the beach the same as a public park," Mayor Steele said this morning. "It has always been regarded as a public park, and I see no reason for changing it now."

It was pointed out this morning that should the government refuse to take action of establishing a mean high tide line, the city will take steps to make a survey that will be in effect a check on the line now on record in the City Hall.

BURNT FUSE FOUND AT DOOR OF GARAGE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SIERRA MADRE, June 23.—Police are investigating the finding of a burnt piece of powder fuse this morning, which had been placed near the front door of the Sierra Madre Garage some time during the night. This is the second time during the past month that the police department has been called to investigate explosives which have been found near the garage. Three weeks ago an infernal machine resembling an aerial bomb was exploded in the doorway of the garage during the night by members of an automobile party which sped through the town. Officers are of the opinion that the incidents are but the pranks of youths engaged in pre-Fourth of July celebrations.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PORTERVILLE June 23.—Special funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock from Lloyd's chapel for James M. Mitchell, 103 years of age, picturesque character of Porterville, affectionately known as "Old Jim," who was found dead near his little old house west of here yesterday morning.

"Old Jim" died as he lived—alone. He was born on the Isle of Mann, coming to the United States as a small boy, and to the Porterville district a number of years ago. His body was found lying by the roadside near his home by Mrs. W. H. Castle, who, with her son and another youth, went to the home of the old man to take him his Sunday dinner. Alarmed at not finding him, they instituted a search which disclosed the feeble body, where he had evidently fallen while endeavoring to reach the nearest neighbor, Dr. J. Morrison. Indications were that death had come several days before. Nothing is known here of any relatives.

DONS ARMY UNIFORM TO HEAR FATE

Convicted Vagrant Stirs ex-Service Men by Acts on Receiving Sentence

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, June 23.—Clad in the full uniform of a first lieutenant in the army air service, O. H. Dolph, one of a trio arrested a short time ago for suspicion of burglary, was sentenced today by Police Judge Helwig to ninety days in jail on a charge of vagrancy.

The appearance of Dolph in court in the uniform aroused indignation among ex-service men. Dolph explained that he is in the reserves. An investigation will be started, according to the police, to determine whether Dolph has a right to wear the uniform. Ex-service men, it is said, will also investigate his record.

Dolph and two others, who gave the names of Edward Reid and H. M. Brouillette and their address as 1190 East Forty-fifth street, Los Angeles, were taken into custody on the 1st inst. with an automobile in which, the police said, they found three pistols and a case full of burglar tools. The trio were held on suspicion of burglary and on a charge of possessing concealed weapons. An investigation by local and Los Angeles police failed to bring out anything further against them and they were allowed to plead guilty on the vagrancy charge.

Given an opportunity by Police Judge Helwig to explain possession of the jimmies, bars and other burglar tools, the trio were unable to satisfy the court. Reid and Brouillette were also sentenced to ninety days in the City Jail.

That was learned today when plans for the celebration were announced by Ben H. Cole, secretary of the Olive Improvement Association, which is sponsoring the event.

The gas torches, dozens of them, will be employed to light the scene owing to the diminished power rations that have been ordered by the Southern California Edison Company because of the power shortage.

Sprague, 1596 East Walnut street, narrowly escaped death this morning when a pan of gasoline exploded, blowing the woman through a rear door and out onto the grass. At the hospital she was treated for body burns of a serious nature.

This is the third case of a similar nature to occur in Pasadena during recent months. Two previous cases proved fatal to the victims. Cleaning clothes with gasoline was responsible for the explosions in each case, it was declared.

POOR JUDGMENT IN CHOICE OF VICTIMS

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, June 23.—It's unfortunate to have an automobile collision, but when it is found that the occupant of the other car is a police officer, unfortunate doesn't half express it, according to William Henderson, local youth, who was lodged in the City Jail on three charges as a result. According to Officer M. W. Purcell, Henderson drove his car into the rear of his shortly after midnight this morning. A bottle said to contain liquor was found in the youth's car, the officer reported, and charges of drunkenness, reckless driving and violation of the Wright Act were filed against the motorist. Highway Mix-up Results Are Disastrous to Three

Innocent Bystander's Auto Wrecked in Crash

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

UPLAND, June 23.—One man is in the City Jail today, another is suffering from a bullet wound in his left foot, and a third is bemoaning the wrecking of his motor car as the result of an odd mix-up on the Foothill Boulevard to the east of Upland, in which an alleged intoxicated motorist played the principal role.

James H. Murray of Los Angeles, age 43, giving his occupation as a brakeman, is the man under arrest. Charged with driving a motor car while intoxicated, Murray is being held in jail in lieu of $500 bail, following his arraignment this morning before Judge George R. Crane. His preliminary hearing is set for Thursday.

R. S. Barry, a Los Angeles county officer, is the wounded man. It was while Barry was trying to stop Murray by shooting his automobile tire as the latter made a dash for liberty after being placed under arrest that the officer inadvertently plugged his own foot, the bullet passing through his left instep.

Mark H. Bailey, a bricklayer residing at 291 Second avenue, Upland, is the man who suffered damage to his car. Seeing Officer Barry attempting to take Murray into custody, the Upland man parked his car at the side of the road and started to help, when the alleged drunken brakeman jumped into his machine and made a dash for liberty. It was while endeavoring to avoid collision with Murray that another motorist crashed into Bailey's car.

The brakeman finally was taken into custody by County Traffic Officer Frank Freeman.

DAILY TRADE TALK

Los Angeles Banker, Dawes Plan Expert, Links California With European Rehabilitation

Declaring that not only California, but every part of the United States, had a direct interest in the economic rehabilitation of Europe, John E. Barber, vice-president of the First National Bank of Los Angeles and the First Securities Company, outlined specifically, last night before the Men's Club of the First Methodist Church of Hollywood, some of the ways in which this country might expect to benefit from the putting into effect of the Dawes plan.

Mr. Barber was confidential assistant to Henry M. Robinson, president of the First National Bank of Los Angeles, while the latter served in Europe as one of the three United States representatives the two committees of experts appointed by the Reparations Commission. The work of the committees of experts resulted in the Dawes report, which has since been accepted by Germany and many of the Allied nations.

"The effect of a definite and lasting settlement of Europe's economic difficulties," said Mr. Barber, "would be most noticeable in the markets for cotton, copper, rubber and agricultural food products, and in about the order named. Eliminating rubber, which is not produced in the United States, we find that this country is very much interested in the demand for the other commodities, of which it annually produces a large surplus over and above its own needs.

AMERICA PRIME FACTOR

"It is important to remember that the United States is primarily an exporter of agricultural products and semiraw materials. This has a particular bearing on the question we are discussing, viz, the effect on the United States of an improved buying power in Europe, since (as is shown by a recent compilation of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce) nearly 80 per cent of the total trade of this country and Europe consists of farm products, while manufactured commodities and forest and mineral products combined form only 20 per cent of the whole.

"Furthermore, it is pertinent to observe that 80 per cent of all agricultural exports from this country go to Europe, and that the small industrial region of Northwest Europe, comprising Great Britain, Germany, Belgium and Holland, absorbs four-fifths of this total.

"Any maladjustment in American conditions which has prevailed in recent years has been due in large measure to the inability of foreign markets to absorb their normal proportions of our excess production. Any restoration, therefore, of European buying power through improvement in Europe's financial and economic position would contribute to increased prosperity in the United States.

CALIFORNIA'S PART

"As one of the leading agricultural States in the Union, California would participate in any general increase in the prosperity of the country as a whole. The fact that Europe absorbs chiefly the primary products of this country may not benefit California directly. The indirect benefit, however, would be substantial, since the sale abroad of the primary products of other sections of the United States stimulates new buying power and activity, which is not confied to the areas where such exports are produced, but extends to all agricultural production, to manufacturing and other industries, to the railroads and ships engaged in the transportation of products and even to those who supply luxuries.

This diffusion of prosperity through normal channels of trade and industry would soon reach California, where the producer of raisins, oranges, walnuts, dried apples, peaches or prunes would be aware of an increased demand for his surplus production.

"Before the war Europe was the largest consumer of United States products. The value of our exports of cotton, copper, wheat and other breadstuffs to leading European countries in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1914, was:

EXPORTS IN DOLLARS FOR YEAR ENDED JUNE 30, 1914

	To Great Britain	To Germany	To France	To Italy
Cotton and manufactures of	$232,000,000	$183,000,000	$ 74,000,000	$34,000,000
Copper and manufactures of	22,000,000	46,000,000	25,900,000	6,700,000
Wheat and other breadstuffs	45,000,000	14,000,000	5,300,000	1,750,000
	$299,000,000	$243,000,000	$105,000,000	$42,450,000
Total United States domestic exports	$590,000,000	$345,000,000	$156,000,000	$73,000,000

"From the above the relative importance of cotton is apparent. Department of Commerce figures show that 60 per cent of all agricultural exports from the United States to Europe before the war was cotton, whereas the average during 1920-22 was only 34 per cent. Prior to the war cotton was the most valuable of our exports, Northwest Europe alone taking 83 per cent of all cotton exported from the United States. During 1920-1922 Northwest Europe took only 67 per cent of the total, the drop being due largely to depressed conditions abroad. Germany is still the second largest purchaser of American cotton.

COPPER AND COTTON

"Many of our producers of copper, one of the chief products of the adjoining State of Arizona, complains that present prices for the red metal do not permit profitable operation for the larger companies. An increased demand from Europe following her economic rehabilitation should improve this situation. Germany, which before the war was the leading importer of copper from the United States, to an aggregate value in 1914 of $46,000,000, now has fallen to third place, with imports of American copper for the nine months' period ending March, 1924, valued at only $14,000,000.

"Although cotton and copper exports have decreased as compared with prewar figures, there has been an increase in the export of bread grains. In fact, the total exports of grains from the United States have risen from £10,000,000,000 in 1914 to £27,000,000,000 in 1922. Wheat and wheat flour to Northwest Europe form the chief item of this increase. However, this movement of wheat and wheat flour to Europe reached its peak two or three years ago, and has been declining under the disorganization prevailing in Europe and lack of buying power in Germany. To show how the American farmer may be affected by demoralized conditions in Europe, the case of Germony may be cited. During the nine months ended with March, 1934, Germany took only 1,664,888 bushels of wheat, as compared with 8,212,115 a year ago, and only 3,368,201 bushels of rye, as compared with 12,438,963."

Big Issue of Public Utility Bonds Offered

E. H. Rollins & Sons and F. L. Carlisle & Co., Inc., are offering today new issue $2,000,000 the Power Corporation of New York 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock at 96 and accrued dividends to yield 7.29 per cent.

Profits from the sale of this stock will be used to furnish a portion of the purchase price by which the Power Corporation of New York is acquiring control of Northern New York Utilities, Inc. This will permanently secure the corporate relationship between the Power Corporation of New York, with its large resources of hydro-electric power, and Northern New York Utilities, Inc., the oldest public service company generating and distributing electric power in Northern and Central New York.

This corporation serves over forty-seven communities in Northern New York with an aggregate population of 105,000, exclusive of the city of Utica and other districts to which electric energy is wholesaled.

Consolidated earnings statement for the twelve months ended April 30, 1924, indicates net earnings of almost three times bond interest and amortization charges. After deducting all such charges the balance available is over three and three-fourths times preferred stock dividend requirements.

This issue of preferred stock carries common stock warrants entitling the holder of each share to purchase one share of the company's stock at prices which it is believed will be very advantageous to the holder prior to the expiration of these rights.

SPOT COTTON LOWER; JULY IN DEMAND

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 23.—Spot cotton closed at 29.15, 20 points net lower. Cotton futures declined some $2.50 a bale today, the favorable crop-weather reports inducing selling, which was mainly attracted to Wall-street interests and brokers with southern connections. July was carried down to within a point of 28 cents, but several thousand bales were wanted at that level by spot houses. This encouraged scattered covering, which caused moderate recovery. Final quotations were 47 to 52 points net lower.

It does make a difference where you buy your bonds—a difference to you, the investor, in the character of your investment holdings.

No bond house, no matter what its age, its prestige or the extent of its organization, has all of the most desirable offerings to the exclusion of other houses.

A really serviceful organization, however, keeps constantly available a thoroughly diversified list of sound, well-secured investments. The real character of a bond house is reflected in the investment holdings of its clients.

In order to meet the needs of our clients in half a dozen or more States on the Atlantic Coast, in the Middle West and on the Pacific Coast, it is necessary for us to have a broad range of desirable securities. The offerings of all of our offices are available to you at any time.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Foreigns Lead: Prices Steady

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, June 23.—Relaxing activity in bond trading today brought few important price changes. Foreign issues led the list in activity and strength, reflecting confidence that the proposed interallied conference would lead to greater political accord in Europe. Liberty bonds were firm, but in other sections of the list prices were shaded fractionally.

The sharp break in Atlantic Refining stock, based on the reports that the company would issue $15,000,000 one to three-year notes, influenced selling of the company's 5 per cent bonds, which declined more than a point. Rubber company liens also continued under selling pressure, Goodyear, Kelly-Springfield and Ajax 8s yielding 1 to 3½ points.

Recent activity in Argentine 6s continued unabated today, as the nation's Finance Minister denied that the government was planning to do additional financing, and said that all credit requirements were covered for this year. The rise in these bonds to as high as 93 3-4 was accompanied by recovery of the Japanese 6½s to above 91.

Reports that the New York Central Railroad might submit a new exchange offer to holders of Peoria and Eastern income 4s contributed to improvement in these bonds, which touched a new high price for the year at 35. Erie Consolidated and convertible 4s also were active at rising prices. Profit-taking reduced recent gains of other issues.

NEW YORK CURB

Politics Shadow Market

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, June 23.—Stock prices displayed a heavy tone in today's curb market, with trading considerably restricted, because of the uncertainty regarding the identity of the Democratic Presidential nominee and final text of the party platform.

Announcements of further gasoline price cuts brought about some liquidation of the oil shares, but the net losses as a rule were small.

Industrials and public utilities showed mixed changes, one of the features being the strength of the McCrory stores issues which advanced 5 to nearly 10 points. Heaviness was noted in Durant Motors, United Gas and Electric, Gillette Safety Razor and Adirondack Power, which lost 1 to 3 points. National Tea established another new high at 193 and then fell back to 192. Bonds were again active, with a point gain in Pure Oil 6½s, as one of the outstanding developments. Czecho-Slovakian Railway 8s were admitted to trading, selling around 96½.

THE POWER CORPORATION OF NEW YORK SYSTEM

The Power Corporation of New York

(With Common Stock Warrants Attached)

Preferred as to assets and dividends over the Common Stock. Entitled to cumulative dividends at the rate of 7% per annum, payable February 1, May 1, August and November 1 of each year. Entitled to $100 per share in involuntary liquidation and to $115 per share in voluntary liquidation. Shares of $100 par value fully paid and non-assessable. Redeemable as a whole or in part on any dividend date at 115 and accrued dividends. The Equitable Trust Company of New York, Transfer Agent; Bank of America, New York, Registrar.

The Power Corporation of New York, incorporated under the Business Corporations Law of New York, controls a comprehensive electric lighting and power system—The Power Corporation of New York System—serving over 47 communities in northern New York including the cities of Watertown and Rome and wholesaling electric energy to the intensely developed industrial districts of central New York. The territory served has an aggregate population of 105,000 exclusive of Utica and other districts to which electric energy is wholesaled.

The power properties of the system comprise power plants with an aggregate installed capacity of 136,000 h.p. of which 88,725 h.p. is hydro-electric, 37,500 h.p. is hydro-mechanical power, and 9,775 h.p. steam electric generating stations. When the hydro-mechanical power is changed to hydro-electric, as contemplated, the capacity of these plants will aggregate at least 141,900 h.p. Undeveloped water power sites in this territory are controlled, which are estimated as sufficient for the installation of over 150,000 h.p. and susceptible of economical development. These sites are strategically located with respect to the present system and make possible the wholesaling of additional large blocks of power to the industrial district of central New York.

The transmission system includes 1.350 miles of high tension transmission lines, and 46 substations, and the distributing system 1,102 miles of distribution lines, serving 18,643 consumers. Other properties include gas plants, with an aggregate daily capacity of 4,200,000 cubic feet serving Rome and Watertown. Over 86% of the gross earnings of the System are derived from the sale of electrical energy and hydro-mechanical power.

EARNINGS

Consolidated Statement for 12 Months Ended April 30, 1924

Gross Revenue	$3,768,188
Operating Expenses and Prior Charges of Subsidiary, including Profits Attributable to Minority Interests	2,554,835
Net Earnings	$1,213,353
Interest Paid and Amortization	417,263
Balance Available for Depreciation, Federal Taxes and Dividends	$ 796,090
Annual Dividends on Preferred Stock (including this issue)	210,000
	$ 586,090

After deducting depreciation charges of subsidiaries the balance is more than three times dividend requirements.

The above net earnings do not include any revenue from the newly completed hydro-electric plants at Herrings on the Black River and Flat Rock on the Oswegatchie River, which has increased the generating capacity of the System by 15,800 h.p. and it is estimated will increase substantially net profits of the system.

VALUATION

The properties of the System, as appraised by independent engineers, with additions to date, show a sound value of $36,400,000. After deducting all prior obligations of the Corporation and its subsidiaries, there is an equity in physical property alone of $12,700,000, or more than four times the Preferred Stock to be presently outstanding.

PROCEEDS OF ISSUE

The proceeds from the sale of this stock will be used to furnish a portion of the purchase price of a controlling interest in the common stock of the Northern New York Utilities, Inc.

COMMON STOCK WARRANTS

Accompanying this Preferred Stock are warrants entitling the holder to purchase one share of Common Stock without par value of the Corporation for each share of Preferred Stock held, at $25 per share up to December 31, 1924; from January 1, 1925, to June 30, 1925, at $30 per share; from July 1, 1925, to September 30, 1925, at $35 per share, and from October 1, 1925, to December 31, 1925 at $40 per share.

MARKET REVIEW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 23.—It was scarcely to have been anticipated that financial markets with a speculative following would have resumed their advance on the eve of the second of the Presidential nominating conventions, especially when no human being, whether politician or plain citizen had any confident idea of its outcome. Uncertainties stimulate the stock exchange, but their influence on the course of prices will usually depend on the direction in which prices had been moving beforehand. Since the movement has of late been rather emphatically upward, it was quite in line with experience that today's prices should have declined.

The decline was not very noteworthy; in most of the market changes were only fractional. Except when considered as reaction from an advance which had spent its force or as discreet withdrawal to await entirely unknown developments, it was difficult to say what ideas or expectations the markets were entertaining. Probably Wall street itself could not have answered the question, for today's casual intimation that the "third party movement" had revived uneasiness was evidently not in itself a cause of reactionary prices, but an effort to hunt out some plausible explanation for a reaction which had already occurred. The better explanation (very commonplace in character,) was that real investment buying had for the time suspended its activities and that professional speculators had resumed their own experiments.

So far as the drift of financial opinion can be judged, the political outlook is apparently regarded as more reassuring from the conservative viewpoint than it was a week or two ago and as much less disturbing than it seemed to be a few months ago. In an impending deadlock between the candidates, there is sometimes legitimate ground for apprehension in the character or record of the various "dark horses" on the list. But the somewhat striking consideration at the moment is that the more frequently mentioned conditions in the background are of at least as conservative a quality as those who are expected to lead in the early balloting.

The business done on the stock exchange today was much below the recent average. Even shares which declined a point or more lost their ground in most instances on all transactions, and fewer bonds changed hands than on any full day in nearly three weeks.

POLITICS CASTS SHADOW

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

	Twenty industrials.	Twenty railroads.
Monday	92.60	84.70
Saturday	93.79	85.37
Week ago	94.12	85.15
High, 1924	101.21	85.32
Low, 1924	90.27	81.00

Stock prices turned reactionary today as speculative activity slowed up pending the selection of the Presidential nominee and the adoption of a platform by the Democratic National Convention. Bear traders succeeded in uncovering a number of weak spots throughout the list as buying support of professional traders was withdrawn or curtailed, but with few exceptions, the recessions were relatively small after two weeks of rising prices.

Persistent selling of Atlantic Refining, which fell nearly 10 points to a new 1924 low at 84½, was one of the features of the session. Liquidation in this stock, which had sold as high as 140 early this year, was based on unconfirmed reports that the company was making arrangements for a short-term note issue of $15,000,000.

Weakness of this issue combined with another series of gasoline price cuts, brought fresh selling into the other oils but the net losses in nearly all cases were held to a point or less.

Among the so-called pivotal stocks, American Can dropped more than 2 points to 106 5-8; Baldwin sagged 1 1-4 to 111 and Studebaker and United States Steel common each eased off 3-4, the last named closing at 96 1-4.

Considerable profit taking took place in a number of the specialties which had recorded large gains last week.

Rails gave ground with the rest of the list but not until after new high prices for the year had been established by "Nickel Plate," Southern Railway, Erie second preferred, Pere Marquette preferred and Western Pacific, most of which, however, closed at slight losses on the day.

Public utilities were firm with new peak prices being attained by Montana Power, Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit common and preferred, North American preferred and American Water Works 7 per cent preferred. On the other hand, Cuyamel Fruit, Otis Elevator and General Refractories touched new lows, the last-named showing a net loss of 6 points at 36 after having sold as low as 34 1-4.

Money continued in plentiful supply, call funds remaining at 2 per cent on the "big board," although outside loans were again reported at 1½. Time money also eased, thirty and sixty-day funds being quoted as low as 2 3-4, the lowest in seven years with the longer maturities quoted up to 3½. Commercial paper was unchanged, the bulk of the prime names moving at 5 per cent.

While foreign exchange dealers were inclined to take a hopeful view of the Sunday meeting between the British and French premiers, the principal European rates receded slightly after a firm opening. Demand sterling eased about 1-4 of a cent to around $4.32 5-8, while French francs lost about 7 points to 5.33 cents. Most of the other rates showed only nominal changes.

WOOL MARKET

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, June 23.—Business in the wool market is still slow and unsatisfactory. Some trading is in progress in fleece wools. Prices continue in buyers' favor. A fair amount of fleece wool is moving direct from country points to the mills. Buying in the western markets seems to be going slow in taking over any large lots.

Make More Money..!

SUCCESS, to most of us, is impossible without money. For money is a measure of value upon which all equitable business transactions are founded. The extent of our success, however, depends not upon the amount of money available for our purpose, but HOW WE EMPLOY IT. It must:

1. —be put to work where it will be SAFE.
2. —earn the greatest possible profits with safety.
3. —be kept everlastingly busy—turning, earning.

.. Understanding of these points is responsible for the already successful operations of the GUARANTEED MORTGAGE SECURITIES COMPANY of AMERICA, Inc., just as it has been the foundation of many another successful organization fostered by the officers and directors of this institution—organizations that have made money, and more money for their stockholders. . . .

.. For the sake of expansion, the GUARANTEED MORTGAGE SECURITIES COMPANY of AMERICA, Inc., offers the public a limited amount of its stock. Authorized capitalization $2,200,000. 200,000 shares of 8% Cumulative Preferred Stock, par value $10. 200,000 shares Common Stock, par value $1. Sales Executive Seeks Connection

A gentleman, experienced and successful in the management of sales organizations, either large or small, desires a connection with some reputable concern. He is at present successfully directing the efforts of a force that has done nearly a million, in sales, in the last six months, but by reason of most uncongenial surroundings seeks a change. He will expect to receive remuneration commensurate with the results he obtains. But present income will be secondary to future possibilities. His past record will satisfy the most exacting.

He asks for:—Congenial surroundings, a reputable business, a good income, and brilliant chances for the future.

He offers:—Years of sales-managerial experience, sales executive ability, education, honesty and ambition.

If interested, please address DX, box 246, TIMES OFFICE.

$30,000 CASH REQUIRED

I offer an unusual and very profitable business opportunity to an associate of refinement and unquestioned integrity; who must be able to take occasional trips abroad. The investment of thirty thousand dollars will be secured. I am not bankrupt, nor am I in urgent need of money; the calibre of the associate is the first consideration, not the cash required. My own money is invested in the business, which has no debts, and is returning over forty per cent per annum net. What I need is an active partner. References exchanged. Address B. E. Why You Should Take a July Investment Inventory

MANY investors have learned to their loss that a double watch must be kept on every investment. It is not only necessary to lock the security itself away in your strong box, but it is also necessary to watch closely the changing conditions and other factors which may give an opportunity for profit or cause a loss.

Most successful investors make it a rule to check over their entire list of holdings at least twice each year, in order to take advantage of every opportunity to gain a profit or prevent a loss which changing conditions may bring about.

S. W. STRAUS & CO.—the House with a record of 42 years without loss to any investor—offers the services of its Statistical Department to investors who wish to take a July investment inventory. This service is confidential and you will incur no obligation. Simply send in a memorandum of the securities you want analyzed and we will be glad to give a report on them. Address

Crop Condition Not Regarded as a Bear Argument

Electrical Industry Takes on Upward Tendencies

New Financing is Announced; Call Money Market

Moody's Weekly Review of Financial Conditions in its current issue says in part:

"The notable recent development is the sharp decline in call money. Under our present banking system all local money markets from the Atlantic to the Pacific have to be saturated with funds before call money can become so cheap here.

"The present situation is just the reverse of that of the manner of 1919, when a very tight call money market definitely foreshadowed the monetary stringency which ensued. So it is that further declines in both time money and commercial paper may soon be looked for.

"Crop conditions, although unsatisfactory, need not be regarded as much of a bear argument. Small crops would doubtless result in high prices, which in turn would tend to equalize prosperity as between the farmers and the industrial classes of the cities.

"With interest rates going lower and lower, this is evidently to be a peak year in the bond market. Precedent, traced back for sixty years, shows that in similar peak years bond prices respond to the money market as they are now doing—and shows also that July and August are most apt to be the peak months in the bond market.

"Railroad surplus earnings available for dividends apparently made a new high record last year—except for the war boom period of 1916-17. Net earnings are still large, and with Congress adjourned there is ground for optimism."

ELECTRICAL INDUSTRY

Many inquiries in the market continue to enliven the electrical industry and although sales are slightly under last year, the tendency is upward instead of downward and business is holding up well.

Electrical World, New York, reports this week that the demand from manufacturers of supplies has fallen off and the general expectation is that little increase can be anticipated before fall.

Railroad electrification is being actively discussed by manufacturers and railroad officials, many interesting prospects being in view, but nothing is definitely known as to when business will accrue from this.

The sense of the industry, reflected at the convention of Associated Manufacturers of Electrical Supplies held last week, indicates the confidence of electrical men to the effect that despite the general business depression the outlook for the electrical industry is fundamentally good, and executives are planning for conditions that will be met later when the market begins to build up. The "do it electrically" idea is spreading and strengthening throughout the country, and the general opinion is that it must react favorably on sales.

Pacific Coast business is fair. It has apparently notched itself to a certain level and will maintain it, despite the political situation and such sectional handicaps as the last dry spell, which has seriously affected power purchasing. The checking of real estate speculation is a factor that will probably affect Southern California electrical business for the remainder of the year but will make for future stability. Prices throughout the territory are again steady.

LOCAL INDUSTRIAL ISSUE

Metzler & Co. of California make public offering today of an issue of $500,000 preferred stock and 5000 shares of common stock of the Miller Box and Lumber Company of Los Angeles. The company is one of the old established lumber companies, having been in existence for seventeen years. It is engaged in the business of dealing in lumber, manufacturing ready-cut houses, garages, sash and doors, boxes and shook. Since 1918 the company has been under the present management, and during the five years commencing January 1, 1919, and ending December 31, 1923, after allowing for depreciation and taxes, and after deducting 7 per cent dividends paid on preferred stock outstanding, the net earnings available for the average amount of common stock outstanding during that period have averaged more than 25 per cent per annum, without taking into consideration the increased values of real estate and other assets of the company as shown by the appraisal of the Pacific States Appraisal Company. Local investors are to have an opportunity to purchase the preferred stock at 98 and accrued dividends, to yield about 7.14 per cent. The purchaser of a share of preferred stock is to have the right at the same time to purchase one share of common stock at $15 per share. The preferred stock is redeemable at $115 per share upon sixty days' notice, and a sinking fund of 5 per cent of the earnings is to be set aside for that purpose.

In addition to the preferred stock being cumulative, it also participates equally with the common after the common stock has received $7 per share per annum dividend.

The company has no bonded indebtedness.

Application will later be made to list the stock on either the Los Angeles or San Francisco Stock Exchange.

The Pacific Southwest Trust and and Savings Bank is registrar of this issue.

CALL-MONEY MARKET

The assumption that the New York call-money market renders the American banking system less liquid than the British banking system is erroneous, says Dr. Henry A. E. Chandler, economist of the National Bank of Commerce in New York, in discussing the British and American money markets in the June issue of Commerce Monthly.

"The main difference between the relations of the New York and the London banks to the stock exchange arises from the difference between the two centers with respet to stock exchange settlements under normal conditions. In New York all purchases and sales of securities unless otherwise provided for must be settled upon the next full business day following the day of the contract. The daily settlement has necessitated the employment in New York of large funds by the day only.

In London, on the other hand, the prevailing method under normal conditions is the term or fortnightly settlement. For the purpose of carrying stocks over to the next settlement day, therefore, money is borrowed not on call, but for the period elapsing before the next settlement date. Under these conditions it is seen that the London Stock Exchange is financed principally not on call money, but on short-time money. This difference in the customs of the two markets explains where there does not exist an important call market in the London Stock Exchange and why the call market is so important in the New York Stock Exchange.

PURCHASING STABLE

The credit clearinghouse weekly report shows a continuance of the stable condition of purchasing which has prevailed since the beginning of May. No signs of summer buying nave yet made themselves visible. This week there is a slight decrease in purchasing, equal to .8 per cent for the country as a whole.

This covers varying fluctuations, in no case considerable, in the six sections. The mountain section records an increase of purchasing equal to 2.4 per cent. The east section reports an increase equal to .4 per cent. The Pacific Coast is even with the week before. The middle agricultural section shows a decrease of 1.4 per cent. The south agricultural section records a decrease of 2.6 per cent. The north agricultural section has the largest decrease, equal to 3.2 per cent.

On the Pacific Coast, California purchased less actively than last week, while Oregon and Washington purchased more.

Collections throughout the country show some slowness as compared with earlier weeks.

BONDS OVERSUBSCRIBED

According to the bond department of the Bank of Italy, the issue of $9,000,000 Detroit United Railway first mortgage 6 per cent bonds, due 1929, have been heavily oversubscribed and no bonds are available in the open market at the original offering price.

INTERURBANS

A syndicate composed of P. W. Chapman & Co., Inc., and Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., is offering an issue of $1,100,000 East St. Louis and Interurban Water Company first mortgage and refunding 6 per cent gold bonds at 96¼ to yield over 6.35 per cent.

TALK TO CREDIT MEN

H. F. Hahn, manager of the credit department of the California Bank addressed the Hollywood Retail Merchants' Association yesterday. He discussed the time to buy and sell which, he said, are both dependent upon the factor of bookkeeping. "The buying is dependent upon the bookkeeping of the nation and particularly your own territory, whereas the selling is dependent upon the bookkeeping reports of your own organization.

"A merchant must in buying goods confine himself to purchasing only sufficient quantities as his business will absorb and not speculate for rises in market prices which experience has proven is a very hazardous way of attempting to increase profits. On the other hand, the merchant must anticipate his future business by the conditions and fundamentals reflected by what I have called the nation's bookkeeping."

Corn Active in Light Trading Grain Market

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, June 23.—Highest prices for corn, both cash and July, were made in Chicago and in the Southwestern markets, with 90 cents for No. 2 yellow in Chicago and 95½ cents in St. Louis. All markets were lowest at the start and highest at the finish. Trading was not heavy and light selling pressure featured the trading operations after the first rush was over. The rush of selling at the start was based on the break in Liverpool wheat prices and generally fair weather for the wheat country and as to corn, it was the reverse over a good part of the leading corn States.

At the finish wheat prices were ⅛@⅜c higher. Corn showed advances of 1⅛@2c, with December leading the advance. Oats were ¼@⅜c higher and rye ⅝@⅝c above Saturday's close.

Wheat was bearish at the start, because Liverpool was off more than expected, and the final close there was at declines of 1⅝@2¼d. The main feature that attracted attention was the strength in the Northwestern spring wheat markets, with reports of black rust mentioned, the first of this season. The trade always begins to look for black rust around this season or a little later and it furnished the sensation of the day.

It was not easy to buy corn except at the opening when local and Omaha houses were heavy sellers, but absorption of the offerings strengthened the cash markets with an advance of 1@1½c carried prices to new high levels for the season, with July 87⅞. Shorts bought the July in small lots and bid prices up, getting it from leading holders. December which has been under pressure of late advanced over 2 cents to 77⅝, with the close at 77¼@77⅜. Chicago stocks were decreased 579,000 and are 4,209,000 bushels, while Duluth decreased 357,000 bushels, leaving only 740,000 bushels out of a total supply of more than 6,000,000 bushels, the latter part of April. The total visible decreased 646,000 bushels and is 10,504,000 bushels, against 3,165,000 bushels last year.

Oats were bought by commission houses and cash interests and firmed up with corn. Cash premiums advanced ½@⅝c.

COPPER MARKET WEEKLY REVIEW

Producers Profess Belief in Early Turn for Better

Existing Surplus Gains Four Million Pounds

Europe Remains Important Market Factor

BY CHARLES F. WILLIS,
Editor "Arizona Mining Journal"

The publication of the May copper statistics, which were interpreted by the trade as less favorable than anticipated, had but little effect on copper prices, the price still ranging between 12½ and 12 5-8 cents a pound. On the other hand, the improvement in the stock market, lower rediscount rates of the Federal Reserve Bank, indicating that the powers that be are to allow more liberal use of the enormous credit resources in stimulating business, were accepted by the producers as indicative of a turn in the general situation for the better.

The output of refined copper by North and South American plants in May aggregated 226,000,000 pounds, compared with deliveries to foreign and domestic consumers of 222,000,000 pounds. This resulted in an addition of 4,000,000 pounds to the existing surplus of refined copper, bringing the latter, as of June 1, up to approximately 225,000,000 pounds. This is the first month since January that the stocks of refined copper have increased. The May figures do not jibe with expectations principally because of the belief that there would be a reduction of refinery output reflecting the curtailment in mine production. In April the refinery output amounted to 216,000,000 pounds, and in March 220,000,000 pounds. The May output, which, of course included one more day's operation than April by showing an increase of 10,000,000 pounds in the face of what had been expected by way of mine curtailment was surprising. As near as can be determined domestic mines were sincere in their attempt to curtail production, but increased efficiency of labor, plus metallurgical improvements by way of more liberal recoveries in a given tonnage, account for the fact that there has been no very substantial reduction in the output of domestic mines. This fact, taken in conjunction with a more liberal melting of scrap and refining of so-called outside copper, accounts for the increased refinery output in May.

It is significant, however, to learn that the first five months' deliveries of 1924 set the highest record for any similar period in the history of the copper industry. They averaged 235,000,000 pounds a month, a total of 1,176,000,000 pounds or at the annual rate of 2,820,000,000 pounds. The refinery output for the first five months of this year averaged 218,000,000 pounds monthly, or at the annual rate of 2,616,000,000 pounds, which, it will be seen, is considerably below the annual rate of deliveries for this period.

MARKET SITUATION

Domestic production is running at the rate of about 135,000,000 pounds of copper monthly and domestic consumption in the first five months of this year averaged 143,000,000 pounds monthly. Foreign deliveries averaged 92,000,000 pounds monthly in the first five months of this year, or an aggregate of 461,000,000 pounds, which is at the annual rate of slightly over 1,000,000,000 pounds of copper. As a matter of fact, there was an increase in the deliveries to foreign consumers in the first five months of this year of about 37 per cent with the larger shipments going to the United Kingdom and the second largest shipments to Germany.

The trouble with the present copper situation has been effectively summed up by Neale of the Boston Commercial in the statement, "The short range view of the copper situation depends upon consumption and co-operation. The first named factor in turn largely depends upon Europe. The second factor should have been put into force long ago. The long-range view, is, of course, an entirely different thing. Vast electric enterprises are being planned all over the world. These and other developments represent an enormous copper consumption. The time may come when there will not be enough copper to go around.

"One of the chief troubles with the copper situation right along has been the sharp competition among the independent producers and selling agencies for the business offering. Consumers have taken advantage of this situation. They have shopped around among the selling agencies, using the quotation of one against the other, and in this way shading the price anywhere from an eighth to a quarter of a cent a pound. As a final resort a custom smelter is appeal to which is always protected and does not care particularly, therefore, what the selling price is and when a purchase is made from this source, even though small, the price is made for the whole market. Thus it will be seen that the consumer has been controlling the copper market. the reverse only being the case when the demand suddenly became abnormal and consumers fell over themselves in their anxiety to buy.

NEED OF CO-OPERATION

"Consumers do not buy in large quantities except on a rising market. If the producers would only recognize this fact and hold firm the situation could undoubtedly be improved, all aside from special developments, which would bring in a large foreign buying demand.

"If there is to be no co-operation among producers and selling agencies and curtailment is not going to be resorted to in a large way there is only one factor which will improve the situation, namely, increased consumption. If there is to be increased consumption it must come from Europe, for it is not reasonable to expect any large increase in the huge amount of copper the United States is using so long as present business conditions exist. In fact, there has been a decrease in the consumption of copper in the automobile industry, but fortunately this has been partially offset in the building and specialty lines. So far as Europe is concerned it is only a question of having the money to buy and whenever the reparations question is settled credit will be forthcoming for Germany and this will start an endless chain of favorable business developments on the continent. At least this is the belief of shrewd students of the European situation."

Pacific Coast Building; Iron, Steel Review

BY DON PARTRIDGE,
Associate Editor
"Iron Trade Review"

In reporting on the condition of the Coast iron and steel markets, Iron Trade Review will say this week: "One of the most encouraging features of an otherwise dull market is seen in the large amount of building permits being issued along the entire Pacific Coast. Los Angeles excepted, nearly every other city showed a healthy increase in May over the April total.

"Only a limited amount of merchant bar business is being offered mill men, although a fair amount of concrete bar orders are being booked. Operators in the San Francisco district have reduced their prices on merchant material to 2.50 cents f.o.b. cars and are selling to all comers in one-ton lots and up. This drastic reduction has been made to discourage the importation of foreign material, large tonnages of which have recently been brought into California ports. In the Northwest 2.75 cents is being named. Concrete bar awards totaled over 1000 tons this week, the largest involving 700 tons for the Bradner-Medico Building, Seattle, placed with the Pacific Coast Steel Company. Pending tonnages aggregate well over 4000 tons.

"Plates are being quoted generally at 2.60 cents c.i.f. Coast ports although desirable tonnages have been placed at 2.50 cents, and one large order went at 2.40 cents base c.i.f. Pending inquiries involve close to 1500 tons.

"Structural fabricators report a good volume of business in their shops with much new work in sight. Plain material is being quoted at 2.65 cents c.i.f. with large tonnages going as low as 2.55 cents. Awards this week totaled over 600 tons, 400 of which was for the Commercial Club building in San Jose, secured by Schrader's Iron Works, while unclosed business is in excess of 4000 tons.

"No cast iron pipe awards were reported, but several sizeable jobs are up for figures or pending, the total being over 1800 tons. New inquiries include 590 tons for Burbank. Long Beach is expected to be in the market shortly for close to 18,000 tons.

"Demand for pig iron and coke is not heavy, buyers are buying sparingly and stocks are in good shape. The best grades of Scotch iron are held at $32.

REVENUE DECREASE REPORTED FOR MAY

Monthly statement of earnings and expenses of the Southern Pacific Company for the month of May made public yesterday showed the railway operating revenues for the month to be $21,500,297.65 and railway operating expenses $16,647,392.05, leaving a net revenue from railway operations of $4,852,895.60.

After deductions of uncollected railway revenues, railway tax accruals, equipment rents and joint facility rents the report shows net railway operating income of $2,976,449.13, a decrease of $1,172,007.66 under May of last year.

Statement of earnings and expenses for the five months ending May 31, 1924, showed a net railway operating income of $12,487,675.56, a decrease of $2,950,880.96 under the corresponding months of 1923.

DAILY MARKET LETTER OF THE NEW YORK COMMERCIAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 23.—Trading in dried fruits, confined to a routine filling business today, was wholly without special feature. Bookings against new crop offerings have been practically nil. The demand for prunes is confined largely to hand-to-mouth trading in wanted lines. In Californias the demand is for 40s, with a scattering demand for 50-60s and larger prunes. In Oregon lines there is a fair volume of business under way in 40s, with prices somewhat firmer. The announcement of President Merritt to the effect that Sunmaid will guarantee its quality of raisins against damage will doubtless act as a further boon to distribution. There is only a routine spot demand for peaches and apricots.

Another week of settled weather promises further developments in the canned foods market primarily in the distribution of incoming supplies of new pack. A further strengthening of certain spot vegetables was noted, No. 2 tomatoes leading in the movement, while peas were especially scarce in old packs, and there is some anxiety concerning new southern peas. Future trading in canned fruits of a fair volume has followed announcements of opening prices and, while all independent packers have not yet quoted, there is sufficient in the way of new prices to fairly estimate the trend of prices. Cling peaches of standard quality are the one "best seller." Pears have had a fair future demand and spots are practically cleaned up. Pineapple and bookings are of larger volume than expected. The steady demand of the past few weeks for Alaska pink and red salmon has given the market stability which is reflected in the firmer ideas of holders of spot stocks. Tuna has been well taken on opening prices. There is a good call for California sardines.

SUGAR DULL

There was but a half-hearted interest shown in the spot raw sugar with holders asking 3 5-8 cents and buyers nominally at 3½ cents, but no business resulted. The only item which might have had a direct bearing on the market was a purchase by a French refiner of a cargo of Cuban raws at 3½ cents f.o.b. Cuba, which is equivalent to 3 5-8 cents, cost and freight, New York.

Refined sugar is said to be active in the West but in the East and the local market today there was very little done. The American advanced its price to 7 cents. No other refiner announced a change. The range of prices is now from 6.70 to 7 cents as to seller and package.

With notice day only twenty-four hours off the future raw sugar market was surprisingly steady. It closed at from 2 points advance to unchanged. There was considerable long liquidation of July and some heavy selling by European interests of distant positions. March closed at 3:30; May, 3.40; July, 3.44; September, 3.64; December, 3.52.

COFFEE OFF AT CLOSE

The market for Brazilian coffee futures opened well today with an advance of 5 to 8 points, but the initial gains were wiped out during the day and closing prices came at a decline of 3 to 8 points. The local undertone is still firm and the weakness was attributed to some selling by long interests after the call. At Rio the market came higher at 175 reis for June and 200 reis for September with exchange 1 1-3 lower. Santos for June was also up 200 reis but for July and August, the market was unchanged to 325 reis down. Locally there seems to be considerable confidence in the market.

March closed at 12.65; May, 12.37; July, 13.95; September, 13.32; October and November, 13.18 and 13.03 respectively, and December, 12.88 to 12.90.

London cables advised that Indian teas advanced 1-4d at the sales there today which seems to be in tune with general conditions. These were further substantiated by private cables from Calcutta to a leading importing house which intimated that the average price of tea at the opening of the market showed about 1s, 7d with a generally better feeling prevailing. The same cable advised the expectation of a dear market for all grades right through August.

BUTTER ADVANCES

The butter market is showing a tendency to advance. Arrivals were not considered large for the season and with stronger western advices receivers were firmer in their ideas. Extra creamery is now selling at 42½ cents as an inside rate with higher scores reaching half-cent premium.

The only call sale recorded was 50 tubs of creamery extras at 42½ cents for spot delivery. There were no sales for future delivery.

The egg market was featureless and price changes were of little importance. Western white eggs of desirable quality are in scant supply and held in strong hands.

Call sales were 50 cases New Jersey firsts; white extras, 40 cents; 300 cases Illinois firsts, 27½; 50 No. 1 Iowa firsts, 28; 275 cases No. 1 at 27½; 160 ditto 27 1-4; 100 Illinois firsts 27½ cents per dozen.

COPPER UNCHANGED

The copper market is dull and while the going quotation is 13½ cents a pound for electrolytic delivered, it is thought in some quarters that the metal can be bought at a less price. London cables that market as standing still so far as prices were concerned, standard still being quoted at £61 for spot and at £61 17s 6d for futures, while electrolytic spot was unchanged at £65 10s and futures, £66.

Lead is weak at 7 cents, New York, and 6.80 cents a pound, St. Louis. London spot declined 2s 6d to 32, 2s 6d and futures 7s 6d to £29, 17s 6d.

Zinc is quotable at about 5 3-4 cents a qound, St. Louis, and 35 points higher in New York. In London spot advanced 7s 6d to £31, 17s 6d and futures 2s 6d to £31, 10s.

The rally that was inaugurated in tin late last week continued today. All deliveries of straits and Straits shipments here closed at 43 1-2 cents, an advance of half a cent. London cables standard advancing £2 15s to £223 for both spot and futures, while Straits futures, while straits showed a gain shows a gain of £2 5s at £225, 10s.

STANDARD MAKES CUT

The Standard of Kentucky has reduced the price of gasoline 2 cents a gallon throughout its territory, which includes Kentucky Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi. The price at service stations in Louisville is now 24 cents, Miami, Fla., 24 cents; Vicksburg, Miss., 21 1-2 cents; Birmingham, Ala., 22 cents, and Atlanta, 24 cents a gallon and this includes all State taxes. The price to dealers in Atlanta is 4 cents lower, but in the other cities it is 2 cents lower.

Trading in the bond market centered principally in the Libertys and foreign government issues. The volume was small but it must not be forgotten that of the transactions in Libertys not more than 10 per cent ever appear on the tape. One of the strong spots in the foreign government list was the new Japanese 6 1-2s bonds, which, after closing at 90 3-4 on Saturday, advanced to 91 1-4. These bonds are still below their issue price as the result of the unloading by some investors. The French issues were active again but the change in price was small. Katy adjustments were under accumulation, the majority of the bonds selling around 59 1-2.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLEVELAND, June 23.—Daily Metal Trade today says: "Sheet mill activities in Youngstown district advanced Monday from 15 per cent one week ago to almost 50 per cent, while steel ingot output advanced 10 per cent also, due to better carload buying. Pig iron buying gains at St. Louis, where competitive prices are being met. New construction prospects in New England make impressive showing. Sheet metal contractors declare against five-day work week. Copper is steady at New York at 13½ cent. Lead is unchanged at 6.85 cents and zinc quiet at 5⅝ cents St. Louis. Tin dull at 43½ cents."

Ored Malinax, 21 years of age, rancher, was killed recently at Libby, Mont., by an unusual accident. He felled a tree, which struck a second tree, which fell and hit a third. The third took down a fourth, which fell on the man, killing him. The trees stood in a circle.

Judge Topples From Bench at Noise Like Shot

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DENVER, June 23.—While an attorney was declaiming to a jury in defense of John C. Nesbitt, asserted auto thief, in United States Court, he was interrupted by a loud, sharp report, resembling that of a pistol.

United States Marshal Dollison, deputies, bailiffs, attorneys, stenographers, jurymen and spectators all leaped to their feet.

Judge Orie L. Phillips, who had been sitting on the bench, was suddenly nowhere to be seen.

"Guard the doors—he's been shot," an official cried.

Then the judge's head emerged from behind the bench.

A bolt in the judges big chair had snapped and the judge had been tipped forward out of sight.

WHY BELL'S TONE IMPROVES

A bell-maker who had observed that old bells usually have a finer and more pleasing tone than new ones investigated in the hope of finding the secret. He found, the Youth's Companion tells us, that after many years of use the clapper and the inner surface of the bell with which it comes in contact wear down until the shape of the one becomes nicely adjusted to that of the other. Thus the contact surface between them is increased considerably. Applying this discovery in a practical way he produced a bell and a clapper which had an unusually large contact surface. The tone was much superior to that of new bells made of the same materials and in the same form but without special regard to the size of contact surfaces of bell and clapper. Such a bell after a month of continuous ringing acquires a tone practically equal to one that has been used for a century or more.

Arguments in Forbes Fraud Case Delayed

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, June 23.—At the request of John H. W. Crim, Assistant Attorney-General, arguments of the government in answer to the defendant's demurrer to an indictment charging Charles R. Forbes, former head of the Veterans' Bureau, and John W. Thompson, hospital contractor, with bribery and conspiracy to corrupt a government official were continued for the third time this morning by Federal Judge Carpenter, who set the date for hearing, July 14.

It was reported at the Federal Building that a further continuance will be asked then and that the case will not go to trial before next fall. It was also reported that the government has prepared a new indictment in the Veterans' Bureau fraud case, which has been suppressed.

Lays Double Yolk Eggs

PRINCETON (Minn.)—An occasional double-yolk egg means nothing to A. N. Davis, a local resident. He has been showing his friends a box of prize eggs. The average length is a little more than three inches and the circumference six and one-half inches, and each egg contains a double yolk. Mr. Davis has one hen in his flock that regularly every day lays a double-yolk egg.

MAUSOLEUMS ARE NOT ALL ALIKE

Superior and Patent-Protected Methods of Construction Embodied in the Beautiful Buildings of the California Mausoleum Company

The great advantage of Mausoleum entombment of our beloved dead; natural dessication, evaporation and attrition—by which Nature gradually and inoffensively takes to herself the mortal body which the departing Soul has laid down—this advantage is not to be had by grave-burial, nor yet in mausoleums as ordinarily constructed.

In all California there are but three Mausoleums whose construction embodies those principles of ventilation and air circulation to each indivdual crypt by means of whch Nature's own "drying away" process is made practically possible, and actually does take place. These three are owned by the California Mausoleum Company, and located in Hollywood, Inglewood and Riverside. This Company owns the patent rights for the entire State of California under which its superior methods of construction are protected.

Something to think about, when one faces the duty and responsibility of fittingly and reverently attending to the disposition of the body of a dear one who has passed away. These events have to be met, the facts faced, and the duty intelligently fulfilled. The representatives of this Company can help you, and will be glad to do so. A visit to the Mausoleums themselves will bring before you a realizing sense of the beauty, peace, permanency and enduring protection of these "Chaste Temples," and their very real superiority.

Such a visit may be arranged for conveniently by telephoning the Offices of the Company, MAin 1534. The Mausoleums are open to visitors daily from 9 A.M. to 5 P.M. Or illustrated booklets will be mailed. Send requests to California Mausoleum Co., 206 Harris Bldg., 110 West 11th St.—[Advertisement.

SULLY ASKS RETRIAL OF DARCY CASE

Notice Cites Misconduct at Trial and New Facts in $50,000 Award

Attorneys for Grenville P. Sully, former brother-in-law of Douglas Fairbanks and son of Daniel J. Sully, wealthy retired cotton broker, yesterday filed notice of motion for a new trial of the $200,000 damage suit brought against Sully by Miss Yvonne Darcy, 19-year-old film actress. Miss Darcy charged young Sully with luring her to his father's home on Beachwood Drive, Hollywood, and attacking her. The jury that heard the case awarded Miss Darcy $50,000.

The notice filed yesterday stated a new trial would be asked on the grounds the amount of damages awarded was excessive; that there was newly discovered evidence in the case; that the jury had misconducted itself, and that the proceedings at the trial were irregular.

At the trial of the case, Miss Darcy testified young Sully took her to the home of his parents on the pretense that he wanted her to meet his mother. She declared neither of Sully's parents was at home on the evening of the asserted attack and that Sully lured her to his room and there assaulted her.

Sully denied on the stand that he had ever had any improper relations with the girl. Sully's parents testified there were guests at their home the evening of the asserted attack while Arthur Huntington, father of young Sully's fiancee, told the jury Sully called at his home that evening.

Wanderlust Is Blamed as Lad Deserts Home

Lee Hayward.

Juvenile wanderlust to an exaggerated degree is held accountable for the disappearance from his home in Pasadena of Lee Hayward, 8 years of age. He disappeared a week ago today from his home, 1216 White street, Pasadena, and his parents have not heard from him since. Police have been asked to find the lad.

"He is as good a boy as lives," says his father, Charles Hayward. "But since he was 4 or 5 he has been running away from home. Until now he has never been gone more than a couple of days, and we fear that he has come to some harm. I never could learn why he does it. He doesn't seem to know. He just says he leaves because he wants to. I have stopped punishing him for it because it did no good. As I say he is a good boy in every other way."

Violators of Truck Loading Law Are Fined

Violators of the truck-loading ordinance, which sets the maximum load at 22,000 pounds, will receive little consideration in court, Police Judge Richardson declared yesterday after giving two men the alternative of going to jail for 100 days or paying a fine of $100 for violating the law. Both paid fines. They are D. Paulsen and George Hahn.

In imposing the fines Police Judge Richardson declared he will do his utmost to see the ordinance is strictly obeyed, and that he would impose maximum sentences on all violators hereafter.

This action followed Police Judge Crawford's policy of giving five-day jail sentence to motorists who travel in excess of thirty-five miles an hour. He sentenced D. A. Allen to jail for the usual five-day period. Other motorists paid fines ranging from $15 to $20.

CONSUL IS APPROVED

Dr. V. M. Egas has been appointed Consul ad-honorem by the Republic of Ecuador in Los Angeles, it was announced yesterday. His appointment has been approved at Washington, and Dr. Egas has taken up his consular duties at Room 622, Chamber of Commerce Building.

ATTACKS MATE IN COURTHOUSE

Film Actress Resents His Charges

Mrs. Mary Mayo

Mrs. Mary Mayo, pretty screen actress, accused by her husband, Dr. Woodward B. Mayo, of an infatuation with Lew Cody, motion-picture actor, attacked him in the Courthouse corridor outside the courtroom of Judge Summerfield yesterday morning after a hearing on the custody of their child, pending trial of the doctor's divorce suit.

Pulled away from her husband by her attorneys, Mrs. Mayo staggered into a corner and collapsed in a fainting spell. Dr. Mayo, the first to reach her, carried her into the near-by marriage license office, where she was revived.

The altercation started when Mrs. Mayo after the hearing suggested to her husband that he permit their boy to remain in the Hollywood school he has been attending. When Dr. Mayo declined, she attempted to slap him.

The hearing was on Dr. Mayo's motion that the court award him temporary custody of the child. Mrs. Mayo objected to this. Judge Summerfield finally decided that the child would be better off in the custody of a neutral party, and ordered that the boy be placed in a home in the Wilshire district until after the divorce suit is tried.

Mrs. Mayo also filed a cross-complaint yesterday in which she entered emphatic denial to her husband's charges but admitted that she had frequently visited the home of Lew Cody. These visits, she declared, were made only to further her interest in motion pictures and for no other reason. The charge made by her husband that she was infatuated with the actor was declared by the wife to be nonsensical.

She also denied any infatuation for Sam Veitch of Baltimore, as charged by her husband, asserting that her relations with Veitch were purely of a platonic nature and that her husband knew she was corresponding with this man and approved of it.

Mrs. Mayo, in turn, charges that her husband was infatuated with Bonita Oliver, that he was frequently at the girl's house, that he gave her a diamond ring and that she frequently called him on the telephone at home. She also sets forth that he approved of her work in the films and that she entered this work with his consent.

Mrs. Mayo admitted writing a letter to a girl friend back in Baltimore in which she made the statement that she had gone out with Cody very frequently and with other motion-picture celebrities occasionally, but asserted that she made these statements only to lead her friends in Baltimore to believe that she was making rapid progress in the screen world.

She charges further that her husband treated her with extreme cruelty, that he beat and abused her, called her names and accused her of improper relations with other men and frequently came home drunk. Mrs. Mayo asks for $150 a month alimony for the support of herself and their 6-year-old son, Bruce.

CRAIL NOT TO BECOME CANDIDATE

Judge Refuses to Run for Place on Appellate Bench; to Await Turn

Judge Charles S. Crail, whose name has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the Appellate Court in opposition to Justice Curtis at the August primaries, announced yesterday that he will not run, preferring to await appointment. His statement follows:

In the last year I have had requests running into the hundreds, mostly from attorneys, that I consent to be a candidate for the Appellate Court bench at the ensuing election.

Certain of my friends have offered to take full charge of the proposed campaign and to raise funds for the purpose far in excess of any sum which I would permit as seemly in a campaign for the bench. There are those who are pressing for and are entitled to an answer.

On the Superior Court bench of Los Angeles county, our choice both of work and of courtrooms comes by the rule of seniority of service. In the flight of time I have become one of the senior judges in point of service, although I am still one of the junior judges in point of age.

The work which falls to me is important and satisfactory. It is a pleasure to preside over an important trial court.

The ideal way first to become a member of the Appellate or Supreme Court benches of California is by appointment. By that method one does not displace a judge or justice who has given the best years of his life to conscientious toil in behalf of the people.

For my part, I am content to be patient and await my turn, if it ever shall be that my character and ability attract the attention of the appointive power. If not, I shall be content in the knowledge that from day to day I am giving the best of service that lies within me.

Southern California has been very good to me, and always I am more fortunate than I deserve to be.

[Signed] CHARLES S. CRAIL.

WORKER SENTENCED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Antonio Bessoni, a laborer of Culver City, was sent to the County Jail for two months and was fined $100 by Federal Judge McCormick yesterday on a charge of violating the Volstead Act. The defendant pleaded guilty.

Evidence submitted by the United States Attorney showed Bessoni sold liquor last month to a Federal dry agent for $4.50.

ACCUSED CHIEF OF MOB NAMED

Radicals Accuse Port Youth in Tarring Party

Agitator Declares He Was Robbed by Suspect

Grand Jury Investigation Expected to Result

Positive identification of G. P. Thompson, 21 years of age, as one of the leaders of the tar-and-feather party which wrecked the I.W.W. hall in the San Pedro district of Los Angeles Harbor more than a week ago was announced yesterday by Assistant Captain of Detectives Longuevan.

The suspect, held at the Harbor Jail since Sunday night on a kidnaping charge, was identified definitely by Thomas J. Sullivan, radical agitator, as the leader of the mob which took him and five other Wobblies to Santa Ana Canyon and there subjected them to a tar-and-feather bath, Capt. Longuevan stated. R. M. Bigelow, another Wobbly in the hall at the time it was raided by the mob, also identified Thompson, the officer declared.

Just before he and his companions were tarred and feathered, Sullivan declared, Thompson jabbed a revolver into his side and robbed him of $70 which he said he would turn over to the Salvation Army. Then, Sullivan said, he was forced to disrobe and given the tar-and-feather treatment together with the five other Wobblies.

GRAND JURY MAY ACT

As a result of Thompson's identification, Longeuvan said, the entire affair will be turned over for investigation and prosecution to the District Attorney's office. A grand jury investigation is expected to follow this step

The situation at the harbor remained unchanged and entirely quiet yesterday. Capt. Hagenbaugh, in charge of the harbor police division, announced in the afternoon that he had drafted a plan to abolish the street-speaking zone in the harbor district which would automatically eliminate the constant danger source which the Wobbly and anti-Wobbly mass meetings represent. This plan will be laid before the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce in a short time and if approved will be submitted to city officials for further action.

It also became known yesterday that the I.W.W. hall at Twelfth and Center streets, long the stamping ground of all Red elements in the community, is to be abandoned permanently with no other hall to take its place. The action of the Wobblies in abandoning this favored haunt, it was intimated, is due to the rough treatment accorded to Reds who have assembled there in the past several years.

Capt. Hagenbaugh yesterday also announced the transfer of Patrolman Harry J. Swindle, head of the Wobbly squad, to the day shift. The transfer was made, Capt. Hagenbaugh stated, as a precautionary measure to prevent Wobblies and other radicals from attacking members of the officer's family. It was declared by Capt. Hagenbaugh that after the raid and wrecking of the I.W.W. hall a number of radicals had appeared before him and demanded Patrolman Swindle's address.

It is not believed that any violence is intended to the officer's family or himself, but Capt. Hagenbaugh stated he believed it best

CATHOLIC WOMEN CONVENE

Far-Reaching Union Indicated in Council's First Session Here; Eight Counties Represented

BY MYRA NYE

Never before in the history of the Catholic Church in Southern California have the women of that faith banded together in such significant and far-reaching union as was indicated yesterday in the opening session of the first annual convention of the Council of Catholic Women.

Miss Mary Workman of this city, president of the Los Angeles and San Diego Diocesan council, formally called the delegates to order at 2 p.m., in the Catholic Women's clubhouse. There were present representatives of organizations of eight counties: Imperial, San Diego, Riverside, San Bernardino, Los Angeles, Orange, Ventura and Santa Barbara and each of these had as its spokesman, the president, a lay-Catholic woman. In addition there were present in the large audience representatives of six orders of Catholic Sisters including Sisters of Mercy, Carmelite nuns, members of the Mary Knoll order and novitiates of other orders.

With the approval and personal aid of Rt. Rev. John J. Cantwell, Bishop of the Diocese, the organization was perfected for the purpose of forestalling the agencies of lawlessness and unpatriotic organizations in the United States; for the promotion of peace everywhere in the world through three mediums: service for the welfare of homes, the communities of California and the United States; the following of the educational trend of the day as it promotes peace, and the promotion of good citizenship. These purposes were outlined by Miss Workman in her introductory remarks.

DAY OF BEGINNINGS

"This is a day of great beginnings," said Thomas A. J. Dockweiler, social service commissioner of the city of Los Angeles, in his address of welcome. "Great not only for the women of the Catholic Church but for the community and the State.

Our beloved country is today on shaky foundations. It is only the woman at the cradle, at the desk in school, as teacher in the home as wife and mother who can construct anew the tottering foundations. Woman's position has changed. Today her aid in civic problems is indispensable. Hitherto you have been content in those organizations for women in our church; but today the necessity for organizing outside is insistent for the welfare of the country as well as to maintain the traditions of the church."

The address of the afternoon was given by Rev. Martin C. Keating known throughout the State during the war as the benevolent chaplain of Camp Kearney. He spoke on: "The Papacy, a Clearing-house for International Good Will" and outlined through the centuries from the third until today the influence the Papacy has had upon the world in promoting peace and preventing wars.

PRINCE OF PEACE

"More and more we must recognize the Vicar of Christ in the part he loves best—that of Prince of Peace," he began. "Especially

MINISTER'S DAUGHTER WEDS

Becomes Bride of Clergyman's Son

From Ministerial Families

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Franklin Humbert.

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, June 23.—May Day La Verne Harrison, pretty Long Beach girl, and Harold Franklin Humbert, young Spokane minister, were united in marriage here yesterday afternoon in an unusual ceremony. Officiating at the Trinity Methodist Church were the bride's father, Rev. C. T. Harrison, pastor of that church, and the Rev. Ella M. Humbert of Spokane, mother of the bridegroom. In attendance also were the bride's mother, herself a minister and public speaker. The double-ring ceremony was used and the rings were carried to the altar in the petals of twin roses.

More than 250 invited guests, several of them from distant States, witnessed the ceremony and attended the reception in the church parlors afterwards. Following a wedding party, held at the home of the bride, the young couple left for an extended trip in the north, to be followed by several weeks spent at the summer school at Berkeley.

The bride, a graduate of the University of Southern California and a member of the Delta Zeta sorority, wore a gown of crepe with embroidered chiffon, and pearls. Her attendants were Mrs. Ruth Harrison Grant of Hollywood, matron of honor; Miss Maude Stavely of Phoenix, Ariz.; Miss Mae Miller of Los Angeles, Mrs. Dorothy Van Dyke of Corvallis, Or., and Miss Rhoda Polkington of Riverside, bridesmaids. The flower girl was little Clara Melcher and the ring bearer was little James Callicottee, both of Long Beach.

Lester McNichols of Pasadena acted as best man while the ushers were Thomas Harrison of Long Beach, Glen Grant of Hollywood, Jay Lee and Douglas Shively of Santa Paula, Cal.

Included among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Ella Humbert, Royal Humbert of Spokane, Mr. and Mrs. Day, grandparents of the bride, of Porterville; Mrs. May Smith of Sacramento, Mr. and Mrs. Harry McCall of Imperial.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the Oregon University and the Boston University schools of religion, from which institutions he has received degrees. He is a member of the Santa Paula Rotary Club.

Following the honeymoon and weeks to be spent at the summer school at Berkeley, the young couple will make their home at Santa Paula, where the Rev. Mr. Humbert will teach English and history in the high school.

POISONED GIRL NOW ON MEND

Asserted Flapper Bandit is in Hospital

Man Said to Have Confessed Gang Leadership

Geraldine McGowan, 17 years of age, former pupil at a San Fernando Valley convent school, was recovering at the General Hospital last night from the effects of poison she is said to have swallowed Sunday night in the Burbank City Jail.

She is accused by the police of being an embryo "flapper bandit" member of a youthful gang, four of whom are held in Glendale and Burbank jails.

Norman McCrea, 35, is said by the police to have confessed that he was the leader of the gang. Others held are Arthur Armstrong of Burbank and Charles Hilton and George R. Wilson of Glendale, all of whom are said to be under 18.

YOUTHS ATTRACTED

McCrea, the police said, said he persuaded the girl to leave the convent and go to a Burbank hotel with him. With the girl as a lure, McCrea is said to have declared the youths were attracted and became members of a gang that committed numerous robberies. The gang, the police said traveled in an automobile, using the girl to disarm suspicion.

According to the Pasadena police, the McGowan girl was reported by her father, said to be a retired merchant, as missing several months ago. At the time she was living at home. She was later found and sent to the girls' school near Burbank.

She was again reported missing according to the Pasadena police on May 30, last.

The girl, the police say, effected her escape from the school with the co-operation of McCrea and an associate of his. It was accomplished one night when, as was the custom, the girls were permitted to have visitors for the evening. Employing a ruse, the boy succeeded in smuggling the McGowan girl, along with Olive Baring and Mamie Stevens, out of the building.

DRIVE TO BEACH

The party drove down to the beach where the other two girls were dropped and McCrea drove the McGowan girl to his apartment where he hid her. The Baring girl was later found and taken to Juvenile Hall. The Stevens girl has not been found yet.

Following his capture, which led to the story of the McGowan girl's disappearance, McCrea confessed a number of jobs, among them the burglary of the Glendale Lumber Company and the Glendale Wrecking Company, involving the theft of auto accessories, the police declared.

Shortly after she was arrested the McGowan girl drank poison from a bottle she succeeded in hiding in her clothes, the police say. Despite burns she suffered in her mouth and throat, the hospital authorities say she will recover.

McCrea was employed for a short time about a year ago as an emergency chauffeur on the Los Angeles police force.

S. F. Rutter Here on Visit of Inspection of Local Office

S. F. Rutter, Federal prohibition director for California, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday from San Francisco. He expects to return to San Francisco tomorrow. His visit here is in the course of a routine inspection of the local office and an investigation of druggists' permits which is being carried on under Henry W. Hess, legal adviser of the director's office, Mr. Rutter said. He declined to comment on the cases arising from the use of search warrants asserted to have been illegally issued for the purpose of searching the residence of Henry C. Lee, 2533 Fourth avenue, and the residence of J. L. Stack, 411 South Ardmore.

He got his job back and furnished the officers with a yarn they will tell their grandchildren.

When the officers finished this yarn they had time to tell of the record-breaking trip of the ship. She completed 19,000 miles in four months without a mishap. Incidentally the West Faralon is the first Shipping Board vessel in offshore trade to enter the port here with a crew composed exclusively of American citizens. Some time ago the Shipping Board made an order that only Americans shall be employed in its ships.

WAR ON PHONE PLAN TODAY

Suburbs and Civic Bodies Will Voice Protests on Rate Jump Before Commission

Protests against the State Railroad Commission taking action to authorize the Southern California Telephone Company to increase its rates and establish suburban exchange areas will be presented today before the commission by representatives of the Hollywood and Sherman Chambers of Commerce, the Crescent Heights Improvement Association, the Board of Public Utilities, Universal City officials and others.

Today's hearing follows one of April 8, last, when the telephone company submitted to the commission its arguments for the establishment of exchange areas in Carthay Center, Beverly Hills and Montebello. The matter was continued to allow the city and various suburban areas affected by the proposed change to enter their defense. Several reports compiled on the data submitted by the company in April also are to be presented by city and State Railroad Commission engineers.

EXCHANGE AREA

Subsequent to the April hearing the commission has authorized the company to establish an exchange area at Montebello, but ordered a lower rate to apply to the area than the company suggested in its application. The exchange at Montebello is to become operative August 1.

Charges on individual business telephones will be reduced from the present rate of $13 for unlimited service, including calls to Los Angeles, to a charge of $3 for local service, plus a 10-cent toll for calls to the city.

The rates which the company now asks permission to establish at the proposed exchanges of Beverly Hills and Carthay Center are $5 for Carthay Center business phones and $6 for Beverly Hills exclusive of 10-cent toll calls to Los Angeles.

PROTEST VOICED

In connection with the establishment of the Montebello exchange district the East Side Organization yesterday protested to the commission that the boundaries as defined for the area severely will injure the industrial development of the section. The communication to the commission declares that numerous large industries are being planned for the extreme western section of the exchange area and that the "long-distance" telephone service will prohibit their operation.

The organization requests the commission to reopen the case in order that formal protests may be introduced, which it declares it would have introduced at the last hearing had the commission intimated that the Montebello case would be decided before the entire matter was submitted.

PICKFORD'S MAIDS FACE LIE DEVICE

Detector Used on Six Servants in Attempt to Solve $40,000 Gem Theft

Half a dozen house servants in the home of Jack Pickford and Marilyn Miller, screen and stage stars, 1001 Elden avenue, from which $40,000 in jewelry was reported as missing yesterday morning, were undergoing tests on the "lie detector" at police headquarters last night. The robbery was reported by servants to the police.

A butler and three maids were taken to the station yesterday for questioning.

The missing jewelry was the property of Miss Miller, according to reports. Among the articles taken are listed a bracelet of amethysts, valued at $3000; a diamond ring, valued at $2500; a string of pearls worth $2250 and a long list of minor jewelry.

These, it was told the police, had been stored in a suitcase in the rear of a closet. One of the maids early yesterday morning discovered a rear window broken, made an investigation and found the suitcase lying open with its contents missing, she said. She called the Wilshire police.

FRESNO, June 23.—A man believed to be N. S. Brown of Modesto was drowned in Dry Creek here today. Daniel Jackson of San Francisco and George Lacey of Los Angeles, his companions, were almost drowned in attempting a rescue. The three men had jumped from a freight train to take a bath in the creek, police were told.

Wife of Wealthy Realty Man Asks Equal Division of $500,000 Estate

It was a case of getting out of her home voluntarily or of being thrown out by her husband, Roy C. Seeley, wealthy real estate operator, Mrs. Mahala Calvin Seeley set forth in a divorce complaint filed yesterday in Superior Court.

Mrs. Seeley lists the community property at $500,000. She charges that her husband used violent and profane language and one time threw an electric light globe at their small daughter Virginia. Upon her return from the East, where she had gone to have her eyes examined by a famous occulist, her husband told her she would have to leave the house or he would throw her out. He also informed her that unless she left the State he would file immorality charges against her, she asserts. She asks an equal division of the community property and temporary alimony.

LESSONS TO TEACH IMMIGRANTS READY

COPIES PRINTED BY STATE TO BE DISTRIBUTED AT COST

Completion of a series of prepared lessons for the education of the immigrant in California, and which are said to have proved most successful after they were given a two-year trial in schools of the State, was announced yesterday by the Division of Immigration Education in Los Angeles. According to Miss Ethel Richardson, assistant superintendent in charge of the work, copies of the lessons have been received here from the State Printer and will be distributed to the schools and teachers at cost.

The lessons are in eight sets and have been prepared to assist in overcoming the limitations of foreigners in America. They are arranged from a practical and not technical standpoint, she said, and are designed for study by various groups in everyday work. Special lessons have been drawn up for immigrant farmers and men in industry. One set is for foreign women and another deals with the laws of the State.

Practical help also is given in connection with the work, according to Miss Richardson, by including the most familiar objects and duties which arise in the course of a day in the actual lessons to be studied.

Miss Richardson said that before the lessons were given the practical two-year test they were submitted to and approved by a committee of immigrants. The women's clubs of the State subscribed funds necessary to employ teachers to draw up the lessons, and the Legislature recently gave permission for the copies to be printed and sold at cost, she said.

PLANE CASUALTIES

Film Actress Suffering From Shock; Man's Condition Critical

Peggy Shaw, film actress, was reported suffering from shock at her home yesterday as a result of a narrow escape from death Sunday in an airplane crash at Las Turas Lake air field. She was reported to have been dragged from the path of the falling plane by Noel Davenport, commodore of the air club.

The condition of Raymond D. Dutton, who was injured when the plane struck the ground, was reported unchanged yesterday. Although Dutton is reported semiconscious his condition is still critical. He is at the Glendale Hospital.

DR. MARTEN IS ARRESTED AT CAPITAL

Physician of Southland Wanted on Four Larceny Charges Held

Dr. Charles F. Marten, sought since last January to explain financial deals in connection with a sanatorium at Redlands, is under arrest in Washington, D. C., on a larceny charge, according to advices reaching here. There are said to be four Southern California larceny charges against the physician, for a total of about $50,000. A complaint issued here by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Vobayda asserts he obtained $5000 under false pretenses from Mrs. Ida J. Smith of Long Beach.

Dr. Marten was the promoter of Highland Retreats, a rest cure established in several houses in Redlands. It is asserted he told Mrs. Smith he had equities in three parcels of land and a lease on another, and that he owned $125,000 worth of furniture, and that she paid him $5000 for a one-fifth interest in the project, whereas in fact all he owned was an option.

He is asserted to have interested others, including several physicians, by telling them he had a large estate in England which was in process of settlement and would pay everything up when he got his money from abroad. When the time came for settlement the physician had disappeared, it is declared.

Two warrants are said to be in the hands of Sheriff Shay of San Bernardino, one in the hands of Sheriff Traeger and the fourth in the hands of Constable Thomas. Inspector Grant of the Washington police, who sent the news of Dr. Marten's arrest, said he used the names in that city of Joseph De Oilie and Joseph D'Or.

Among asserted victims of Dr. Marten were Rev. Allen P. DeLong of Glendale, Dr. B. H. Calder of Redlands, Victor Pick of Redlands, I. A. Manning, financial secretary of the sanatorium, and Arthur H. Dawson, formerly a Seattle hotel man.

Ex-Spouse of Millionaires Is Bankrupt

A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed yesterday by Mrs. Mayme W. Thorne, former wife of two millionaires. She lists her liabilities as $28,268 and assets as $5000.

Mrs. Thorne, who is well known in Chicago society, is the widow of Raymond Thorne, who was killed in an automobile accident here on January 10, 1921. Soon after she married her second millionaire husband, Frank B. Watling of Chicago. In less than a year she divorced him in Chicago. A month later reports had it they would remarry here, but this was denied.

Before her marriage Mrs. Thorne was Miss Mayme Wood of Boston, and she and Thorne eloped while he was a student at Dartmouth.

Former Bay City Man Found Dead in Broker's Home

D. Marsh, 25 years of age, apparently committed suicide at the home of his brother, James Marsh of 6014 Wilshire Boulevard, by inhaling gas early last night, according to police reports. Marsh came to the city from San Francisco three months ago, and was employed in his brother's cleaning and dyeing establishment. He was single. The brother could give no reason for the suicide. The body was removed to the French undertaking parlors at Sawtelle.

CATHOLIC BODY OPENS SESSION

in the United States and in the Western Continent must we know of the Pope's influence for peace which began in 1496 after the discovery of America when the right of the Pope to fix the limits of exploration was recognized and when he prevented blood shed between Spanish and Portuguese explorers."

One by one the Popes were marshaled in review: Pope Innocent of the third century, Pope Alexander of the tenth, and St. Francis of Assisi down to the one who was called the "Pope of Peace" during the war, who refused to bless the arms of Austria and who warned the Emperor of the terrible responsibility upon him in making war. He died finally of a broken heart because he could not stop war, according to Father Keating, who came at last to Pius the XI.

"I do not claim infallibility for him in this matter of international relations and world peace," said the speaker. "But I do assert that the facts of the decade show him to be a leader of all leaders toward the great goal of world peace." The speaker then outlined the program of the Pope for world peace, which he said was not theoretical but had been tested in part.

He told of the great meeting of the Catholic association and societies of England, May 31, two weeks ago, called by the Pope, in which a great movement was inaugurated and of which this movement of women in California is really a part.

Father Keating's words were punctuated throughout by the enthusiastic applause of the women, and at no time were his words received with greater favor than when he made a plea for the union with Protestants and Jews in a great woman effort to eliminate war and lawlessness.

TELLS OF VISIT

Mrs. Willoughby Rodman although of another faith as she asserted, was greeted with a demonstration of approval when she told of her visit lately to Cardinal Mercier in Belgium; how at his invitation she sat in his beautiful garden and heard the bells of the great cathedral at sunset; how he told her of his sympathy with the Russian students who were refugees of war in whom Mrs. Rodman is actively interested.

"He did not tell me" said Mrs. Rodman, "but I learned that from his private purse he is supporting 100 of them though they are Greek Catholics and not Roman." She made an appeal that a purse be sent to Cardinal Mercier for his charities to reach him on the fiftieth anniversary of his priesthood which comes in August. There was immediate response.

Officers and the presidents of the counties reported on preliminary organization work which in some instances was remarkable. Within the last two weeks, forty organizations in Southern California have joined the council. Mrs. A. H. Stuckey of San Diego said that thirteen organizations of Catholic women include a membership of more than 1000, and very recently 200 individuals have affiliated with the national organization of which this council is, since yesterday, a part. Others who spoke included Mrs. Arthur Bienbar of Long Beach, appointed head of Los Angeles county to take the place of Miss Mary O'Keefe, resigned; Miss Anna E. McCaughey of Santa Barbara, Mrs. J. H. Steward of San Bernardino, who reported consistent affiliation everywhere in that county with the Parent-Teacher Associations, and Mrs. F. J. Snyder of Orange county. Much credit and praise was given by each of these presidents to Dr. Anne M. Nicholson, a national representative, who has been doing preliminary organization work here.

OTHER REPORTS

In addition to Miss Workman's very comprehensive history of the movement and report as temporary president, other temporary officers who reported included: Mrs. Edward J. Rodden, Mrs. Charles L. Whipple, Mrs. C. D. Baker, Miss Marie Rose Mullen, Mrs. Arthur H. S. Bird of Salt Lake and Agnes Reagan, the two last named being national officers.

Permanent officers will be elected tomorrow with polls open from noon until 5 p.m., and Thursday evening the four-day session will close with a banquet at the Biltmore.

Last night Miss Reagan, who is the executive secretary of the national council, delivered an address and Rev. William J. Kerby of Washington, D. C., a member of the faculty of the Catholic University, spoke on "Problems of Maintaining Organization." The session was preceded by a musicale given by May MacDonald Hope, pianist: and by the Cecilian choir who gave Gounod's "Gallia."

Mrs. Bird, who is the second vice-president of the national council, presided.

EVENING MEETING

Mrs. Arthur H. S. Bird, second vice-president of the national council, presided at last night's meeting at the Catholic Woman's clubhouse. Talks by Rev. William J. Kerby, professor of sociology at Catholic University, Washington, D. C., Bishop Cantwell and Miss Agnes Regan, executive secretary of the national council were features of the program.

Rev. Kerby spoke on "Problems of Maintaining Organization." "No man can do his best work," he said, "unless he has a wide vision. He must interpret that vision in the light of his own circumstances and resources in order to make it practical. Out of it comes faith and belief and when he is right minded he leaves all thought of compensation to his God."

"The church gives us a vision. You can get a vision also out of the Catholic womanhood. They have been our mothers and our civilization."

Bishop Cantwell spoke of the program of the council and what it intends to accomplish. "We are setting up the great platform of charity," he said, "on which all can stand to co-operate with Almighty God in the fold and with one shepherd to show the spirit of charity and love toward God."

Music by May MacDonald Hope, pianist, was a feature of the program.

PROSECUTION OF REDS HERE IS UPHELD

City Prosecutor Friedlander received word yesterday that the State Supreme Court has decided favorably in the matter of prosecutions in Los Angeles Police Courts of members of the Industrial Workers of the World charged with violations of the restraining order of the Superior Court at Sacramento.

The Sacramento court some time ago issued an order restraining the I.W.W. from various forms of propaganda. Arrests were made here under this order from time to time, and to save the expense of sending the prisoners to Sacramento for trial for contempt of court there, Mr. Friedlander began prosecutions in the local Police Court on charges of misdemeanor.

The I.W.W. brought an action for habeas corpus in the case of Louis J. Morris, one of those arrested here. It was their contention that the local Police Court had no legal right to try a man charged with contempt of the Sacramento court. The Los Angeles prosecutions were brought under the California Penal Code, which states that contempt of a court under certain circumstances is a misdemeanor. Now the Supreme Court has upheld the practice as legal.

LACK OF PORT TARRING ARRESTS IS PROTESTED

Protests charging that harbor police are making no arrests in connection with the recent tarring and feathering of six I.W.W. members, and appear to be making no investigation, were made to Chief Vollmer yesterday by a delegation of sixteen, headed by Mrs. Kate Crane Gartz of Pasadena and Miss Marta Divers. The chief made the same reply to them that he has made to other delegations—that he will enforce the law as written and that arrests will be made when warranted. He assured them that the investigation is continuing.

"Capt. Hagenbaugh is still in charge of the harbor division, and he has instructions to handle the situation or give way to some one who can," said the chief. "So far nothing specific has been brought to my attention to show that he is not doing all in his power."

The delegation contended itself with general accusations, and did not name any persons in connection with the riot.

Suicide Letter Says Woman's Body in Ocean

The body of Mrs. Louise Wayne, 26 years of age, a saleswoman employed by a local real estate firm, is in the Pacific Ocean at Long Beach, if the woman's intentions expressed in a suicide note to Coroner Nance yesterday were carried out.

The note, which was written Sunday and mailed in Los Angeles, blames an unfortunate love affair with a Los Angeles man as responsible for the contemplated act. "When you receive this letter my body will be in the ocean at Long Beach," the letter begins.

So little credence is placed in the missive that the Long Beach authorities were not notified at a late hour yesterday of the intention of the woman.

Mrs. Wayne attempted suicide May 27, according to her own statement, by drinking chloroform. She was treated at the Receiving Hospital, later removed to the County Hospital for observation, and released last week. She was seen by a friend on the street Saturday.

Efforts to locate the woman, who formerly lived at 953 Santee street, were unavailing yesterday.

Liner Colombia Being Towed to Balboa Dry Dock

The Pacific Mail liner Colombia, which went aground last Friday off the west coast of Costa Rica, was floated yesterday and will be towed to dry dock at Balboa for repairs, according to word received here by Clay Hutchison, Southern California agent of the line.

The passengers, thirty-eight of whom are from Southern California, have been taken to Balboa and will continue their voyage to New York on ships of the United Fruit or W. R. Grace lines, Mr. Hutchison was notified.

Went Roundabout Way

A letter addressed to "Mr. Morning Eagle, Holyoke, Mass.," was forwarded to the Berkshire Eagle, Pittsfield, but the editor found that it was a personal letter addressed by an Indian in Montana to an Indian in Massachusetts and he sent it back to Holyoke in the hope that it might be delivered to Mr. Morning Eagle, says the Boston Globe.

TESTIFIES TO BOAST OF KILLING

Detective Says Cowdrey Showed Him Place Where Langley Was Slain

Testimony of C. A. McCormick, private detective, that Godfrey H. Cowdrey boasted that he had killed a man, and to back up his assertion took the detective near the scene of the slaying of Joseph Langley, created a sensation at Cowdrey's trial yesterday in Judge Reeve's court. Cowdrey is charged with murder and first-degree robbery in connection with the slaying of Langley, manager of the Alvarado Theater, during a hold-up on September 19, last.

McCormick declared he struck up an acquaintance with Cowdrey, the latter not knowing he was working on the case. One day they were walking down a residential street, McCormick said, when Cowdrey drew a pistol and fired at random. The bullets, the witness said, narrowly missed a man and a woman.

When McCormick warned him that he might kill someone he testified, Cowdrey said, "that's nothing! It wouldn't be the first." McCormick said Cowdrey, to prove his boast, took him near the Alvaradc Theater and pointed out the place where he said he killed a man.

McCormick also declared he had received a mysterious telephone call from a woman advising him to "stay off" the case.

S. E. Logan, a street-car inspector who witnessed the fatal shooting of Langley yesterday, on the stand, identified Cowdrey as the bandit who fired the shots in the hold-up.

This morning the court, jury and attorneys, accompanied by officers, will go to the scene of the murder. The trial has consumed almost a week. Court sessions will be resumed this afternoon. The case is being prosecuted by Dep. Dist.-Attys. Orme and Van Cott.

Warner Screen Interests Will be Consolidated

The filing in the Superior Court yesterday of a petition for the dissolution of Warner Brothers of California, Inc., marks the first step of Warner Brothers studio to do business in the future under one corporation instead of through separate organizations throughout the United States.

Since the formation of Warner Brothers of California, Inc., April 4, 1923, that company has been the holding company of about twenty partnerships and other companies under which Warner Brothers have operated. With the granting of a license for Warner Brothers Studio, a Delaware corporation, to do business in California, the dissolution of the old company was asked yesterday in Judge York's court. Officials of the company stated that the new arrangement would greatly facilitate the handling of the company's affairs and eliminate a great deal of book-keeping and stock record work.

The Hollywood Film Laboratory, which is owned by Warner Brothers, will continue to be operated as a separate corporation, it was stated.

Following the filing of the petition for dissolution, Judge York granted an order to show cause why the company should not be dissolved and a hearing on the order was set for July 25.

ESCAPED "TRUSTY" IS BACK TO SERVE TERM

W. C. Honeas, escaped "trusty" from the Hollywood Police Station, called Lieut. Graham yesterday morning and offered to give himself up if he was taken back to Hollywood to serve out his sentence of ninety days. He had served two days of his sentence when he took "French leave." Officers Alivas and Ferrero found him at 304 East Fifth street and he was locked up at the Hollywood station and later transferred to the Lincoln Heights Jail. He escaped December 14, 1923.

NO CREPE FOR THIS WIDOW

She Has Husband Declared Legally Dead After Long Absence

Mrs. Miriam Wallace Hawley became a widow by process of law yesterday. She did not sue for a divorce. Instead she obtained from Judge Clock a decree declaring her husband, John Thomas Hawley, legally dead.

Thirty-seven years ago, following a quarrel, Hawley passed out of her life, she said, simply dropping out of sight. From that time the only effect he had upon her existence was that his absence made it hard for her to dispose of property.

It was to remove this final vestige of her marriage that she had Hawley declared legally dead.

COUNCIL AS WHOLE TO HEAR PARKING REPORT

To save time and breath the public safety committee of the City Council yesterday returned without recommendation the much discussed report and recommendations of the special parking survey committee. The Council has set July 10 for hearing the protests of those opposed. The committee reported that it believed opponents of the report would insist on a hearing before the Council, sitting in committee of the whole, before final action was taken and could see no profit in first hearing them itself and then calling them before the Council for a second hearing.

The sentiment of the Council toward the report was strongly indicated in a remark made by Councilman Mushet, chairman of the Finance Committee, during consideration of a request from the Board of Public Utilities for $3500, with which to employ cost accounting experts in preparing the city's case against measured service and increased telephone rates, now before the State Railroad Commission.

"You'll never get it," he said, "if you tie it up as you now propose with the unexpended balance of that $10,000 appropriated for the parking survey. They want that $10,000 back right now. They're sore because they appropriated it."

Various wishes for Godspeed were expressed by the fourteen members of the staff. Mr. and Mrs. Smith will be gone about two months during which time they will visit the more important scenic and business centers on the continent and will return to America by way of the Mediterranean.

FLEET PRACTICE HERE ENDS

Battleships Will Scatter Along Coast for Fourth; to Assemble Again at Seattle

Two month's maneuvers of the battle fleet ended yesterday with the completion by the battleships California, Maryland and Tennessee of target practice thirty miles off Los Angeles Harbor.

The practice, known as advanced practice C, consisted of firing at unseen targets, hidden by a smoke screen laid down by destroyers. The targets were set adrift at a range of 14,000 yards. The battleship Idaho accompanied the ships as observer.

Tomorrow six battleships will leave the harbor for various points along the coast, where they will remain over July 4. Ships that will leave tomorrow and their destinations are: California to San Francisco, Pennsylvania and Maryland to Seattle, Oklahoma to Everett, Idaho to Santa Cruz and the Tennessee to Santa Barbara.

En route the ships will engage in tactical exercises. They will be accompanied by twenty-five destroyers and a number of submarines.

The battleship Mississippi is now at San Francisco and will remain there over July 4. The Arizona, New Mexico and Nevada are en route to Puget Sound navy yard to undergo annual overhauling. The hospital ship Relief will depart Thursday for Seattle. The aircraft tender Aroostook and the fleet repair ship Prometheus sailed yesterday for San Diego.

HARBOR DESERTED

The Aroostook, the Prometheus and two destroyers have been assigned to stations along the line of flight of the proposed air trip by fourteen navy planes from San Diego to Seattle, which is scheduled to start Friday. The planes will consist of VS Squadron No. 2, which will take the Coast route, and VF Squadron No. 2, which will fly the inland route.

Los Angeles Harbor is now practically deserted by naval craft. Practically the only vessel that will be in the harbor on July 4 will be the base force flagship Procyron. She will depart on July 8 for Mare Island for overhauling.

EX-OFFICER ON TRIAL

Standlea Accused in Death of Child Hit by His Auto

William Standlea, former member of the Long Beach police force, went on trial yesterday in Judge Collier's court on a charge of manslaughter growing out of the death of L. D. Richardson, Jr., 11 years of age, who, according to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Howell Richardson, succumbed to injuries he received when struck by an automobile driven by Standlea.

Standlea also is charged with contributing to the delinqency of a minor in a case now pending in Judge Archbald's Juvenile Court. It is asserted he sought to induce dinor girls and boys to drink intoxicating liquor while he was taking them home from a dance in the beach city.

A WELL-BRED LADY

The husband who had the playful habit of hurling loaves of bread at his wife may be excused on the hypothesis that he was a good provider. He was no half-loafer.

THE SHRINKAGE

One of the government bureaus is trying to find out why underwear shrinks. Uncle Sam might also be worrying why so many statesmen shrink and become undersized when exposed to the Washington air.

EVERYBODY SATISFIED

A wise society woman gives commonplace prizes at the bridge games at her home. She says it satisfies everybody. The winners are tickled with the glory of victory and the losers can whisper to one another that they were glad they didn't get the prize, anyhow.

THE GREAT DANES

Danish royalty may not have known of Doug and Mary nor have been ready to extend them the freedom of the palace, but the citizens of Copenhagen were not so dense. They turned out in massive numbers to give the Prince and Princess of Hollywood popular greeting and they fought for the chance of kissing Mary's hand. By this time Doug thinks the Danes are great. There is nothing rotten in Denmark.

MEETING THE MORTGAGE

There are said to be over 7,000,000 mortgaged homes in America. In most cases the mortgage is not evidence of hardship and disaster but rather of thrift and prosperity. It is figured that it is better for the citizen to own a home with a mortgage on it than it is to be forever paying rent. If the home happens to be in Los Angeles the increasing value of the property not only takes care of the interest but of the mortgage itself. The mortgage debt of the nation is increasing at the rate of nearly $1,000,000,000 a year, but this is nothing to worry about. In most cases a mortgage can be counted as a double investment. It works both ways.

NUMBERING AUTOMOBILES

Lengthy automobile numbers are apparently responsible for the get-away of many violent criminals. Instances where the bandits have left their motor running outside of a bank while they held it up, and yet could not be traced afterward because the bystanders could not remember the lengthy numerals on the car, are cited by police of many cities.

Psychological tests to determine just what sort of combinations are easiest to recall are recommended to the license bureaus. Also the matter of background must be taken into consideration. Yellow or orange numbers against a black plate write themselves indelibly on the observer's memory. Tests have shown that some numbers that can be recalled with startling vividness in certain colors are immediately forgotten if shown in different hues.

AMONG THE REDS

The St. Paul convention, blazoned as a third party movement, immediately fell into step with Moscow. The platform calls for speedy recognition of the Russian soviet administration. For this country it also demands control of industry by the workers and free loans by the government to farmers. The Federal reserve and national banking acts are to be repealed and all utilities nationalized. Workers' pensions are also to be provided and the use of the injunction in labor disputes denied—unless it be solicited on behalf of the worker. The platform is a complete surrender to Socialism as interpreted by Russia—which is not Socialism but class reversal. It would take government from the hands of those who are trained and competent and put it in the keeping of irresponsibles. Such a platform may serve as a mouthpiece for some of the radical labor leaders, but otherwise it is so much wind.

OUT OF BOUNDS

With the fences the various parties are putting up it begins to look as if there were no place left for Bob La Follette. He cannot well remain within the boundaries of the Republican camp. He has abused the hospitality of the host too much for that. After announcing his platform in rebuttal of the Cleveland decision he cannot consistently retain a Republican connection. The St. Paul convention of the Farmer-Labor forces was presumed to be in tune with the La Follette motif but it broke from its moorings and the harmony was lost. If it is a third party it is so red that it resembles an explosion. Whatever else may be said of Bob La Follette he is still in favor of retaining the United States of America—and especially the United States Senate—in which he finds his living. La Follette might line up with the radical Democrats, but there are not so many of them as people think. There is really no party lane through which La Follette can erectly walk. His wobbly feet are sure to steer him into some other road. The only thing for him is to have a La Follette party of his own. Then he will feel no sense of responsibility and be under no obligations to fetter his soul. If there were no other members of the party but himself so much the better. He could create new issues daily and be sure of having them accepted.

THE DEMOCRATIC DILEMMA

This is the week the Democratic spellbinders will devote to viewing with alarm the national achievements of the last four years under two Republican chieftains. They will tell how everything that has been done could have been done so much better under a Democratic administration. They cannot deny that the country has been prosperous, but they will say it is only a fictitious prosperity. They will blame the Republican party for the low price of wheat and of cattle on the hoof. They will ask for a reduction in freight rates and an increase in pay for railroad employees. They will advocate that the government shall engage in new activities that would about double the cost of government; and they will promise to reduce taxes.

They will promise the railroad brotherhoods that the Democrats will take over the railroads again and in the same breath promise reduced transportation rates. If extravagant promises could bring about a change of administration the success of the Democratic party in November would be assured; for Coolidge was careful that no promises should be made in the Republican platform that could not be fulfilled.

But there is no limit to the pledges that Democratic politicians are willing to make to catch votes. The waste of public money under the second Wilson administration was greater than in any other four administrations since the Constitution was adopted; yet the Democratic leaders will promise to run the government more economically than it has been run during the last four years.

And the voters of the country must take their choice between Democratic promises and Republican performance. The Democratic keynoter will grow eloquent over what the Democrats are going to do. The Republican temporary chairman spoke of what the Republican party had done.

Both parties promise an efficient and economical administration. The people must judge by past performance which of the two is the more likely to keep its promises. It is a question of confidence. Can the Democratic convention nominate a ticket that will inspire a confidence equal to that which the people repose in Coolidge and Dawes. This is the question that is the despair of the Democratic leaders.

Adopting a platform is not with the Democrats a serious business; for the leaders are well aware that Democratic platforms are never taken seriously. But the rub comes in selecting the national candidates.

McAdoo seems to have the most delegates, yet not enough to give him the nomination. His candidacy is espoused by the railroad brotherhoods; and Gompers is very sympathetic. But it must be remembered that Gompers and the railroad brotherhoods made an intensive campaign four years ago for Cox. McAdoo is loudly denouncing "big business." Yet the people know that he has devoted his political and professional services during the last four years to the interests of the "big business" he now denounces. Such a record does not inspire confidence.

Gov. Smith of New York has the second largest collection of delegates. But Gov. Smith is Tammany Hall. Tammany made him Governor and seeks to make him President. A candidate who wears the stripes of the Tammany tiger is not likely to win the confidence of the taxpayers. His professions will not separate him from his doubtful following.

After these come the dark horses. There are statesmen in the Democratic party; but they are not popular with the rank and file. The Tammany leaders are not looking for statesmen and Tammany is a powerful force in a Democratic convention. Gov. Smith's supporters will point to his record as chief executive of the great State of New York. But the people are apt to suspect that for the last year and a half he and Tammany have been on their good behavior, with a Democratic Presidential nomination in prospect. Once installed in Washington Tammany might discard its present piety.

The trouble with the Democratic party is that its popular leaders are not statesmen and that its statesmen are not popular enough with the rank and file to win a nomination.

JAPANESE IN SOUTH AMERICA

While the Japanese may not expand in America, they are likely to form colonies in the republics to the south of us. It was recently asserted that nearly 3000 Japanese colonists are about to settle in Brazil and that that country might become a fertile arena for the surplus population of Nippon.

Thus far no South American government has officially registered hostility to Japanese immigration. Outside of Brazil most of the Japanese in South America are engaged in trade and shipping. The attempts to colonize the Japanese in Brazil began many years back, when it was found that rice cultivation could be made profitable. But when they came Brazilian workers remonstrated. The extent of such immigration is not clear. The government figures are incomplete and the Japanese themselves are noncommittal. The Japs are not pleased with conditions. They were ready to work in the rice fields, but the Brazilians wanted to put them on the coffee plantations—labor that they do not like. It is also said that the Japanese will not mingle with the native Brazilians and that their hardships are acute. There are no schools for their young. Most of them return to Japan when their contracts have expired.

Now a member of the Brazilian Congress has offered a bill for Japanese exclusion along the lines of American legislation and the Japs are turning to Argentina. There the large land owners would welcome the Japanese for their energy and application, but the Japs would not be content to take the place of the ordinary peons, who are little better than slaves. The Japanese would not endure exploitation. They wish to work for themselves.

Argentina is willing to encourage Japanese activities in the Chaco district, along the northern border. Cotton is now being grown there, but under conditions endurable only by those accustomed to hardships and hot climates. If the Japs can stand it they can have command of this industry. In Argentina an immigrant from Japan can become a citizen in two years. In Brazil it takes ten.

Other attempts toward Japanese colonization have not been blessed with success. A writer of the Southland reports that there were riots in Callao three years ago when attempts were made to bring Japanese into competition with the local labor of Peru.

Paraguay is seeking to enlist Japanese interest in colonization projects in connection with the tobacco and cotton industries, but thus far without success. The living and working conditions of the natives in most of the South American countries are distressing, especially in the outlying provinces. Arrivals from Japan will not submit to this sort of treatment. But there are several countries where the Japs may find an anchorage of their own—to the extent of owning the lands and transacting all the business incident thereto.

FEMININE BUDGETS

Now that budgets have become so fashionable Harper's Bazaar steps forward with a real helpful one. It outlines the manner in which one may struggle along on a paltry income of $250,000 a year. One gleans from this that one may, by cutting the corners here and there and not overindulging one's riotous tastes and whimsies, come out even at the end of the year.

The budget is contributed by an eastern millionairess, who admits that she is able to skim along so nicely because she lives in the country and is not extravagant in the matter of clothes. Presumably a person inhabiting a metropolitan center might find it difficult to stay within the harsh confines of this flat sum. But by cutting the cost of her wardrobe down from $20,000 to $8000 a year the lady is enabled to get by and even afford the luxury of three children.

Some of the economies to which she is forced to stoop will strike a sympathetic note in the average feminine breast. Who can restrain a throb of pity to learn that she makes the same mink coat do her for three years? And, like many of her humbler sisters, she never buys handkerchiefs, depending on Christmas to supply her with these essentials. One can but hope that she gets better ones than Santa is wont to leave at our door. In the matter of hats the lady's taste runs riot, but one reads with no little surprise that she is fearfully economical in the matter of hose, some months purchasing but two pairs. Either they are of unusually durable quality or else she is a devout disciple of the hoseless style. So, by buying few stockings and no handkerchiefs and making the same mink coat and jewelry last her for three years, she skimps along, albeit admitting that she does not cut an exceedingly smart figure.

A more interesting budget would be the one some damsel on a small salary would get out. Most of the working girls have more snap and style than their sisters of leisure. But few of them plan or budget their expenditures. They just purchase a pretty hat and skip lunch for a couple of months. The economists wouldn't approve of the system, but the results are pleasing and highly satisfactory to the feminine soul.

BEST SELLERS FOR WOMEN

The June International Book Review presents the prize-winning essay of the General Federation of Women's Clubs on the subject of "What Women Like to Read." From this we learn that they are fond of biography, soulful poetry and fiction that is true to life, without either being highly romantic or excessively naughty. Authors with their eyes on feminine patronage are evidently supposed to keep these facts well in mind when they pour out their souls on their typewriters.

As a matter of fact, this description hardly fits the average feminine taste. Club women are mature women, thoroughly settled and apt to be conservative. But the great mass of femininity likes its romance hot and throbbing and highly improbable. Assuredly "The Sheik" did not make its author rich off of sales to the masculine sex. Women, young and old, were the chief patrons of that colorful romance. Women who are blase may pass up the sentimental tomes, but they like "their salmon buried and their mutton high," despite the prize-winner's edict against such a literary menu.

Actually there is small difference between the masculine and feminine taste in reading matter, with the exception of the male flair for adventure stories. Some readers like their meat raw and some prefer serious and uplifting literary nourishment. But by far the majority of both sexes like something that has a romantic tinge, as a glance at any magazine stand will disclose.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

"Sing a Song o' Twopence"

The president of the Reichstag is calling the roll. When he reaches the name of Field Marshal Erich von Ludendorff there is a commotion. But the old soldier answers to his name with a stentorian military "Present," when suddenly a peal of laughter breaks loose. Ripples of laughter, volumes and waves of convulsive laughter follow that first outburst. At first the Fascist members with their square monocles and shaven heads maintain an angry and haughty silence, but at last they can stand it no longer and they begin to howl and yell. The Socialists and other Reds start the "Internationale" and the Nationalists reply with "Deutschland Uber Alles." Song singing seems to become rather the universal vogue at political meetings. Lady Astor, when heckled by women in the Glasgow by-election campaign, started "Keep the Home Fires Burning." In Canada the conservatives, after listening to a strong imperialist speech, rose as one man and sang "God Save the King," and the French Canadian liberals and nationalists replied with "Oh, Canada, terre de nos aieux," followed by the famous shanty song," Alouette." Dr. Luther once said: "Don't be afraid to enter the home where you hear a song; only good people sing." It's true while you sing you don't think of beating up anybody. But afterward? Gustave Adolph and his soldiers sang a psalm before battle and afterward licked the Pappenheimers.

Raising a Ghost

A singular request to the British government has been made by the soviet delegation now in London. They want to dig up the bones of Karl Marx and ship them to Moscow, where they plan to bury them again next to the mausoleum of Nicolai Ilytch Oulianov, commonly known as Lenin. The Bolshevists have gone to some pains from time to time to establish definitely that they are the legitimate and lineal descendants of Marx. They claim to be the genuine practitioners of the doctrines of which Marx was the theorist. To have his bones in their midst would go some way to prove the validity of their statement. Moreover, the Bolshevists know the character of the Russian people and the remains of Lenin and Marx would be valuable substitutes for the bones and relics of Russian saints, which have been venerated for centuries. Against the claims of the Reds appears Jean Longuet, Deputy to the French Chamber and grandson of Marx. He also calls himself a Marxist, but at the same time is the deadly enemy of the Bolshevists.

RIPPLING RHYMES

OBSERVING THE SABBATH

The roads are black with motors upon the Sabbath day, for all the country's voters and wives are out at play; a million autos chooing, with sweating cops pursuing; there's surely something doing along the great highway. "Remember," saith the preacher, "to keep the day aright; let not grandstand or bleacher to godless joys invite; don't go, with friend or buddy, where lights are glowing ruddy, but spend the day in study and say your prayers at night. Remember," saith the pastor, "this is the day of rest; you're moving to disaster by all this pleasure quest; the Sacred Book is pleading for your attentive reading, while Sabbath hours are speeding to sunset in the west." And still the cars go swishing, with high and honking notes, to creeks where there is fishing, to lakes where there are boats; the pleasure-seekers sally to picnics in the valley or on the golf links rally, with nifty pants and coats. They all are merrymakers, the people of this day; they look on men as fakers who do not romp and play; and Sunday is the season when staying home is treason; there is no rhyme or reason in missing fun, they say. The pastor, softly, kindly, is calling them to kirk; they choo-choo past him blindly, to where the joy hounds lurk; each is a merrymaker, the smith, the undertaker, the plumber and the baker, the tinner and the clerk.

LETTERS TO The Times

Honor to Whom Honor Is Due

LOS ANGELES, June 18.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In your Sunday's issue there appeared a very interesting account of the removal and expansion of "McKinley Home for Boys," one of the most genuinely useful and practical institutions in the social and spiritual life of Los Angeles.

Near the beginning of the article I read a sentence which, by its omission rather than its content, carried a pang of pain to the hearts of those friends who have been in touch with the home from its inception.

The sentence ran as follows: "The story began with a dream of a man named Gregory, who, thirty years ago, founded the McKinley Industrial Home for Boys."

This is the only reference made to the work of Dr. Uriah Gregory in establishing, organizing and conducting the McKinley home, to which his entire strength and time were devoted during the later years of his life.

At first the "Home" consisted of a single homeless boy, taken into the family of Dr. Gregory at Artesia for protection, education and training.

But, in the zeal of his generous spirit, reinforced by the hearty cooperation of his wife, the number soon grew beyond the capacity of his home and they appealed to the generous among their personal friends to assist in establishing an ample and permanent "Home for Homeless Boys."

Out of this tireless zeal grew the present "McKinley Home for Boys," so named by its founder in honor of the then President of the United States, who visited the city about that time.

In view of the persistent and unselfish devotion of Dr. and Mrs. Gregory to the realization of a great purpose in the interest of humanity, involving much personal sacrifice and anxiety, should not some permanent recognition be given to the inestimable services of these good people by attaching the family name to some cottage or other permanent structure to be erected at the new site at Van Nuys? Ability as Member of Congress

LOS ANGELES, June 9.—[To the Editor of The Times:] On reading the article in The Times of May 30 and being a Republican voter and a property owner in the Tenth Congress District, I am led to say I have known Capt. Fredericks for a good many years, I feel I can say I know something of his ability as a member of Congress from this, the Tenth Congress District, and I can say I know something of his worth as a man and a gentleman and that I almost know we will have no difficulty in electing him at the coming election to fill the position he now so ably represents. How a man like Criswell, who so plainly shows us what he is as a Councilman, can allow his name to be used as a candidate to represent the Tenth Congress District, when we have such a man as Capt. Fredericks in that position, surely is a surprise to many voters. CECELIA J. CATTING.

More About Mars

LOS ANGELES, June 19.—[To the Editor of The Times:] On the editorial page of the issue of even date of your paper you publish an article on the planet of Mars, by William H. Knight. If the gentleman will look up the positions of the planets relative to the earth for June 19, in the Nautical Almanac, he will readily perceive that the bright evening star a few degrees above the eastern horizon is the giant planet Jupiter, which crowns our meridian at 10:56 tonight.

Stated technically, his position is: Right ascension, 16 hours, 48 minutes, 7.2 seconds; declination, 21 deg., 46 minutes, 11.7 seconds.

Now as to our old friend Mars—he rises about midnight and crosses our meridian at 4:17.8 a.m.

Technically stated, his position for today is: hours, 6 minutes and declination, 15 deg. seconds. He will reach or be in line with August 23 next. His brightness will occur His maximum will be on August 21.11 seconds of arc—a angle, indeed.

He will reach his nearest point in his sun August 30.

Mars, therefore, will ly in the evening position. EDWIN

INJUNCTION IN WEEVIL CASE

Arizona Cotton Growers Get Temporary Writ

State Halted in Plan to Destroy 7300 Acres

Special Master to Sit in Final Adjudication

Destruction by the State of Arizona of 7300 acres of cotton asserted to be infested with boll weevil is prevented by a temporary injunction granted Arizona cotton raisers yesterday by three Federal judges sitting in the office of Judge Erskine H. Ross of the Circuit Court of Appeal. The court order followed a hearing filed by Thomas J. Smith in the United States Court of Arizona against the Arizona Commission of Agriculture and Horticulture, Oscar C. Bartlett, State Entomologist; John W. Murphy, Attorney General of the State of Arizona, and K. Berry Peterson, County Attorney of Pima county.

Evidence submitted by the plaintiff, a cotton raiser acting in the suit as representative of all the cotton raisers in what is known as the Postvale or noncotton zone, went to show that no boll weevils are to be found in the area. The evidence included an affidavit to that effect by W. Dwight Pierce, consulting entomologist and biologist, of Banning, Cal., whose investigations have made his name a part of the scientific designation of the boll weevil found on wild cotton in the mountains of Arizona—Anthonomous Grandis Thurberiae-Pierce.

It was contended for the defense that strict quarantine regulations imposed by Arizona had been necessary for the protection of cultivated cotton in that State against inroads by the insect found on the native cotton. Enforcement of rigid rules relative to the destruction of infested plants and the designation of noncotton areas had also protected cotton in the Imperial Valley against the pest, it was explained. The boll weevil was found in the Arizona domestic cotton a year ago, and, it was argued that the consensus of scientific opinion showed the native boll weevil to be as dangerous to the domestic cotton as is the Texas, or Mexican boll weevil.

Inspectors of the Arizona Commission of Agriculture and Horticulture recently ordered destruction of all the cotton growing on 7300 acres in Santa Cruze, Pima and Pinal counties. Under the order the State was to reimburse the cotton growers to the extent of $33 an acre. Court action instituted by the growers resulted in a restraining order issued by Federal Judge F. C. Jacobs at Prescott. As the question involved the constitutionality of action by State officials, the case came up for further hearing before the three Federal judges. These were Judges Ross, Jacobs and Bledsoe.

The court held yesterday that the evidence submitted by the defense was insufficient to prove the situation to constitute a public menace. Judge Jacobs announced he probably would submit the case to a special master in chancery within the next ten days at Prescott, and that his ruling on the petition for permanent injunction would follow a report of the master.

At the hearing yesterday the plaintiff was represented by Frank E. Curley, Samuel L. Kingan and Samuel L. Pattee of Tucson. Appearing for the defense were Atty.-Gen. Murphy, County Attorney Peterson, Ernest D. Lewis, Louis Whitney and Charles Wolfe.

HOLLYWOOD STARTS WELL IN "Y" DRIVE

More than $65,000 was reported yesterday as the result of the first day's work in the Hollywood $250,000 Y.M.C.A. campaign for a 100-room dormitory at Hudson and Selma avenues. Of this sum $25,000 each was contributed by Taft Land and Development Company and A. J. Sayre. $10,000 was donated by J. N. Warrington. Daily breakfast meetings are being held during the campaign at the Hollywood Athletic Club when team captains and division commanders confer with Ira L. Thomas, campaign chairman, on the work for the coming day. These meetings are at 7:30 o'clock. The noon luncheons are at 12.

GOES TO LONDON AS ENGLISH BAR GUEST

Robert M. Clarke

From fifteen to twenty members of the local bar, headed by Robert M. Clarke as president of the Los Angeles County Bar Association, will make the pilgrimage to London, where from July 19 to 26, inclusive, American lawyers will be guests of the English bar. Mr. Clarke says that about 3500 members of the American Bar Association will be in attendance, the London gathering following the association's national convention at Philadelphia. Mr. Clarke, who will be accompanied by his wife, will leave here Thursday.

The visit, Mr. Clarke explains, will be in return for the custom of the British bar to send the Lord Chief Justice or the Chancellor to conventions of the American bar. Lord Shaw of the Privy Council not long ago was in Los Angeles as guest of the County Bar Association.

"One of the most important features of the gathering will be to study the British system with relation to its speedy justice with application to our own problems in this country," Mr. Clarke said yesterday. "It also will serve to increase the good feeling between British and American lawyers, who have common ground in that Britain and the Dominions and the United States have the English common law as a basis for legal procedure."

As evidence of this good feeling, the American visitors will present a statue of Sir William Blackstone to the English bar for installation at London. While Blackstone was an Englishman, his commentaries were adopted in this country just before the Revolutionary War and have remained the standard. The English since that time have adopted other standards.

Among the entertainment features will be visits to the law courts for study of English procedure, dinners at Four Inns Court and Law Society, a reception by American Ambassador Kellogg and Mrs. Kellogg, a reception and banquet given by the Lord Mayor, and a garden party given by Lord and Lady Astor.

The Irish, Scottish and the French bars have invited the visitors to visit those countries and many of the delegates will make side trips after the London gathering.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke will remain abroad for three months, visiting several countries on the continent.

ROAST BEEF TO FEATURE OBSERVANCE

Will Play Its Part With Religion at Celebration of Rescue Mission

Roast beef and religion will each play its own good part in the celebration of the seventh anniversary of the founding of the Midnight Rescue Mission, to be conducted at 135 South Los Angeles street at 6 p.m. tomorrow. "Brother" Tom Liddecoat, head of the Mission, announced yesterday that food for hungry stomachs and the bread of life for hungry hearts will be free to all who care to attend. The program will include music and addresses by Dr. Glen MacWilliams and others.

"Midnight Mission Anniversary Week" also will include a special song service at 7:30 p.m. next Thursday, with the Brotherhood of the Westlake Presbyterian Church in charge, services next Friday and Saturday evenings and all-day services next Sunday, starting at 7 a.m.

"We have no law but love, no creed but Christ, and our aim is to help men help themselves," said Mr. Liddecoat. "No one is ever turned away from our mission. A man's need of food, clothing, a bed to sleep in or of a comforting word entitles him to membership in our Mission family and to a place in the hearts of those who manage this home for the unfortunate men of Los Angeles."

FIRE SETTER FINED

Rancher Pleads Guilty to Charge of Starting Five Blazes

Joe Barlogio, a rancher of San Luis Obispo county, pleaded guilty before Federal Judge McCormick yesterday to a charge of setting five fires in the Santa Barbara National Forest and was fined $75. A recommendation of leniency was made by the United States District Attorney in view of the fact the Barlogio bore a good reputation and because he voluntarily had pleaded guilty to the charge.

Forest officers discovered the fires and put them out soon after Barlogio set them on May 18, last. Following a three-days' investigation it was learned that Barlogio started the fires. He explained he merely intended to burn off brush for the purpose of improving deer hunting.

MINER IN FEDERAL TOILS

Floyd A. Stevens, a miner, was arrested yesterday by William Ashe, of the United States Secret Service, on a charge of forging and cashing a $100 government check. Stevens was placed in jail pending removal to San Francisco where an indictment is said to have been returned against him.

NOT GUILTY IS PLEA IN RENTZ CASE

Whittier Man Released on $500 Bond; Accused of Weible Slaying

Henry C. Rentz, employed at a grocery store in Whittier, waived arraignment yesterday in Judge Crail's court on a charge of murder of Louis Weible on May 19 last, and pleaded not guilty to the charge. Rentz was released by the justices court at Whittier on $500 cash bail pending his trial. He was represented by S. S. Hahn and the case is being prosecuted by Dept. Dist.-Atty. Hamner. The defendant appeared in court with his wife.

It is charged that when Rentz came home and found Weible alone there with his wife, a quarrel ensued, during which the latter was shot.

Rentz was exonerated on the ground of self-defense by the Coroner's jury, but it was stated that the nature of the case requires that the facts be placed before a jury.

AGENTS BUY RUM, JAIL MAN

Seventy dollars was the price Federal dry agents yesterday reported paying for ten gallons of moonshine liquor which they said they purchased from J. E. McDonald at 3007 Brighton street. Following the asserted transaction the agents placed McDonald in jail and his automobile in storage. They said McDonald had the liquor in his car in the rear of his residence.

Residents of Maywood Are Thief Victims

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

MAYWOOD, June 23.—Bandits have been active in this vicinity in the last few nights. They entered the Robinson residence at Fifty-third and Pine streets, and left after removing all the window shades. At a vacant house on Fifty-second street they removed all the bathroom fixtures and stole a touring car parked in that vicinity. At the Nicholson residence they took a large amount of clothing. The Union Central Market on Slauson avenue in this city was also entered and merchandise valued at more than $300 was stolen. It is said that a truck was used in carrying away the goods at this place. Entrance was made by forcing a lock from the door.

POSTMEN SEEK FUNDS

Public Urged to Buy Tickets to Carriers' Benefit Picnic

Letter carriers of Los Angeles yesterday made a direct appeal to the public to support their benefit picnic at Echo Park on July 4, by asking the postman at the door for tickets. The picnic is for the purpose of clearing up a deficit in the band and sick benefit fund of the Angel City branch of the Letter Carriers' Asociation. While the postmen will not solicit the public, they hope that the public will ask them for tickets.

The picnic will be an all-day affair and will last till midnight. Fireworks, pageantry, sports and music will feature the occasion. A Spanish barbecue will be served at noon.

DURKIN WILL NOT OPPOSE EXTRADITION

Murder Suspect is Ready to Face Charges as Officials in East Take Action

Andrew J. Durkin, murder suspect held here for authorities of Newark, N. J., announced yesterday that he will not resist extradiction from California because the charge against him can never be made "to stick."

At the same time police received another telegram from Fred Welmer, chief of county detectives at Newark, in which it was stated that extradition proceedings will be started at once and that a copy of the indictment against the slayer suspect is being forwarded. Durkin, at one time a police officer at Newark, is charged with the murder of a fellow officer during a "hi-jacking" raid in which he, the slain man and several other officers participated.

His arrest came during the round-up of a gang of asserted automobile thieves who employed him as their selling agent in the disposal of parts and tires from stripped cars, according to police. The asserted members of this ring under arrest are Harry Sinclair, alias Jack Baker; James Gillette, alias Clinton; Frank Barr, George Bailey and D. F. Haffy. The last is held on a charge of receiving stolen property while the others are charged with grand larceny.

The arrest of Sinclair, Gillette and Barr in a rented car at Seventh and Alvarado streets by Patrolman Freeman gave the police leads which resulted in the rounding up of Durkin and the other two asserted members of the band, it was stated.

The suspects deny the charges.

Police Recruits to Get Training Under New Rule

Three months' training under a new system began yesterday for 135 police recruits at the State Armory at Exposition Park, under Capt. Finlinson. The men were sworn in, but were given no badges or other police authority and will receive none until their training is successfully ended.

They will have physical training, instruction in police duty and target practice. The target practice will be conducted by Officer T. W. Dinwiddie, an expert pistol shot and former captain in the Army.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

Of much interest to society in the Southland is the wedding of yesterday afternoon when Miss Doreen Kavanagh, daughter of Mrs. J. C. Kavanagh, plighted her troth to William W. Campbell, the ceremony being performed in the rectory of St. Basl's Church, Rev. Father Kirk officiating. Only members of the two families were present at the ceremony but afterwards an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's mother when friends dropped in for a piece of the wedding cake and to wish the young couple "God speed." The bride who is State champion golfer wore a becoming going away frock of English tweeds with smart silk hat to match, a corsage of orchids and lilies of the valley completing the costume. Mrs. Kavanagh gave her daughter into the keeping of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Percival Thompson of Coronado (Mary Alice Kavanagh) was her sister's only atttendant. John C. Nivin served Mr. Campbell as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell left last evening for the north stopping en route at various points of interest, and they will sail from New York on the Homeric, July 12, for six months trip abroad where they will play on all the famous links both on the continent and the British Isles. After their return they will make their home here.

SLEEP—No. 2.

Last week and the week before we had three papers on Insomnia and yesterday we had our first paper on Sleep. I'll review the paper on Sleep.

There are several theories as to the cause and nature of sleep. According to Collins, they are as follows: There is a lessening of the volume and velocity of the blood in the brain; the contact between the nerve filaments is broken during sleep; sleep is of a chemical nature; the biological theory—sleep is instinctive.

The amount of sleep necessary evidently varies. It is generally considered that eight hours of sleep is a normal amount, but many thrive on less. However, this combined sleep and rest in bed is a good working rule. Children need and must have nine to twelve hours. We can sleep too much, when lassitude and stupidity result. Now go on with the story:

Question: What causes sleepiness during the daytime?

Answer: Lack of sleep at night; hearty meals during which time much blood is attracted to the digestive organs; auto-intoxication with its poisonous effects upon the nerve centers; general anemia; overweight, especially if it is due to a lack of thyroid or pituitary secretion (perhaps one out of 100 cases of extreme weight is due to this.)

Q.: Is it wise to eat anything at all before going to sleep?

A.: Yes, if hungry, for hunger will cause sleepeasness. A bowl of hot soup or a glass of hot milk can be taken, or some similar light food. Those who are reducing often find that they have difficulty in going to sleep unless they leave fifty to 100 calories of their allotted number for the day, to be taken at bedtime.

Q.: What is the best position to sleep in?

A.: The right side is considered perhaps the most comfortable for the heart; and this position also favors the emptying of the stomach, should it be necessary. In general, it can be said the position that is most comfortable is the best position to sleep in. Nightmare and snoring are more apt to come on while one is lying on the back. It seems to be wisest to sleep on one side part of the night and on the other side the rest of the night. It has been recommended to those who have weak abdominal muscles and gas that they sleep on the abdomen.

Q.: Is it wise to sleep out of doors in cold climates?

A.: Yes. The only precaution is to be sure you are dressed warmly enough. If you ever have slept out of doors, you know that sleeping indoors, no matter how good the ventilation is, seems a makeshift. The refreshment that comes from outdoor sleeping is so superior, there is no comparison.

If you can arrange to sleep out of doors, do so. You will never regret it. During cold weather you must see that you have sufficient night clothes on, and that you have sufficient bed clothes to keep you warm. It would be well to wear a warm night cap also. Sleeping cold would nullify the good effects of outdoor sleeping.

During sleep, the respiration and blood velocity are lessened. The temperature is lowered, the secretions are lessened (except that of the skin.) The blood pressure is also lowered during sleep.

These are the reasons you must be warmly covered. Children and babies (say after six months) as well as adults, are markedly benefited by outdoor sleeping. If you canot sleep out of doors, place your bed at an open window.

Q.: Is it wise to sleep after a hearty meal?

A.: No, it is not. The muscular activity of the stomach is retarded during sleep. Because of this, the food is retained too long and hyperacidity may be the result. Lying down, without sleeping, however, does not lessen the activity of the stomach but rather causes a better digestion. Eating hearty meals at night is undoubtedly [illegible] cause of some intestinal [illegible] ances. Sleep does not [illegible] the intestinal digestion, but [illegible] ently it does with [illegible] tion.

How Can A Mirror Lie?

Eight feet away from a mirror a woman with a coarse skin may look beautiful. But when she stands close up, the mirror does not lie. Real beauty depends on a fine textured skin — a skin whose pores are as fine as in childhood. And it is this simple truth which Vivaudou of Paris has so well utilized in the creation of his new astringent cream which

Keeps Pores Young

THE LAST WORD.

BY ALMA WHITAKER

THIS FREEDOM

So finally they all undertook to stand by me in my shame. I sallied forth bright and early, with all my hair on for the last time. The haughty lady who arranges these things approached me inquiringly.

"I want my hair bobbed," I remarked as casually as I could.

"First bob?" she inquired practically.

"Yes."

"Shingle or straight?"

"I don't know."

"Curl afterward?"

"Yes, I—er—I think so."

"We can take you in ten minutes."

Yes, I lived through that ten minutes. Then I was led to the slaughter. A capable young person removed by sacred hairpins for the last time.

That's all she knew. As she flourished those awful scissors in her dreadfully competent hands I shuddered. I closed my eyes. There are some sights we cannot bear to look upon, some suffering too poignant to witness.

Clip! Clip! Clip!

It had gone. "Now, don't go crying; it don't look half bad," she grinned. "Why, say, dearie, you are going to look real cute."

"Does anybody cry?" I wanted to know.

"Oh, once in a way one o' them stages a performance," grinned the expert. "But I don't believe in 'em. All put on, I think."

"I feel pretty good myself," I acknowledged. And really, don't you know, I didn't look half as awful as I was prepared to look.

"Sure you do. And when I've curled you up you are going to feel pretty nifty. The worst will be the day after tomorrow, when the curl comes out and the bristly ends look sort of queer. And you're going to be kind o' scared to take off your hat. But by this time next week you'll know just how to handle it. The back is the hard part. Easy enough to make the front look cute. Say, dearie, don't you have them marcel waves, they ain't your style. Round curls, that's what you want. You can do 'em yourself with the curling iron, too."

And so the dear girl rambled on, oozing consolation. Still, she was quite right. I certainly felt "pretty nifty."

She packed my discarded screw of hair into a nice little bag with the hairpins. "Better keep 'em to show your grandchildren," she giggled.

The next item on the program was an adjustable bandeau to make my hat fit. It appears I shall never be so fat-headed again. Then I sailed down Broadway feeling the world was mine.

That was three days ago—and I vow the world is still mine. The office and the family took it awfully well. No one has said a word about lost dignity—maybe I hadn't much to lose. Even the 4-year-old entirely approved and said I looked "nice and funny." The cook is even jealous—wonders if she won't bob her own now. "It's took five years off your age," she beamed.

And hubby thought it a matter for proper celebration—what about a little dinner downtown—where we could dance? You see, I looked like dancing . . .

Of course, it calls for couple of new hats—something rather sporty and cute.

"Gee, I'm glad you bobbed it," said the milliner. "I wondered why you held out so long. All the hats look better on bobbed heads this year. Now, what about this little imported model . . ."

Ah, there is dear old Grandma Fielding, 71 years young and still bubbling.

"I've done it. Look!" I gurgled as I whipped off my hat and ran my fingers independently through my skittish hair.

"Ugh! You didn't beat me. Look at mine. I did it two weeks ago," grinned grandma. . .

VARIOUS WAYS IN WHICH FISH SLEEP

Fishes, writes a correspondent, sleep as regularly as human beings, but since they have no eyelids they do not appear to sleep. Most species sleep at night and rest upon the bottom and some kinds even lie upon their sides. Fishes are for the most part light sleepers; it is difficult to observe them when they are asleep, for the least increase in light is likely to arouse them. All we know about sleeping fish we have learned from a species in aquariums.

The common salt-water blackfish, or tautog, lies on his side and is such a sound sleeper that you can easily watch him in an aquarium. The tautog, resting on one side, often has his mouth half open and you can well imagine he is snoring. Another curious thing about sleeping fish is that most of them put on nightgowns, so to speak. The tautog always dons stripes and spots of black when he goes to bed, and the common scup, or porgy, which is silvery gray when awake and swimming around, goes to sleep among the roots of eel grass or seaweed and changes to a striped coat of brown and gray that exactly matches his surroundings and protects him from his enemies.

A fish that changes still more when he sleeps is the green parrot fish of our southern waters. During the day he is clear turquoise green, but as soon as he goes to the bottom to rest among the stones and weeds he fades to dull olive and blotches appear upon his body, so that it is hard to see him among his surroundings. But if a parrot fish is placed in an aquarium with a plain green bottom he keeps his coat of green and does not change. If a few pebbles or other objects are put into the aquarium a few spots will appear upon the fish as he sleeps, and as fast as such objects are added more and more blotches appear. No one who is unfamiliar with the habits of the parrot fish would ever dream that the handsome green creature swimming 'round in the water belonged to the same species as the dull olive and brown fish resting sound asleep among the rocks and weeds on the bottom.—[Youth's Companion.

QUEBEC TAKES TO BUSTLING TAXICABS

Amid echoes of raucous horns and flashes of brilliant color, Canada's oldest city is making its first acquaintance with taxicabs. Twenty of them have been put into operation by a pioneer company in time to catch the summer tourist travel, and a rival concern is ready to enter the field.

The first appearance of the taxi in the tiny crooked streets scattered on the hillside of old Quebec will raise no ghosts. The great Laval will not step down from his bronze pedestal, nor will Champlain disturb the stone in which he has been carved. Louis Herbert, the first settler; Joliet, who explored the Mississippi; Frontenac and the Duchess d'Aiguillon, Richlieu's niece, will not stalk the streets in protest. The Micmacs, the Abenakis and the friendly Hurons will remain at peace.

If there is anything disturbing in the modern automobile, those history makers have long ago grown accustomed to it, for Quebec without taxis has not meant an automobileless city. Long have tourists used motor cars to make the rounds of the city sights or to go on excursions to Ste. Anne de Beaupre and other neighboring points of interest.—[New York Times.

NO MONOPOLY ON INITIALS

In the Canadian West, where small business men often try to lend prestige to their establishments by affixing to their firm names the initials of one of the big railways, according to Judge, one often sees such signs as "C. P. R. Tobacco Store," "G. T. P. Poolroom," "C. N. R. Boarding House," etc. The Canadian Pacific recently took official notice of these acts of piracy, and sent out notification that the unauthorized use of the railway's name was illegal. One such notice, sent to the proprietor of a certain "C. P. R. Barber Shop—Cut Rates," brought the following reply:

"Dear Sir: I got youre notis. I don't want no law soot with yure big company, and I don't want to paint a new sine on my shop. Times is bad, and I got a large wife and family to sport. I no yure company owns everything around heer—railroads, steemers, most of the best land, and the time, but I don't no as you own the hole alfabet. The letters on my sine stand for my mother's name in old Ierland—Christine Patricia Reardon, and what I want to no is what you are going to do about it. I suppose you won't argue that the balans of my sine what refers to cut rates has got anything to do with yure railroad. There ain't been any cut rates around these here parts that I nose of."—[Pathfinder.

TOKIO EDITOR HERE

Japanese Newspaper Man Inspects Building of "Times"

Dr. Hideo Ono, editor of the Tokio Nichinichi, one of Japan's largest newspapers, yesterday concluded an inspection of the world's largest newspaper plant with a trip through The Times Building. Dr. Ono, commissioned by the Tokio Imperial University to establish a course in journalism in that university, began his tour July 1, 1923, and has visited practically every principal newspaper plant in Asia, Europe and America.

Dr. Ono has been impressed by the compact editorial machinery of English and American newspapers more than by any other feature of the big metropolitan dailies.

"My papers, which is approximately the same in circulation as The Times, employs four times the number of reporters to cover the news," stated Dr. Ono. Many more are required in Tokio to cover the news than in America, because of governmental red tape in this respect."

Dr. Ono anticipates that the school of jrurnalism in the Imperial University will prove a popular one with Japanese students.

MEETING TO PROTEST TAKING OF PARK STRIP

The South Hollywood Improvement Association has called a meeting for Thursday at 8 p.m. to protest against the proposed condemnation of a five-mile strip, one block wide, from Hollywood Junction to La Brea avenue, between Lexington and La Mirada streets, for park purposes. The meeting will be at the Ramond school, Santa Monica Boulevard and Normandie street. The park, it was said in the announcement of the meeting, would dispossess 1000 families and cost $14,000,000.

GETS PRISON SENTENCE

W. H. Yates, convicted of planning the robbery of a Pacific Electric cashier at Sherman several months ago, was sentenced to San Quentin for five years to life by Judge Reeve yesterday. Arthur Goslin and Howard Hanna, who actually committed the robbery, in which they got $4000 were previously sentenced to the same prison. Both said that Yates, who was working as a Pacific Electric motorman, instructed them what to do to get the money.

Little Mother Happy Again

"For the past nine years I have been very much distressed with bloating and stomach trouble due to constipation since I was a child. No medicine gave me more than temporary relief. I got so bad I was afraid I would have to leave my three little children. But since taking a course of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy two years ago I have been entirely well; no constipation or other trouble." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.—[Advertisement.

Dinner Can Be More Cheerful—

You know how hard it is to plan meals every day. "What shall I have for dinner tonight?" is a question which a woman has to ask herself so many times. You know what it means. And you know that often the strain is so great that you are a bit sober by the time the family come to the table.

You would like something different. And yet it must not be too fussy. Or too expensive.

Why not have hot muffins with BOYDEN'S HONEY? You know a man prefers hot muffins to the most elaborate dish in the cook book. And with delicious honey, — you know what the children will say. Best of all, such a meal is simple, inexpensive, and healthful.

Let your next pound be Wilso—The Master Spread for bread.

DEATH AUTO'S DRIVER IS HELD

Grand Jury to Investigate Child Fatality

John T. Perea Accused of Reckless Driving

Murder Charge Hinges on Inquest Findings

Grand jury investigation of the death in an automobile accident of Annie Louise Sallard, 4 years old, on Sunday afternoon at Thirty-seventh and Santa Fe streets, will be asked by the Sheriff's office if evidence at the inquest today justifies, it was stated yesterday. The driver of the car which is said to have caused the death, John T. Perea, a paint mixer, is being held in the County Jail on suspicion of manslaughter.

According to the report of Deputy Sheriffs Heller, Johnson and Phillips, Perea was driving on the wrong side of the street in attempting to pass another car, when he sideswiped a car in which Mr. and Mrs. A. Sallard, 3544 Hunter street, were driving with their baby girl.

It was stated in the report that Perea's car severed the child's head from her body. He was arrested and lodged in the County Jail.

It was stated the grand jury would be asked to return a charge of second-degree murder in the case if the inquest holds Perea responsible.

WEDDED LIFE COSTLY

Four months of married life with Edwin T. Trathen cost her $1000, Mrs. Ida Trathen yesterday testified before Judge Thompson, who granted her a divorce. They were married May 25, 1922, and separated the following October 5. In the meantime she had turned over to him about $1000, all the ready money she had, she told the court.

BY CHEF A. L. WYMAN

PICKLED GHERKINS

A. R., Los Angeles, asked us at the Food Show to give a recipe for pickled gherkins or small cucumbers.

Select 100 small even-sized gherkins that are sound and not bruised in any way, cover with salt water made with four tablespoonfuls of salt to a quart of water and let stand five hours; drain and wipe dry, place in a stone crock and cover with a boiling brine that will hold an egg, let stand twenty-four hours, drain and dry. Pack in bottles or jars and cover with hot, not boiling, vinegar, to which has been added four chopped green peppers, half a cup of salt, twelve whole allspice, twelve pepper corns, three two-inch sticks of cinnamon, one chopped onion, two blades of mace, one ounce of mustard seed, and two bay leaves. Seal while hot and let stand four weeks before using.

PICKLED PEARS

Place in a preserving kettle four cupfuls of vinegar, eight cupfuls of sugar, one three-inch stick of cinnamon broken in small bits, two bay leaves, and one blade of mace. Peel and remove the cores from about nine pounds of firm ripe pears and stick each pear with two whole cloves. Bring the vinegar mixture to a boil, drop in, a few at a time, the peeled and cored pears and cook until tender; skim out the cooked pears and pack in sterilized jars. Reduce the syrup one-half and strain over the cooked pears, seal and store in a cool dark place.

CRAB APPLE CHUTNEY

H. B. Long Beach, has wanted a recipe for crab apple chutney for a long time and she asks that we give one.

Remove the blossom ends and stems from six pounds of firm ripe crab apples, do not peel them, and run through the food chopper. Place in the preserving kettle two cupfuls of vinegar, twelve cupfuls of sugar, one pound of seeded raisins, one pound of seedless raisins, the grated rind and strained juice of two oranges, the chopped crab apples, two teaspoonfuls of cinnamon, and two teaspoonfuls of ground cloves; bring to a boil and simmer gently for thirty minutes; pour into clean, hot jars and seal while hot.

CUSTARD SOUFFLE

M. M. L., Los Angeles, requests a recipe for vanilla custard souffle.

Place in a saucepan three tablespoonfuls of butter, melt, add three tablespoonfuls of flour, work smooth, add one cupful of milk and stir and cook until thick and smooth; remove from the fire and beat the yolks of four eggs beaten to a light cream with a few grains of salt and three tablespoonfuls of sugar; fold in lightly the stiffly beaten whites of four eggs and one teaspoonful of vanilla; pour into a shallow, buttered pudding dish and bake in a moderate oven twenty-five minutes.

LADY BALTIMORE ICING

A. H., Los Angeles, asks for a recipe for Lady Baltimore icing for cakes.

Place in a sauce pan half a cupful of water, two cupfuls of sugar and one-third of a teaspoonful of cream of tartar; bring to a boil and boil until thick. Beat the whites of two eggs to a stiff froth and beat in half a cupful of the hot syrup. Return the balance of the syrup to the fire and boil until a little will spin a thread when dropped from the tip of a spoon; beat into the white mixture and beat until thick enough to spread. Add to this half a cupful of coarsely chopped walnut meats, half a cupful of chopped seeded raisins, one-third of a cupful of chopped dried figs, two tablespoonfuls of chopped candied orange peel and three tablespoonfuls of chopped candied cherries.

CHEESE DRESSING

We have never tasted the dressing used at this tea room, but think that the following recipe will serve:

Rub the yolks of three hard-boiled eggs through a sieve and rub into them one cupful of finely grated American cheese, one teaspoonful of mustard, and a seasoning of salt and white pepper; rub until smooth and add slowly four tablespoonfuls of vinegar and when smooth beat in, a little at a time, half a cupful of olive oil.

POTATO DOUGHNUTS

M. D. A., Los Angeles, wants a recipe for potato doughnuts like the one given in this department a year ago.

Beat three tablespoonfuls of butter to a cream with three-quarters of a cupful of sugar and beat smooth, beat into them the well-beaten yolks of two eggs and one whole egg; beat smooth, add four tablespoonfuls of milk and one cupful of fresh mashed or riced boiled potatoes. Sift two and one-half cupfuls of sifted flour with three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, half a teaspoonful of salt, half a teaspoonful of mace, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of nutmeg, and work into the first mixture with enough more sifted flour to make a light dough that can be handled. Roll out and cut all of the doughnuts before frying in deep, hot vegetable shortening.

TENDER WAFFLES

R. O. P., Pasadena, says that her waffles are always tough and she wants us to publish a foolproof recipe for making tender waffles.

Sift one and a half cupfuls of sifted flour with four tablespoonfuls of cornstarch, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and a few grains of salt. Beat the yolks of three eggs to a light cream with three-quarters of a cupful of milk, half a cupful of cream and the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs; pour over the flour mixture and beat smooth, add one tablespoonful of melted butter, beat well and bake in hot well-buttered waffle irons.

CHILE COLORADO

A. S., Los Angeles, was a resident of Mexico for a number of years and liked the sauce, or smother which is used in a number of dishes in that country, but never was able to get the recipe, and she asks that we supply it.

Remove the seeds and veins from a quarter of a pound of dry chile peppers and wash well in plenty of cold water; place in a saucepan, cover with cold water, bring to a boil and boil ten minutes; drain and rub through a sieve, adding a little of the water they were boiled in from time to time to loosen the pulp, using about two cupfuls in all; pour this through the peppers until the mixture is like thick cream. Place in a saucepan two tablespoonfuls of lard and one clove of garlic, heat and fry the garlic brown, skim out the garlic, pour in the pepper puree, add one teaspoonful of grated sweet chocolate, one teaspoonful of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of vinegar. Let simmer slowly for ten minutes and use as wanted.

SHOE RETAILERS CONVENE

The injection of optimism and co-operation to combat the present retail situation, was the keynote suggestion in the opening talks of the California Shoe Retailers' Association, which held its first session yesterday afternoon in the music room of the Biltmore. According to Fred White, president of the organization, nothing so disorganizes the shoe business as the lowering of the prices of the stock. He stated that courtesy and insistence would do more to increase business than the lowering of the price of the shoes.

On the walls of the Biltmore, and in the convention bulletin, there is to be seen the motto of not only the convention but the association itself. "It can be done!" This idea is to be carried out through the week by the devoting of time to constructive talks and suggestions to help in the carrying out of the California retail shoe business during the coming year.

On behalf of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, R. W. Pridham welcomed the convention to the city. After the talks an open forum was conducted in which many delegates brought their local issues before the convention. Last evening the traveling men entertained the delegates at the hotel.

This morning there will be informal meetings of the trade conference committees discussing topics of interest, while the regular session will convene at 2 o'clock with talks by Leslie B. Henry, on "Business Forecast," and E. B. Terhune on "Business Views of a Business Publisher." There also will be numerous reports. In the evening the style show, one of the outstanding events of the convention, will take place. Kathleen Mullane, former Ziegfeld Follies girl, and other attractive Southern California girls will demonstrate the latest thing in footwear.

POETS', PESTS' NIGHT

Beefsteak Dinner to Precede Uplifters' Club Party

A Poets' and Pests' night, preceded by a beefsteak dinner, is scheduled for Saturday by the Uplifters' Club. The day will begin with lunch at the Uplifters' Ranch at 1 p.m. and the steak will be served in Crabill Grove at 7 a.m.

There will be a poesy contest for the championship of the club, with six prizes. A. Gaylord Beaman, George Rice, Ted Adams, Dan Brownstein and Fred McPherson are to be the judges. Jack Cunningham is chairman.

FORD DEALERS HOSTS TO THEIR SALESMEN

Ford salesmen in the metropolitan district of Los Angeles were entertained at dinner last night at the Alexandria by the Ford dealers, with B. L. Graves, manager of the Los Angeles branch of the Ford Motor Company, presiding. Frank G. Tyrrell, an attorney, made an address, and there was entertainment under the direction of Gus Reed, including the Newsboys' Trio. The dinner was a general get-together and about 500 were present.

OIL MEN FACE TRIAL IN SAN LUIS OBISPO

C. O. Jaggers and A. R. Apple, oil men of this city, were held for trial in the San Luis Obispo County Superior Court yesterday on charges of violating the Corporate Securities Act. The two men were partners in the Kre-Ko Company and were arrested at Long Beach on May 7, last. It is charged that they sold several hundred thousand dollars' worth of stock to farmers and ranchers in San Luis Obispo county, but that they failed to have impounded $62,500 as required by the State Corporation Commission. It also is charged that the company they headed owned no land or oil leases.

They arrived at the harbor on the British tanker La Crescenta about three months ago. Immigration officials ordered them deported to Buenos Aires.

As the tanker was scheduled to return to Buenos Aires the pair were put aboard. When the vessel was several hundred miles away it was ordered by radio to proceed to oriental ports.

Last week, after the vessel had covered more than 20,000 miles on the oriental trip, the deportees were landed again at Los Angeles Harbor. They were again placed under guard at the immigration station and were to have been deported on the La Crescenta when she sailed for Buenos Aires.

Harbor police were requested by Chief Immigration Inspector Gatley to locate the pair before the La Crescenta sails. The ship is due to depart this week.

SIXTY SHIP PLANT MEN ON STRIKE

Walkout at Bethlehem Yard Not Attributed to Red Propaganda

Approximately sixty skilled workmen out of more than 1000 employees of the Bethlehem shipbuilding yard at Los Angeles Harbor went on strike Saturday, it was learned yesterday. The walkout, according to T. S. Barnes, sales manager, grew out of a change in policy at the yard which discontinued overtime pay for Saturday afternoon.

Those who are out, Mr. Barnes said, are a few boilermakers, machinists and other classes of skilled labor. He discounted the seriousness of the walkout and said it amounts to a small vacation. All are expected to return to work this week, he said.

Although there may be a few radicals in the ranks of the strikers, according to Mr. Barnes, the walkout is not attributed to Red propaganda.

The overtime pay for Saturday was discontinued, Mr. Barnes said, in order to put the yard on a competitive basis with other yards at the harbor who do not give overtime on that basis.

RETIRING JURIST GETS PRAISE OF FELLOWS

Commending Judge Hewitt for his work in the local Superior Court, resolutions of regret at the announcement of the jurist's intention to resign were adopted yesterday at a meeting of Superior Court judges. Judge Hewitt expects soon to tender his resignation, effective next month. He was appointed to the Superior Court eleven years ago. The jurist will re-enter the private practice of law as a partner of Guy Richards Crump.

Gifts of $244,950 Revealed at Campaign Lunch

Real Fight is Yet to Start, Declare Workers

Advisory Committee on Fund Handling is Named

Gifts totaling $244,950, to be used toward the construction of a home for army and navy men at the harbor and to be erected by the Y.M.C.A. and donated as a part of the $1,000,000 fund being solicited for the San Pedro "Y" as well as for general Y.M.C.A. work in Los Angeles, were announced at the Biltmore yesterday by R. H. Ballard, general chairman of the campaign committee.

Announcement of the gifts and their donors was made by Mr. Ballard following a musical program by the orchestra of the U.S.S. Tennessee and a prayer by Rabbi Ernest Trattner, who later informed the 600 campaign workers that the Jewish people are heartily in favor of the move to provide a social service building for men of the Navy.

The larger gifts obtained by the central committee are as follows: Eli P. Clark, $50,000; James W. Warren, $50,000; F. E. Eckhart, $25,000; Los Angeles Banks Clearinghouse Association, $25,000; Taft Realty Company, $25,000; F. W. Braun, $15,000; Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company, $5000; Ben A. Meyer, $2500; Lucien N. Brunswig, $2500.

NOT STARTED YET

It was announced that the heads of the various campaign divisions have not started their "real fight" yet but that in the "preliminaries" subscriptions have been received as follows: Gens. Claire Tappaan and E. T. Bishop of Division No. 1, $737; Gens. J. C. Rendler and H. B. Wright, Division 2, $743; Admirals C. G. Pyle and A. L. Leonard, Division 3, $2025; Admirals S. E. Burke and W. H. Fischer, Division 4, $1130; Gen. O. L. Ferris, Division 5, $320; Gen. Albert Baumann, Ninth-street Division for colored men, $17,000.

Samuel E. Faroat, commanding team No. 27 of Division 3, was crowned "king of the day" because his team had obtained the largest subscription of any team, turning in $755. "Crowned heads" are probably due to fall every day in Los Angeles during the campaign, for each day at noon the captain of the team bringing in the largest subscription will be handed the crown and scepter for the duration of the luncheon hour.

One of the important announcements made yesterday was that R. H. Ballard, Charles F. Stern and Harry Chandler have accepted the responsibility of acting as the advisory committee in the handling of the funds being raised.

Mr. Ballard told the audience that the expenses of Lyman J. Pierce, campaign director, will be paid by an individual whose name he was requested not to mention and he said that therefore every dollar subscribed by the people will go directly to "Y" work.

In a brief address Judge Arthur Keetch of Superior Court, announced that he is "sold" to the proposition and that he is taking a week's vacation to work for the success of the campaign.

"In fifteen minutes after I left the bench this morning I had received the promise of gifts totaling $400," said Judge Keetch. "I do not see how any good citizen can refuse to support this effort to give the boys of our Navy a real home when they are on shore leave."

GRAFT TRUST IN MURDERS

Grand Jury Quiz in Slaying of Two Italians Expected to Start Today; Arrests Imminent

The double murder of two Italians, whose bodies were found in a field near the Baldwin Hills several days ago, revealed yesterday the secret operations of a wholesale graft trust that has been preying upon owners of bonded wineries, according to information obtained last night from investigators of the Sheriff's and District Attorney's offices.

The dead men are Frank Rinaldo, an Italian fruit dealer, and Philip De Lisi, his business partner. When found their bullet-riddled bodies had been thrown into an abandoned automobile in the Baldwin Hills district, leading the officials to believe they were the victims of a black-hand gang. This theory was later abandoned, following the accumulation of astounding evidence against a known graft ring, composed of several attorneys, business men and former public officials, and who, in the opinion of the investigators, held a bitter grudge against the two Itatlians.

The combined efforts of Sheriff Traeger and Dist.-Atty. Keyes to reach the root of the so-called graft ring was said to have been materially benefited by the interrogation of several persons. Among those questioned was Buell R Wood, attorney for Rinaldo, and who handled the slain Italian's legal affairs. The information obtained from Attorney Wood, according to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Dennison, was of material value to the investigation.

The case is said to have reached such bounds late yesterday that it probably will be given to the county grand jury this morning. At the conclusion of the grand jury probe, according to a current prediction, many arrests will be expected, including the apprehension of the suspected murderers of Rinaldo and De Lisi, and the members of the graft ring.

OBESITY AND DIABETES

Doctor Says Thin People Are Not So Susceptible to Disease

Follow the fashions and be free from diabetes. Acquire that svelte figure and avoid the disease which afflicts, or will afflict before they die, a million people in the United States. Such is the advice of Dr. Elliott P. Joslin of Harvard University medical school, who spoke recently in Chicago.

The fat woman who sighs over the slim models in the style plates is actually wishing she were healthy as well as fashionable. The man who has to take the tailor's word for it that his trousers need pressing is just the sort of victim diabetes is on the lookout for. And the apparel advertiser who coddles the fleshy by heralding modes for the stylish stout, instead of insisting that the corpulent reduce to the standard model, is inviting them to court the dangers of the disease.

For diabetes is typically the affliction of the fat, declared Dr. Joslin. Under the age of 50 only one diabetic in ten is thin, he said. Over 50 only one thin person for every nineteen fat ones is a member of the diabetics' society.

"Much that has seemed odd in regard to the distribution of diabetes is explained by obesity," declared the doctor. "Brain workers often acquire the disease. The explanation lies in lack of exercise and consequent gain in weight."—[Chicago News.

Dawned on Him Right Away

A good farmer living out north of town had a fine pair of bay colts, 4 years old, and dappled. Real beautiful. He broke them carefully and one day drove them to town. He hitched to the sagging chain on the north side of the Courthouse, then did his trading deliberately and started home. The Times was in the bottom of the wagon box looking up at him, so after a while he put the lines around his shoulders, picked up the paper and commenced to read. The colts were anxious to get home, so they walked a little faster; then trotted a little. There being no check from the driver's seat they sprinted a little and finally developed a good healthy runaway, fairly tearing along toward home. The wagon swung to the left side of the road, then to the right, and finally turned over in a hedge row. The bandaged man, in telling about it from his bed in the northeast corner of the big house, concluded: "I had not been drug more than a quarter of a mile before I realized that I had made a mistake."—[Clay Center Times.

Ideal Life

To live in a modest way in Tahiti, the most delightful of all South Sea islands, one should have an income of at least $45 a month. Tahiti, which is the capital of the Society Islands, is the very last stand of personal liberty; that is to say, this island is one place in the world where a man can live as a white man should live, providing he lives up to the very few laws laid down by the jovial Frenchmen. Indeed, life on this French possession is very kind to the man who can feel assured of a regular income. But one should not go there with the expectation of finding a job; there isn't any such animal on the island.

The Tahitians are the best sports in the South Seas. Most of them like to stay up until 3 o'clock in the morning.—[C. Brown, Jr., in Adventure Magazine.

In a Similar Boat

An Irishman recently landed in New York found himself lunching at the same table with a loquacious American judge.

In course of conversation the judge disclosed his identity, adding: "You would be a long time in the old country before you would have the honor of lunching with a judge."

"Bedad, I'm thinking you would be a long time in the old country before they made you a judge." was Pat's reply.—[Exchange.

MACHINE FATALITIES

Industrial Casualties Almost as Menacing as Diseases

Accidental injuries from mechanical devices are rapidly assuming the importance as menaces to life that formerly was taken by epidemic disease. So said Dr. J. Howard Beard of health service headquarters of the University of Illinois in an address the other morning before the American Medical Association in Chicago.

"An epidemic of injury has succeeded the epidemics of infection," Dr. Beard said. The suicide rate is about that of the whooping cough death rate. About as many people were killed in motor cars at railroad crossings last year as died of scarlet fever in 1920. Fatalities resulting from motor-car accidents in 1923 are about the same as those from diphtheria and scarlet fever combined. Accidental deaths in industry are approximately equal to the sum of the deaths due to measles, whooping cough and diphtheria. There are 700,000 persons injured yearly in their occupations, whose disability causes a loss from work or not less than four weeks. Industrial poisoning produces its great quota of disease and death, and in some of the more sanitary cities, the exhaust gas from motor cars causes more deaths than the typhoid bacillus.

"Intelligent public sentiment, fostered among employers, employees and chauffeurs, as well as in institutions of higher learning, is the only way of coping with the accident disease."—[Science Service.

CULINARY HEROISM

Once in a while we find a young wife, even in these days, who knows that the surest way to please a husband is through his stomach. A bride who had not the slightest knowledge of cooking determined to make a noble effort to please her husband.

His mother told her he was very fond of Welch Rarebit. She set about perfecting herself in the preparation of the dish and spent several afternoons in her kitchen. Her failures were many. She finally exhausted the supply of cheese in the neighborhood and gave up discouraged. A few mornings afterward her husband was leaving the apartment building in which they lived when he was was stopped by the superintendent.

"See here, young man," said the superintendent, "tell your wife to stop throwing that linoleum out the court."—[Thrift Magazine.

He Didn't Like Terms

Every now and then some one has to tell the story of how the Scandinavian farmer told his boy to "throw the cow over the fence some hay," but a Hoosier lad returned from Wisconsin the other day with a story that has it beat to a standstill. The Hoosier had applied to a Swedish farmer for a job, and the subject of pay came up.

"Vell," said the Swede, "I pay you $30 a month if I eat you and $40 a month if you eat yourself."

The Hoosier didn't like the board terms and looked elsewhere for a job.—[Indianapolis News.

Glad to Exchange

A school teacher had a birthday, and the children of her school brought gifts to her in the shape of flowers and candy. One little fellow, the naughtiest of all her pupils, brought a frosted cake. To him she said:

"It was very sweet of you to remember my birthday, Robert, and I appreciate your gift. But it would be a much better birthday present if you would promise to be a good boy for the rest of the term. Won't you do that?"

"Yes, miss," he said seriously, "I'll promise. Shall I take back the cake and eat it myself?"—[Boston Transcript.

What She Wanted

On entering the shop she had asked to be shown some tablecloths. The salesman brought out a large variety, but all to no purpose.

"Haven't you got anything new?" she asked.

The perspiring salesman brought another pile and laid it on the counter, saying:

"These are quite the latest thing, madam. You will notice that the edge runs right round the border and that the center is in the middle."

"Dear me, yes," remarked the dear old thing, peering at the the goods through her spectacles. "I will take half a dozen of those, I think."—[Unidentified.

MA TRANSLATES ORDERS

"I haven't been feeling well lately," Mrs. North explained to Dr. Sparrington, "and Mr. North thought I had better consult you and see if you could find out what was the matter."

Dr. Sparrington made the examination and then anounced:

"What you need is a rest, Mrs. North. You are a bit run down, is all. Take a complete rest, for a while, plenty of fresh air, frequent baths and be careful about suitable clothing. That is all."

At home that evening Mr. North asked his wife about the result of the consultation with the doctor.

"Oh, he says I ought to have a vacation," Mrs. North retorted. "He recommended motor car rides, a trip to the seashore and a new dress or two."—[Kansas City Star.

NEW FUSING PROCESS OF GREAT VALUE

ITS DISCOVERY MEANS REVOLUTION IN CONSTRUCTION OF TELESCOPE

Scientists have at last succeeded in fusing quartz in amounts which will no longer limit its use to apparatus requiring only small quantities. The new material will therefore soon be available for many purposes for which it has long been needed, including larger telescope lenses than any now in use. This is a "key" discovery in the sense that, without it, progress in some branches of science had come to a stop because of the shortcomings and limitations of the key material, glass.

A meter thickness of common glass absorbs 65 per cent of the light which is passed through it, while even the best optical glass absorbs 35 per cent. But the new fused quartz absorbs only 8 per cent. Solid rods of this clear, glass-like material not only permits the passage of strong light through lengths of even as great as sixteen feet without great apparent loss, but if they are bent into easy curves or crooks the light follows around these bends without emerging at the sides.

This rather startling feat cannot be performed with glass, and since the new material, unlike glass, transmits the ultra-violet rays, it will now be possible to employ curved quartz rods for the application of ultra-violet ray treat-

ORPHEUM BILL GOOD

BUT SILLY SEASON YANKS DOWN THE STANDARD

By Grace Kingsley

Yes, we did have some bananas yesterday! But a banana in the hand is worth two from the stage.

It looks as though we shall soon have to carry an umbrella or wear a baseball mask when we go to the Orpheum, they throw so many things at the audience from the stage. And those acts are usually the acts, curiously enough, at whom the audience wants to throw things! Seriously, stage people don't seem to realize the nerve wrack, not to mention the real danger to bespectacled folk in the audience, from having these articles thrown. I should think the management would understand, however, and put a stop to the practice. Not so long ago a picture director in an audience was hit by a flying object, his glasses broken, and the glass which flew into his eye very nearly caused him to become blind. He was laid up for months. It doesn't seem to me that there is so much inherent wit or humor in throwing things at the audience that it cannot be dispensed with. Even the summer silly season hardly seems to warrant this sort of thing.

Aside from the banana tossing indulged in by one of the acts, the bills is a good one ,though not up to last week's, I think.

The public seems never to weary of the jazz band. Clyde Doerr, he of the coaxing, crooning, hypnotizin' sassy, sexy saxophone, and his orchestra are the jazz incumbent at the Orpheum. They made a clean sweep in the act popularity contest yesterday, if applause means anything. They jazzed everything from grand opera to the latest mammy musical pap.

A go-as-you-please after piece, with the perpetrators including everybody back stage except Alice Brady and the house cat, and reaching out even over to the Hillstreet, bringing in George Whiting, with others, made a hit. Everybody from the stage raced all over the house, and probably made all the customers feel young again, as they recalled that glorious Friday afternoon at grammar school when the principal and all the teachers were called down to the superintendent's office, and the kids were left to run the school. Personally I didn't care much for the insurrection, but it seemed to keep those people in their seats who usually walk out in the middle of the last act. It would. It was Olsen and Johnson who started the afterpiece, and they work hard at some songs.

Florence Tempest and Homer Dickinson are artists, and have a smart act with some good talk, songs and dancing, the whole pervaded by an atmosphere of class. Miss Tempest's costumes are beautiful. Dickinson has some cracks as usual, his pet one this time being an answer to his partner's question, "What do you drink?" "I often wonder myself!"

A clean-cut, clever comedy magic and juggling act is that of Jack Hanley, who knows his business and the show business from start to finish. He registered a hit with everybody yesterday, though in the D spot on the bill. So go early or you will miss him.

Taking off and soaring to finish applause in the opening place are Bernice Kimball and Ray Goman, who offer a novel and pleasing dance act. The glazed Dutch costumes were a novelty knockout.

Alice Brady scores a second week with her playlet, and her company is doing much finer team work as they get more used to each other. Charles Bickford, Eda Von Buelow, William G. Leith and Frank Warner are bound to make a fine impression when they Mocha-and-Java a bit better.

Mabel Condon A Mama

Mabel Condon, whom everybody remembers as the clever little split pint scenario editor and picture agent, and who was wed something more than a year ago, to another writer, Russell Juarez Birdwell, is a fond mama. She presented Mr. Birdwell with a son on Friday last, and mother and child are doing well, down at the Hollywood Hospital. Miss Condon finds all her best press agent adjectives inadequate to describe her present star performer.

Elaine Hammerstein Injured

Elaine Hammerstein met with a painful accident, out at the Mayer studio last Saturday, when she tripped and fell down a long flight of stairs while making a scene for her current starring vehicle.

The star was picked up unconscious, but responded to treatment at the studio hospital before being taken home. She was found to be suffering from minor bruises, but with no bones broken. Resting all day Sunday, she was able to resume work yesterday.

Jack Dempsey Comes Home

After a hectic week in San Francisco, during which Jack Dempsey not only responded to the call of art and finished a Universal picture, but also was the star of a number of big parties given him by enthusiastic admirers up there, the champion returned home yesterday, and will settle down to another hard week's acting.

"COVERED WAGON" RUN WILL START TODAY

An atmospheric prologue "Covered Wagons on the Plains" will have more than 100 type actors, including a tribe of real Indians.

To perfect all the details of presentation the theater was closed to the public all day yesterday and the rehearsals lasted all day and well into the night.

BOB QUESTION IS PUZZLE FOR IRENE

To bob or not to bob.

That is the question that is agitating Irene Franklin's famous red head these days. The flappers who adore her chorus girl and cute kid types of songs are urging her to cut it and let it fly. On the other hand, most of her male advisers point out that she could never be the famous "Waitress from Childs" unless she took down her two tons of hair and did it up in that stupendous pompadour.

IRENE IS BUBBLING WITH WIT

Red-Headed Star on Way to Australia With Her Two Daughters

"Well, here I am, but there is a lot of me missing. A week-end with five performances a day and an Actors' Benefit cuddled in, has made me a wreck. And I've got to go on again now. Arrange yourself in a chair over the orchestra pit and watch me propel my weary form on the stage. But please don't fall among the musicians. They are sort of nervous, you know, and besides the union is terribly fussy about disturbances like that."

You've guessed it! It was back stage with Irene Franklin at Grauman's Metropolitan Theater yesterday afternoon. Who but the radiant red-headed Irene could confide how tired she was while she oozed pep with every word?

"I forgot three lines of my best joke that time," she mourned, as she returned from the stage. "Honest, I don't know what I'm going to do if my brain keeps on stuttering like this. These last few days have been the most harrowing of my varied career. I'd never played five performances a day in my life before, and never have I seen such a big space to talk to.

"The first time I went out and saw that balcony back there miles away, I felt like an electric fan trying to do my duty swishing around. But I love it. You know, it's fun watching how long it is going to take for the joke to get to the last seat and the laugh to come back.

"There is one thing about all these performances which worries me, and that is the wear and tear on the clothes. It's awful. The hooks and eyes collapse and the snaps get all exhausted with the strain of the many changes. Even my hair has had a relapse."

Miss Franklin feels that she is on a vacation now, even if she is writing two plays and a couple of songs on the side, for you see, she has her children with her and they are all bound for Australia together. It's the first time the girls have traveled with her and they are having the lark of their lives.

"I think Elizabeth may go on the stage," Miss Franklin explained while she let the hairpins come out for air. "She's perfectly happy back stage dancing around and watching the act. But not Margaret. You know, I think Margaret is destined for a social life. She has that air. The other day some one said to her, 'Isn't it wonderful what a success your mother is making here?' And my small daughter registered a beautiful example of a blank stare and replied, 'Why is it wonderful? She always does.' It was a perfect crushing look. Think what an asset that would be in society."

With a switch of conversation and a swish of her hair, Miss Franklin said, "Heaven knows what I will do with my poor little jokes when I get to Australia. I understand that they like them hard-boiled there. And I won't oblige. I insist on being feminine, even to my jokes. When a woman ceases to be feminine she is lost on the stage. Or anywhere else. That is one of the troubles with this age."

ENTERTAINING BILL ON MILLER SCREEN

Hal Roach's novel production, "The King of Wild Horses," with Will Rogers and Roach's "Our Gang" comedy children in "Jubilo, Jr.," and "Birds of Passage," a short subject showing the migration of European birds, forms an entertaining and educational program at Miller's, which has been patronized by so many Angeleno families during the past five weeks. The bill will be screened for the last time on Friday.

Rex, the magnificent black stallion is the star of "The King of Wild Horses." His work in the picture is said to be almost human. A charming love story has been woven around the horse and Edna Murphy, Leon Barry and Sam de Grasse portray the leading roles.

FLAPPER BALL

A dancing contest for girls only will be a feature of the "perfect flapper's ball" at the Cinderella Roof tonight. Girls will dance together in the contest, showing the independence of the modern flapper, who does not need mere man to dance with her. Colleen Moore, who is starred in "The Perfect Flapper" at Loew's, will judge the contest and present prizes.

Better Luck in July

"No man is perfect," declared the philosopher.

"That's so, but there's no use telling that to a June bride—during June," returned the cynic.—[Boston Transcript.

Wide Variety to Choose From at Hillstreet

Whatever you like most, they probably have some of it at the Hillstreet Theater this week. From Bill Robinson, who is a colored gentleman of considerable talent, who has been seen here before, to Dainty June and her gang of kids, there is always something of interest to be seen and heard. The acts are not knockouts, perhaps, but you won't sleep through them, either.

Bill Johnson specializes in hard-shoe dancing. And this he does to perfection, on the level, up a set of stairs, or any other way. Incidentally, he tells some stories and sings a few songs, all very well. So well, in fact, that judging from the applause, he is about the most popular number on the bill.

George Whiting and Sadie Burt are a comedy pair who play around with several little skits. They sing every type of popular song cleverly and they keep you smiling most of the time they are on the stage. They rank next in popularity.

A baby vaudeville revue is the offering of Dainty June and her newsboy songsters. June dances and sings, giving an eccentric song and dance number for good measure. The boys sing and dance, each member of the act possessing a pleasing voice, and a few of them decided dancing talent.

Burlesquing a side show mind-reading act, Harry and Emma Sharrock in "Behind the Grand Stand," offer a neat humorous turn that moves so rapidly toward the end that it is apt to be a little mystifying, also.

The Medini Trio do their stuff on ladders. If vaudeville ever fails them they might give window washing a trial, for they feel right at home up in the air. One of their best stunts is a string duet in midair. Another is the balancing trick where one of the men stands on the other's head while the second is balancing on the undesirable end of the ladder.

"Scars of Jealousy" is the screen attraction, featuring Frank Keenan, Lloyd Hughes and Marguerite De La Motte. Another of the Telephone Girl series, "William Tells," is also on the bill.

Grunn Piano Pupils Prove Individuality

Pupils' recitals that can really be enjoyed are rare, put such an event took place last evening. Six pupils of Homer Grunn were heard at Chickering Hall.

While each of Mr. Grunn's students evidence individuality, there is with all of them an adherence to certain general ideas. Their phrasing is well throughout; for the most part a splendid give and take is maintained in the rhythmic flow; clean technique is evidently a watchword, and an inner feeling for the beauties of the composition and the composer's intent is present in their work.

A critical estimate of one student is almost an estimate for the others, so truly do they all reach for the same ideals. Ivah Chapin opened the program with Mozart-Grieg Fantasie No. 18, playing with taste. A touch of the modern trend was noted in the selections of Pauline Neumann, heard in compositions by Spediarow, Gliere, Lhevinne and Gounod-Jaell.

A brilliant rendition of Liszt's Hungarian Fantasie was given by Frances Yeager, and of the second and third movements of the Grieg Concerto by Emil Baffa. Grace Raley-Moore played with real ability the musically ungrateful Oriental Fantasie by Balakirew.

Marguerite Porter exhibited a facile technique and nice interpretation in her numbers—Prelude and Fugue, Bach; Toccata, Saint-Saens; Caprice "Alceste" (this especially well done,) and Etude Melodique, Moszkowski.

Racine's Rubber Pavement

What is believed to be the first rubber pavement in the United States has been laid on a railroad crossing in Racine, Wis. The section of rubber paving will have a severe trial as this crossing is used by thousands of automobiles and heavy motor trucks each day. A similar pavement in Princess street, Edinburgh, has been used for more than twenty years, yet it lost only a fraction of an inch in thickness during this period.

First Woman in the Office

Dr. Florence R. Sabin, who has the distinction of being the first woman elected to the Presidency of the American Association of Anatomists, has been a professor of anatomy in Johns Hopkins University for more than twenty years. Born in Colorado in 1871, she received her A.B. degree from Smith College and then went to Johns Hopkins for her medical training.

MERE MAN CHAMPIONS THE BOBS

J. Stuart Blackton Rises to Remark That Clipped Tresses Are All Right

J. Stuart Blackton of Vitagraph fame makes strenuous objection to the recent assertion made by a motion-picture official to the effect that bobbed hair seriously curtails the femininity of an actress. On the contrary, Blackton believes that the bobbed hair permits versatility which is impossible where only long hair exists.

He cites the case of Anna Q. Nilsson who played a leading role in his production "Between Friends." There has been no claim made anywhere that Miss Nilsson has lacked any womanly charm, yet it is a well-known fact that her hair is so bobbed, shingled, cut and otherwise "manhandled" as to almost class her as being "completely scalped." The motion-picture world knows the story of Miss Nilsson's hair, also about her variety of wigs which permit her to have whatever style of coiffure a character or a director may require—something obviously impossible when a girl is compelled to use her own locks.

In his present production, "The Clean Heart," Marguerite De La Motte is suffering in no manner through her somewhat abbreviated hair. Instead, with the addition of scant false hair she is enabled to completely develop the appearance of the character she is portraying.

Blackton also rises to remark that he has one wife and two daughters, all of whom have closely bobbed hair but he has not noticed any lack of feminine charm in them. Therefore, a man competent to speak objects to any derogatory remark concerning bobbed hair for either professional or personal use.

Dancing Acts Are Prominent at Pantages

If one has an acrobatic dancing complex, he should by all means visit Pantages this week. With only one or two exceptions, every act on the bill comprises clever terpsichorean movements of the first order.

Honors hover about the crown of Francis Renault, the international star. He is billed as "The Slave of Fashion," and exhibits gowns and creations worth many thousands of dollars. His fashions are all imported, having been purchased in France, and there is also one Japanese kimona which he received from the Orient one week before the disaster which is a perfect dream.

Renault, while parading about the stage, offers operatic and light opera decorations in a high falsetto voice. And dancing also comes in at intervals. What took most with the audience, however, was a young postlogue comprising the choicest bit of back-stage gossip and "dirt" about the other performers.

Almost equalling Renault in popularity was the bit presented by Billy Wells and the Eclair Twins. Their act, called "Mirth, Modes and Melodies," was one of the cleverest of its kind seen here in weeks. Their dancing was especially well received and they were called on for several encores.

Not the least popular were Herman Ergotti and Ruth Herman. Herman approximated four feet or under in height, while Ruth averaged two feet nearer the sky. In a bit entitled "I Like That" they came in for a full share of the applause for dancing of the most acrobatic sort and clever singing and dialogue. What they did was almost a marvel at times.

Another dancing pair are Joe Tilyou and George Rogers, "Dancing Grand Daddies." They are not so decrepit as their act name would indicate, however, for they appeared real acrobats at times.

Pepito and Rosita, the Royal Spanish Clowns from the "Theater Circo Parish' of Madrid, put on a Spanish novelty act that was really different from any which has been shown in Los Angeles for a great length of time. There is no animal or noise existent that Pepito cannot imitate. Especially clever is his mimic of a wailing infant, developing from the mere thought of beginning a good whimper to the actual bawling of the child.

One of the cleverest animal acts ever viewed in Los Angeles is "The Bricklayers," presented by L. Gautier. The Bricklayers are fox terriers dressed for their parts, and the dogs go though their paces without a single fault.

The screen feature stars Madge Bellamy and John Bowers in "White Sin." It is a tale of a mock marriage, supposedly, which in reality is a legal one. The entire cast play their parts exceptionally well, but the feature is only average. One of the best of the "Spat" Family comedies completes the bill.

Von Stroheim Picture Heads Clune Program

A theme that never grows old provides the motive power for "Blind Husbands," on the Clune Broadway screen this week. This photoplay is one of Erich Von Stroheim's early actor-director efforts. It has been considered by many as one of his greatest successes.

The title refers to the man who, having won the woman he loves, neglects her, not by intent, but because he is too much occupied with affairs of the world. And then the stranger enters the wife's life, paying her the little attentions she previously had received from her husband. But before things go too far husband and wife recognize their error, and the villain jumps off a cliff.

Von Stroheim, of course, is the villain. Francellia Billington is the wife, and Sam De Grasse the husband. But the best work of any is done by Gibson Gowland in a part that is not very important, and which does not mean much to the story—that of the Swiss mountaineer, silent and impressive as the mountains themselves.

Another of the Fast Stepper series is also on the program, this one entitled "Shooting Star," and featuring, as usual, Billy Sullivan. Fast action, interesting plot, and a good cast make these two-reelers always interesting.

The Children safely revel in the clean laundered water of the indoor plunge....

Nowhere can children have quite so much fun as in the clean, filtered water of the Indoor Plunge.

Whether they just splash about or really swim, the exercise is just the thing that is needed to develop their little selves into stalwart, sturdy men and beautiful, graceful women.

It is remarkable how quickly these young folks learn to swim. A few easy lessons from the competent instructors in attendence and the first thing you know they are cleaving through the water like experts.

Swimming is a very important part of the child's education. Some day the knowledge may save a life.

And you may send the children to these modern Indoor Plunges with the assurance that every precaution is taken to safeguard them in every way.

Watchful eyes follow them every moment and certain well defined standards of deportment are insisted upon. The clean, filtered water is heated to a comfortable temperature; the dressing rooms are warm and handy; there are warm and cold shower baths.

These Indoor Plunges are operated under regulations of the State Board of Health and they afford a safe, convenient happy playground for your children.

Bring the young folks to these Indoor Plunges in the day time or in the evening. You, too, will enjoy the bracing delight of a swim here. If you cannot accompany them you can send them alone—safely. They will be watched over and protected in every way by the vigilant life guards always in attendance. Give the kiddies this treat often.

PRIMARY FIGHT OFFICIALLY ON

Campaign for Nominations August 26 Opens

Ballot Probably Largest in County's History

All Candidates Are Urged to File Papers Early

The primary campaign, which culminates in the election of August 26, opened officially yesterday, the first business day when nominating petitions for candidates are to begin to circulate. The petitions must be filed with Registrar of Voters Lyons July 17, forty days before the election.

Probably the largest ballot in the history of the county will be presented to the voters on August 26. Nonpartisan offices to be contended for are: Chief Justice of the Supreme Court and two Associate Justices, two Associate Justices of the Second Appellate District, District-Attorney, three Supervisorial Districts, fourteen places on the Superior bench and Justices of the Peace in certain townships outside of Los Angeles city.

PARTY OFFICES

Partisan officers are: Congressional representatives in the Ninth and Tenth Districts, State Senators in the Twenty-ninth, Thirty-first, Thirty-third, Thirty-fifth and Thirty-seventh Districts, all Assembly Districts, numbering fifteen, in Los Angeles county, the Sixty-first to the Seventy-fifth, inclusive, and places on the County Central Committees.

Republican contestants for the partisan offices have already been announced, and a statement was issued last week by Democratic leaders that a full Democratic ticket would be presented.

Winners in the August primaries, naturally, will be placed upon the ballot in the final election in November, when the office of President is to be voted upon.

Mr. Lyons has stated that due to the unusual number of offices, tickets and candidates, his staff must read proof on more than 450 separate ballots, a stupendous work.

REGISTRATION OPEN

Registration, which closed thirty days before the May primaries, has been opened again, and will continue until July 26, the last day to register or to transfer. Only those registering since January 1, 1924, will be entitled to vote. Those registered for the May primaries need not re-register unless they have moved since registering.

In respect to registration, attention is called by Mr. Lyons to the fact that the only manner in which an elector may change his expressed party preference is by signing a transfer slip provided for the purpose. Two years ago more than 15,000 persons burdened the office with extra and unnecessary work by re-registering in order to change their party preference. They were unable to change their preference, Mr. Lyons said, due to the fact that the law does not permit a duplication.

All candidates and the various county committees were urged yesterday to submit their nomination papers early in order to obviate delay in checking the petitions.

LEE LIQUOR CASE PUT OVER

Sugar Company Official Sues to Have Asserted Illegal Search Warrant Quashed

A hearing scheduled for yesterday before Stephen G. Long, United States Commissioner, on a petition to quash a search warrant on which Federal Dry agents last week searched the residence of Henry C. Lee, vice-president of the Los Alamitos Sugar Company at 2533 Fourth avenue, was continued until next Monday at 10 o'clock.

A hearing on a complaint charging J. L. Stack, advertising man, with illegal possession of intoxicating liquor, also was continued yesterday until next Monday. Both continuances were granted on motion of United States Attorney Burke, who said he desired more time within which to investigate facts in the cases.

Lee and Stack request the return of seized liquor on the grounds that the search warrants on which their residences were entered were illegally issued. An effort is being made to have the Lee warrant quashed and to have the charge against Stack dismissed on the grounds that officers obtaining the search warrants did not have information of illegal sale of intoxicating liquor at the residences searched. It is asserted the Volstead Act provides that private residences can be entered only on warrants obtained on affidavit of illegal sale, whereas the warrants used in search of these two residences are said to have been obtained on information and belief of illegal possession.

A hearing in the Lee case was to have been had last Thursday, the day following the raid, and again on Saturday and yesterday. No complaint has been filed against Lee. A complaint was filed against Stack following the raid on his residence at 411 South Ardmore. The hearing on that complaint was set originally for last Saturday.

SUMMER SCHOOL TO TRAIN "Y" LEADERS

A summer school for training Y.M.C.A. secretaries for the Southwest will open at the Pacific Palisades July 23 and last to August 6, with J. Gustav White, educational director of Los Angeles Y.M.C.A. as principal. Instructors include A. B. Nichols and B. C. Pond of New York City; John Pontius and C. W. Roudebush of Columbus, O.; F. O. Kelly of Denver, and G. S. Phelps of Japan. President Dexter of Whittier; Rev J. A. Francis and Rev. Herbert B. Smith of Los Angeles, and Dr. J. E. James of Australia will be speakers.

WIFE SUES TO DIVORCE J. B. FAHY

Cruelty and Extended Drinking Sprees Laid to Auto Concern Head

J. Benjamin Fahy, head of the motor car concern bearing his name, was made defendant in divorce proceedings filed yesterday by his wife, Geraldine E. Fahy, who charges that her husband was extremely cruel to her and that he indulged in extended liquor sprees. The community property is listed by the wife at $300,000 and she asks the court that this be reasonably divided between herself and her husband. The Fahys lived at 309 Fifth avenue.

For days at a time during the last three months the wife charges that her husband remained away from their home and that he gave her no satisfactory replies in answer to her queries. She also charges that he used violent and profane language in the presence of the family and servants and that he frequently struck and beat her.

The petition states that she often found him drunk. She declares she frequently forgave him only to see him return to liquor. As a result of Fahy's actions, she says, her health has been impaired.

The Fahys were married in July, 1913, in Los Angeles. They have three sons, Robert, 9 years of age; James, 8, and Douglas, 1. Mrs. Fahy asks custody of the children, a fair division of the community property and a reasonable alimony. Efforts to reach Mr. Fahy for a statement were unavailing last night.

HAWLEY TO EXPLAIN ARROYO SALE PLANS

COUNCIL FINANCE BODY TO HEAR FIRST HAND OF TERMS IN DEAL

Henry W. Hawley, president of the Los Angeles Rock and Gravel Company, is expected to appear this afternoon before the finance committee of the City Council, to explain in detail the conditions surrounding proposals made in his behalf that the city acquire all his holdings in the residential district of the Arroyo Seco.

As presented yesterday to the committee, it is contemplated that the city pay the company $350,000, of which $50,000 would be cash down, the remainder to be raised by an improvement district not yet formed. The area thus acquired would be used for park and playground purposes and the price would figure out, it is estimated, at about $2300 an acre.

The committee heard incidentally that Hawley is willing to part with his holdings farther down the Arroyo, between Avenue 26 and Avenue 20 in the industrial district, for $25,000 an acre, but the subject was not pursued.

MAN CHARGED WITH SMUGGLING ALIENS

Angelo Zaupa, charged with bringing three Italians into the United States from Mexico in violation of the immigration law, was placed in jail yesterday under a $2500 bond, pending a hearing tomorrow before United States Commissioner Long. Immigration officers arrested Zaupa near Mexicali. It was reported he was bringing Falconi Guiseppe, Antonio Cambiaca and Nicoli Pietro, aliens, to Los Angeles in his automobile.

WILD AUTO DID IT

So Says Man Suing Motorist for Damage to Restaurant

Declaring his restaurant was wrecked when an automobile jumped the curb and plunged into his building, D. E. McCormick yesterday filed suit for $10,150 damages against E. R. Graves, said to have been the driver of the automobile. The accident occurred the 2nd inst., according to the complaint.

Explains Smile Only for Trade, Granted Decree

When attractive Eva White Buchanan took a shift behind the counter of her mother's confectionery shop in Hawthorne she though it no more than right that the customer should be given a smile with a purchase. So she smiled, and trade flourished, according to the evidence submitted before Judge Thompson yesterday when her suit for divorce from Ennis Buchanan was heard.

Her husband, however, failed to understand this elemental bit of commercial strategy, Mrs. Buchanan told the court. He insisted upon interpreting her amiability in the interest of trade stimulation as being flirtatious conduct, for which he would upbraid her, she said.

Judge Thompson granted her a decree.

Salesmen and Solicitors

MONEY! MONEY! MONEY!
The easiest thing on Earth to get
IF YOU KNOW HOW.
Likewise the hardest, IF YOU DON'T!
Don't try to do something you don't know much about. Never spend your efforts uselessly. You owe it to yourselves, men, to get the largest returns for your efforts. If you don't, you will always be a "dead one" awaiting the weekly white check. I am demonstrating to real estate men, various types of salesmen and mechanics, clerks and what not, how they can make $10,000 OR BETTER PER YEAR.
MAKE ME PROVE IT!
It costs you nothing to listen. It costs nothing to learn, and when you do and find out how, you can earn on the basis outlined.
When you have qualified, made good, or in other words have learned what the deal is, I give you leads that are virtually collections; upon which I pay you 15 PER CENT.
What more can you expect? What more can I do for you? You certainly don't expect me to do the collecting for you and pay you the commission, too, do you? If you knew how soft my boys are making this "dough," nothing would stop you from giving this deal the double O. You owe it to yourself to give it at least that much effort.
Don't waste your efforts, time and cash running around shining door knobs looking for deals or jobs.
I've got the best proposition in town, barring none. If it is money you want, come and get it. Make me prove what I say.
I'm willing—IT'S UP TO YOU.
F. H. PUTT, 1021 Bank of Italy Bldg.

If you have a crew of 10 or more hustlers I have the most attractive cabin site proposition in Los Angeles. And it is selling. Commission is very liberal, and we pay. See me at once if you want to make some quick money for you and your men. MR. GERAHTY, 318 W. 6th st.

THE International Correspondence Schools of Scranton, Pa. is a $10,000,000 company, stock fully paid, with a reserve fund of $1,500,000 to take care of students enrolled, and does a business of $10,000,000 annually in the United States and Canada. The schools have 20,000 students in the city of Los Angeles, and a large field force is necessary to take care of this business. We can use one or two salesmen whose integrity is unquestionable, who are desirous of making a connection where the future is assured. Men between 25 and 35 preferred. Bond required and drawing account from the start. See MR. ARMSTRONG, 10 to 12 a.m., 714 S. HILL ST., Suite 410.

SALESMEN WANTED
If you are a habitual want-ad reader, this won't interest you. The type of men I am looking for very seldom reads want ads. This will enable you to spend seven nights a week at home and should you make this connection, you will have no other occasion to notice any other want ad.

LOUIS, June 23.—Amendment of the Missouri constitution to permit the State Legislature to establish old-age pensions in this State will be attempted at the general election next November by the Fraternal Order of Eagles, the Brotherhood League for the Aged and Unemployed and the National League for Old Age Pensions. To that end initiative petitions to have the proposed amendment placed upon the ballot now are being circulated. The Farmers' State Bank of Elsinore, Carter county, total resources of which were $87,000, has been closed by the board of directors, but the bank will be taken over by the State Bank of Poplar Bluff, Butler county, which will liquidate it. The bank was not in an insolvent condition, according to the finance commissioner.

KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY, June 23.—Operation of a motor bus line between Kansas City, Liberty and Excelsior Springs is the purpose of the Kansas City, Clay county and St. Joseph Auto Transit Company, which has filed articles of incorporation in Jefferson City.

An estate valued at $101,000 was left by Joseph H. Harris, ex-postmaster of Kansas City, who died a week ago. The beneficiaries are Joseph H. Harris, Jr., of Kansas City and a daughter, Mrs. Florence E. Boone of Ancon, C. Z. Each shares equally in the estate.

Creditors of the defunct Holland Banking Company probably would receive from 65 per cent to 75 per cent on deposits, it was said in banking circles at Springfield. Forty per cent was allotted several weeks ago, in winding up affairs of the $7,000,000 institution, which closed its doors January 15.

The potato crop in the lower Loup and Central Platte River valleys threatens to be a total loss. The moist weather has resulted in the tubers going into greens. Warmth and water-soaked soil are producing black rot. The Colorado potato beetle is already literally swarming in the low-land potato fields. Nightly rains make it impossible to keep poison sprays on the greens to cut down the invasion of the pests.

RIVER OF INK

Ingredients of Writings Fluid Fed into Stream by Nature

Travelers in North Africa have observed a curiosity of nature—a river of ink. The water is black, yet the streams which feed it are perfectly clear. Chemical analysis and examination have revealed the cause. One of the streams is strongly impregnated with iron from the soil through which it flows. Another carries tannin from a peat swamp. It is the chemical combination of the iron, tannin and oxgyen of the air that turns the water black. This chemical reaction forms the basis of the most important class of inks known as iron-gall inks.

Iron-gall ink was first made in the twelfth century, but it was not until the fifteenth that it came into common use. The writer has seen a page from a hand-written book on monkish satin, in ink with the date 1445, and the writing is as clear, black and legible as on the date it was written. The ink was iron-gall ink, and it shows the permanency of this type.

The most important factor in the making of this ink is gall nuts, certain species of which are found in China, Japan, India and even in some oak and willow trees in America. A peculiar kind of insect, similar to our horsefly, bores into the small twigs of oak trees and lays its eggs. A little lump is the result. The egg grows with the gall and is soon converted into a larva. Eventually the larva becomes a fly and escapes by eating its way out. The best nuts for ink-making are those that are picked when fully ripe, but just before the escape of the insect, as these contain the largest amount of tannin.

As the name implies, iron-gall inks are based on a liquid in which an iron salt is combined with tannin extracted from gall nuts. The iron salt is copperas and comes in the form of green crystals. These are secured in the United States. While there are other ingradients added, these two are the most important in the make-up of this type of ink.

This liquid is practically colorless until acted upon by the oxygen in the air; that is, a pen dipped into such a fluid would make no visible mark on the paper. Most people, however, like to see what they are writing as they write, and so a blue anilin color is added. After the ink is exposed to the air, the iron-gall compound develops an intensely black and permanent color, entirely superseding the original blue which ultimately fades away. This change in color is what causes it to be referred to commonly as blue-black ink. The black remains clear and legible as long as the paper on which it is written lasts.—[William Greenleaf in Glass Container.

DIAMOND'S COMPOSITION

"One of the most simple and beautiful crystals is the diamond. It consists," says Dr. William Bragg, "only of carbon atoms arranged in a very symetrical way. Every carbon atom has four others spaced round it. The symmetry of the structure is such that the atoms are most difficult to displace, for which reason a diamond can be used as a tool to cut any other substance, because the atoms of the other substance give way before the rigidly set atoms of the diamond. In the diamond can be found the rings of benzene, the fundamental structural unit of all substances included in one great section of organic chemistry."

BIRTHMARKS

A birthmark is merely the result of excessive development of fibrous tissue hair, blood vessels, or pigment in a circumscribed area. Surgical treatment is generally prescribed for the removal of birthmarks. Among the methods employed are electrolysis, X-rays and the use of chemical caustics, such as nitric acid or the acid nitrate of mercury. The removal of a birthmark is a delicate operation and should only be performed by a competent physician.

BUT, SURELY IT WASN'T

The kindergarten had been studying the wind all week—its power, effects, etc.—until the subject had been pretty well exhausted.

To stimulate interest, the teacher said, in her most enthusiastic manner, "Children, we were going to Baton Rouge to witness the game yesterday. As the train approached one of the stations something came softly and kissed me on the cheek. What do you think it was?"

A pretty girl in the rear shouted, "I know! It was the conductor, because when he took my ticket, he told me I was a very pretty girl and kissed me, too."—[Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

GOOD WILL OF NATIONS URGED

Speaker Says Military Talk Should be Stopped

Scattergood Claims Stability Will be Result

Henry M. Robinson Presides Over Conference

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, June 23.—The necessity of cultivating a better spirit of international good will and the junking of talk of militarism, now too prevalent, as the first steps toward stabilizing finances, industry, commerce and international trade were matters discussed by J. Henry Scattergood at the Pacific Conference on International Good Will held at the Pacific Palisades auditorium tonight.

The conference was presided over by Henry M. Robinson, president of the First National Bank of Los Angeles and member of the recent reparation committee in Europe. Mr. Robinson pointed out that the layman appears to know but little of economic problems and "idea-ology" but that citizens of a democracy should acquaint themselves more on such matters.

Mr. Scattergood, who is a member of the American Friends Service Commission of Philadelphia, discussed the German reparations problems and the urgent need of stabilizing German finances. He declared that the Dawes report is really the first step toward accomplishing this stability. One of the greatest obstacles to the establishmen of good will in Europe is to determine how to induce France to join with the rest of the world in stabilizing German finances and securities, Mr. Scattergood said. One thing needed, he said, is that nations who did not suffer so much in the war extend a helping hand to those on whom the burden fell the heaviest.

BUDGET FOR SCHOOLS IS APPROVED

Amount Granted Shows Ten Per Cent Increase Over Last Year

The school budget for this year, adopted by the Board of Education last night, amounts to $20,308,007, which does not include any outlay for buildings or equipment. This is an increase over last year of a little over 10 per cent. In figuring this budget an average daily attendance of 109,000 elementary, and 29,000 high school pupils was used as a basis. The tax rate will be $1.75, which will take care of all school maintenance, including the tax on bonds.

Last year the total budget, including outlays for buildings and equipment, amounted to $18,332,441, but this year there are 19,365 more children in the elementary schools, and an increase of nearly 5000 in the high schools. School officials say there is no doubt that both of these figures will be raised by the date schools are opened for the fall term.

According to the figures of C. F. Lenz, auditor of the Board of Education, tax rates for last year, and estimated for this year, based on an increased assessed valuation of $180,000,000, are:

Says Husband Was 'Kaiser' in Home Affairs

Suit for divorce on the grounds of extreme cruelty was filed yesterday by Louise K. Wagenbach against her husband, Karl C. Wagenbach. Mrs. Wagenbach declares in her petition that her husband threw her into a chair, clenched his fists and threatened to kill her. She also asserts that he often said he was sorry he had ever seen her and that in the presence of others he said he would "fix her."

The wife also says that he humiliated her in the presence of others by asking "What are you? I took you out of a cow stall."

Mrs. Wagenbach sets forth that her husband would not speak to her for days at a time and when compelled to make known his wishes would do so by gestures. She also says that he often declared that he did not love her. The community property is listed at $400,000 with no indebtedness and an income of $40,000 yearly.

The petition alleges that Wagenbach acted as a "Kaiser" in their home and that she was merely a servant. The Wagenbachs were married in New York in 1907 and separated in Los Angeles this month. They have two children, Florence, 16 years of age, and Ervin, 14.

In accordance with the wish of Mrs. J. J. Carter, president of the Community Park and Art Association, measures to care for the convenience and comfort of music lovers are being installed. The roadway and the walks to the bowl are being improved to eliminate dust and ruts. Traffic conditions will be improved this year due to agreement of residents near by to turn their spare lots into parking space.

Preparations for a crowd of 20,000, the capacity of the bowl, are being made for the opening concert. Concerts will be conducted on Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights thereafter until August 20.

RULES WARRANT NOT NEEDED IN CAR SEARCH

A peace officer may search an automobile for liquor without a search warrant, provided that by the evidence of his own senses or on information received he has reasonable grounds for suspicion, County Counsel Bishop declared in a letter to Supervisor Wright yesterday, to correct an impression that he had ruled such search unconstitutional. Bishop explained that his former ruling for the benefit of the Sheriff's office was that if search was made under a warrant that warrant must describe the car to be searched and the property sought in definite terms.

Pest Turned to Profit

Dreaded for generations as a serious plague, the swarms of locusts that sweep South Africa annually are now being looked upon by at least one industry as an asset. The raw material is almost inexhaustible and a large output is possible.—[Indianapolis News.
